YANKS 13 AIR MILES FROM BORDER

Bitter 11-Day Telephone Strike Ends

California Flood Waters Drive Hundreds From Their Homes

Rivers, Fed By Rain, Melting Sierra Snow, Overrun Entire Communities

FRESNO, Calif., Nov. 19 (AP) — Fed by rain and melting Sierra snow, flood waters boiled over the lowlands of California's San Joaquin Valley today, driving hundreds of persons from their homes and overrunning entire communities.

Chowchilla, a town of 4,000 between Madera and Modesto, was under two feet of debris-carrying water, as a tributary of the San Joaquin and three sloughs overflowed.

To the south, some 1,000 persons fled the rampaging north fork of the Kern River, which inundated the mining towns of Kernville and Isbaella, northeast of Bakersfield, to a depth of four feet.

Fish Hatchery Ruined

A state fish hatchery, valued at $20,000, was ruined by the raging stream six miles north of Kernville. Visalia and Bakersfield merchants, anticipating the worst, sandbagged their store fronts. A Red Cross unit, with supplies of typhoid serum, was dispatched to Isabella.

The Weather Bureau predicted more rain for tonight and tomorrow, as the swollen streams swept over acres of productive farmland.

An estimated 75,000 to 100,000 turkeys ready for market drowned in the Centerville area, northeast of Fresno. Ed Chober, Fresno Bee photographer, said he saw turkeys, dead and alive, floating in the muddy water, and cows and horses immersed to their necks.

U. S. 99, the main north-south highway, was closed to everything but trucks at Chowchilla and to two-way traffic in Madera, where the surging Fresno River threatened a bridge.

10 Inches Of Rain

The level of the water back of Friant Dam, on the San Joaquin, was rising two feet an hour, after some 10 inches of rain the past day in the Sierra and as much as two inches in the valley itself.

Almost without warning, the Kings River roared over its banks east of Fresno last night and onto a five-mile wide basin, forcing at least 150 persons from their homes.

In the rich delta farming area of Tulare County, lowland sections were overrun by three flooding streams. A bridge on Highway 99, north-south arterial, was expected to give way, and some 15 persons were reported marooned in the California Hot Springs resort area.

Pact Provides Hike Of 9 To 14 Cents An Hour

Pickets Disband; Operators Return

NEW YORK, Nov. 19 (AP)—A bitter 11-day strike by 33,000 CIO telephone workers that idled many thousands of non-strikers in the nationwide industry ended today.

Continuous mediation sessions here for more than 24 hours, and talks in Detroit in another phase of the dispute, brought agreement after months of seemingly-fruitless negotiations.

Picket lines of striking equipment workers, employes of the Western Electric Co., manufacturing subsidiary of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., were ordered disbanded.

Throughout the strike their picket lines at various telephone exchanges had idled operators and other Bell System employes who would not cross the lines.

Operators Return

Long lines of operators here started going back to work immediately.

The union hailed the New York agreement — which provides wage increases ranging from nine to 14 cents an hour under a 15-month contract—as a "major victory" in which the company gave in "on every major point."

In Detroit, CIO officials and Michigan Bell Telephone Co. representatives reached an agreement affecting 16,000 accounting, plant and traffic employes.

Providing increases of from $3 to $5 a week, it was called "costly" by the company and "substantially better than we could have gotten without the strike" by the union.

At Haverhill, Mass., striking Western Electric plant workers ratified an agreement two hours after it was reached in all-night talks there.

Retroactive Contract

The Haverhill settlement, affecting 700 workers, adds seven to 15 cents an hour to wages now ranging to about $1.62 an hour.

The New York talks, affecting 17,000 Western Electric equipment workers, continued without interruption from 11:30 a. m. (EST) yesterday through noon today.

Sleepy and weary after the round-the-clock conference here, Mediator Frank H. Brown emerged from the conference chamber shortly after noon and released terms of the accord.

The new contract, retroactive to Nov. 15, will run through Feb. 15, 1952 — a 15-month period. The agreement must be ratified by union membership by Dec. 4.

Kremlin Protests Paroling Of Former Japanese Minister

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 (AP)—The Soviet government tonight protested the paroling of Mamoru Shigemitsu, Japan's wartime foreign minister convicted of war crimes, as an "illegal and arbitrary action" by Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

The former Japanese leader had been sentenced in 1948 to serve seven years for war crimes. It was the lightest sentence given any major Japanese war criminal.

The legal section of the Supreme Allied Command in the Pacific announced in Tokyo on Nov. 8 that Shigemitsu would be released from Sugamo prison on Nov. 21.

The Soviet note called Shigemitsu "one of the major Japanese war criminals, guilty of unleashing the aggressive war by the militaristic clique of Japan."

Tank Column Seizes Walled City Of Kapsan

Red Trap Smashed; Resistance Feeble

SEOUL, Monday, Nov. 20 (AP) — A U. S. tank column, speeding over glistening snow under clear blue skies, captured the walled city of Kapsan Sunday and pushed nine miles beyond to within 13 air miles of the Manchurian border on the Northeast Korean front.

The advance came after a bloody 30 minute skirmish at the entrance to Kapsan, where Korean Communists lay in an ambush around a bluff.

Some Red troops bolted at the sight of U. S. Sherman tanks, exposing the intended trap, reported Associated Press Correspondent Tom Stone. Dozens of the enemy were crushed to death beneath the treads of the tanks that bulldozed over their positions.

Closest GIs Have Ever Been

The tank column, pacing the 17th Regimental Combat Team of the Seventh Division, placed American troops closer to the Manchurian border than ever before in the Korean war. Last month U. S. 24th Division troops pushed within 15 air miles of the border on the northwest front before withdrawing some 50 miles.

While the Seventh plunged ahead against feeble resistance, a deadly game of "hide and seek" was under way on the Chongchon River front in the northwest, field dispatches said.

There U. S., British and South Korean patrols found strong Chinese and Korean Communist forces continuing a general pullback three to five miles ahead of United Nations troops.

At one point on the north central front, Communist camp fires were still warm. The Red departure apparently had been only a few hours or less in advance of the advancing Allies.

An intelligence spokesman at Tokyo reported that Communist troops were inclined to disperse when fired upon. This was in marked contrast to the wild intensity of Chinese Red attacks three weeks ago.

Air Support Continues

In the air, fighter-bombers continued close front line support. Superforts splattered 300 tons of incendiary bombs on six secondary towns used by the Reds for supply and staging. They met no anti-aircraft fire nor enemy fighters.

The U. S. 7th Division's drive on the northeast front overshadowed other developments in Korea Sunday.

"We have them on the run and we won't give them a chance to dig in," one officer reported to Maj. Gen. David G. Barr, commanding the Seventh.

Barr said the Seventh would continue as fast as it could toward the Manchurian border. Their objective is the border town of Hyesanjin, a rail and highway terminus.

Failure In Power Plant Blacks Out Boston For Hour

BOSTON, Nov. 19 (AP) — Most of Boston and several surrounding communities were blacked out for about an hour tonight because of a Boston Edison Company power plant failure.

The blackout affected theatres, newspaper plants and news services, telephone and radio stations, traffic lights and most utilities and buildings which have alternating current.

Hospitals were not seriously affected. The Boston City, the Peter Bent Brigham and the Children's hospitals switched quickly to their own generating plants when the lights began to flicker. Other Boston hospitals were not affected at all.

Edison officials issued a written statement that the South Boston plant shut down through an overload caused by a switching error on a high tension transmission line "some miles northwest of Edison territory."

Party Opposed To German Army Wins Election

Socialist Victory Blow To Adenauer

FRANKFURT, Germany, Monday, Nov. 20 (AP)—The Socialist party, campaigning against creation of a new West German army to aid in defense of Western Europe against Communism, scored an election triumph yesterday.

Socialist leaders immediately hailed as a vote against German rearmament the outcome of the balloting for new state parliaments in the two West German states of Hesse and Wuerttemberg-Baden.

The election was a sharp setback to the West German republic's most powerful party, the Christian Democrats. Their leader, Chancellor (premier) Konrad Adenauer, had urged that Germans take part in "the defense of freedom."

Communists Take Licking

Adenauer's party lost its parliamentary edge to the Socialists in Wuerttemberg-Baden and slipped from second to third place in Hesse, where the Socialists won a clear parliamentary majority.

The Communists took their worst licking since the war, failing to win a seat in either of the state legislatures. They had won 10 seats in each state in the parliamentary elections of four years ago.

Rearmament was not the sole issue in the campaign. The Socialists had blamed Adenauer's "free enterprise" policy for raising prices and the current coal shortage. But the loudest campaign oratory centered on the question of whether a disarmed Western Germany should take up arms again to join the Western Allies in a united European army.

"Clear Protest"

Willy Knothe, Socialist chairman of Hesse, said the outcome was "a clear protest against the policies of Chancellor Adenauer, especially on the question of remilitarization."

The Socialists declared themselves against a German army until Germany is restored to full international equality and until the Allies send enough troops into Western Germany to assure a successful defense in case of Russian attack.

Man Dies At 110

SANTA BARBARA, Calif., Nov. 19 (AP)—Ventura Rivas, possibly the oldest man in California and one of the nation's oldest, died last night at the age of 110.

Quakes Recorded

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Nov. 19 (AP)—Two earthquakes were recorded here today at 1:20:17 and 1:22:06 p. m., Pacific Standard Time, Seismologist Fred Robinson reported.

Peace Congress Jolted By Rogge

WARSAW, Nov. 19 (AP)—O. John Rogge, United States delegate, jolted the second World Peace Congress today with a rousing address in which he pleaded that the Communist-backed assemblage accept some ideas from the western world.

In the booming voice, the former assistant United States attorney general said there is widespread apprehension that the Congress is becoming an instrument of Russian foreign policy.

Rogge—one of the few foreigners ever to be invited to speak before the Supreme Soviet (parliament) in the Kremlin—was roundly applauded there last March, though he placed part of the responsibility for the East-West cold war on the Soviet Union.

But he was interrupted four times today by boos, shouts and protest and derisive laughter.

He charged that while Communists in many places talked loudly of peace, they have committed acts of aggression. He stood up against the storm of protest resolutely. The chairwoman, Mrs. Anezka Hodinova-Spurna of Czechoslovakia, several times rapped for order.

Rogge got some applause. There was a ripple of handclapping at the end of his 45-minute speech.

But the shouts of protest became loud when Rogge praised Yugoslavia for its independence of the Cominform. He commended the efforts of Yugoslavia to arrange non-aggression pacts with its neighbors.

Child, Nursemaid Who Ran Away With Her, Found

Baby, Girl Picked Up At Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 19 (AP) — Flaxen-haired, blue-eyed Deborah Booth, two and a half years old, was found here by police today with the nursemaid who took the child from her Harrisburg, Pa., home and has since posed as her mother.

Detective James A. McTague said he took both of them in custody at the Broad Street station of the Pennsylvania Railroad after his office had been tipped off by the Travelers Aid Society.

McTague said the nursemaid, 18-year-old Mary Margaret Williams, told him and other detectives assigned to the case that she took the child from her home in an exclusive Harrisburg residential area Friday because she felt "Deborah was not being brought up in a Christian home."

Child Is Unharmed

The child was unharmed and but little impressed by the excitement attending the solution of a disappearance which had set in motion a police search in many parts of the country.

No charges were lodged immediately.

Deborah winked and blinked while photographers' flashbulbs popped, and curiously poked away at a spare typewriter in detective bureau headquarters. She appeared to be considerably attached to the nursemaid who ran away with her.

McTague gave this sequence of events since the disappearance:

Late last Friday the nursemaid, with the child in tow, applied for help to Travelers Aid Society attendants at the Broad Street PRR station. She represented herself as a destitute widow, "Mary Miller," and said Deborah was her own child, but gave her name as Shirley.

Saw Picture In Newspaper

Mrs. Spahr Hull, Travelers Aid agent at the station, said she placed the nursemaid and the child in a private home at least for a night or two.

Today, Mrs. Hull saw a picture of Deborah in a Philadelphia newspaper, recognized her as the supposed daughter of the woman she had helped, and then called the police. She then arranged to have the two taken to the station, where they were met by McTague.

Plane Travel Record

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 (AP)—The nation's 15 domestic trunk airlines are piling up a new record for passenger travel this year with an indicated volume of 7,754,107,000 passenger-miles.

This is nearly 20 per cent greater than the record total of 6,562,580,000 passenger-miles in 1949.

Eleventh-Hour Agreement Averts Television Strike

Radio Performers, Networks Also Settle

NEW YORK, Nov. 19 (AP) — An 11th-hour agreement averted a strike called for today by television performers and enabled the big Sunday programs to go on the airwaves as scheduled.

A threatened strike at an unspecified date by radio performers was averted by a separate agreement reached later in the day.

The television strike would have hit the Columbia Broadcasting System, the American Broadcasting Company, the Dumont television network and New York station WOR--TV.

It was to have started at their studios in New York at 6 a.m. (EST) and in Chicago and Los Angeles two hours later.

Both the television and radio performers, represented by separate AFL unions, won concessions on pay and other demands, union spokesmen said.

Break Comes At 4 A. M.

The break in the threatened television strike came at about 4 a.m. (EST) when agreement was reached by the National Broadcasting Company and the AFL Television Authority, claiming to represent 25,000 performers.

The television authority had not called a strike against NBC because that network continued to negotiate with the union after negotiations between the authority and the other three networks were broken off yesterday afternoon.

Immediately after NBC and the authority reached a solution — following a 16-hour negotiating session — the other three announced readiness to resume negotiations.

AFRA, Networks Settle

By 5:40 a.m., CBS, ABC and Dumont reached agreement — with the exception that the Dumont negotiators said it still needed ratification by top company officials.

Soon after 2 p.m., the AFL American Federation of Radio Artists announced it had reached agreement with all major networks on pay scales and working conditions for radio performers.

An AFRA spokesman said some 5,000 radio performers won wage increases ranging from 15 to 30 per cent.

No Plans On Foot For Travel Curbs

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 (AP) — Assurance that there are no plans on foot for curtailment or "priorities" in civilian travel was given today by Director James K. Knudson of the Defense Transportation Administration.

The country has the best transportation system "with which we have ever faced a national emergency," Knudson said in a radio interview arranged by the Gannett News Service. He added:

"It is not time yet to ask the question, as we did in World War II: Is this trip necessary?"

Lodge Assails Russian Belief

NEW YORK, Nov. 19 (AP) — The United States charged today that the basic motivation of Russian policy is the belief that war against non-Communist countries is just and virtuous.

It labelled this belief "the Vishinsky doctrine" and warned that peaceful cooperation between Russia and the United States is impossible so long as Moscow follows it.

Andrei Y. Vishinsky is Soviet foreign minister and chief delegate to the United Nations.

The analysis and denunciation of Russian policy was made in a formal statement by Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge (R-Mass.), issued in his capacity as U. S. delegate to the U. N. General Assembly.

"We ask the Soviets to abandon this idea," Lodge said. "We believe that if this doctrine were abandoned peaceful co-existence and the peaceful negotiation of differences might very well become as natural to us as life itself."

John H. Fahey, Former Top FHA Official, Dies

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 (AP) — John H. Fahey, 77, veteran newspaperman and former top Federal Housing Agency official, died of pneumonia today at Emergency hospital.

Fahey at one time was second vice president of the Associated Press and was one of the founders of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce. He served as national president of the chamber in 1914.

Fahey had made his home at Swampscott, Mass., since his retirement from government service early in 1948. He was visiting in Washington when he was stricken.

A funeral mass will be celebrated at St. Matthew's (Roman Catholic) Cathedral Tuesday morning. Burial services will be held later in Lynn, Mass.

ACTH Now Available

CHICAGO, Nov. 19 (AP)—ACTH now can be obtained on a doctor's prescription, Armour and Company announced today.

ACTH has brought dramatic relief to sufferers from a long list of stubborn diseases.

Republican Tax Plan Faces Veto

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 (AP)—A Republican substitute for President Truman's $4,000,000,000 excess profits tax plan today appeared headed for a veto by the House Ways and Means Committee.

Led by Chairman Doughton (D-NC), members of the committee's Democratic majority, which outnumber Republicans 15 to 10, criticized the GOP proposal as one that would hit small business and favor corporations with income swollen by the defense program.

Democrats predicted that when the committee settles down late this week to the actual task of writing a tax bill, it will closely follow the President's suggestions.

The president's plan calls for a tax of 75 per cent on excess profits of corporations, with the four-year period 1946-49 used as a yardstick to determine what profits are abnormal.

The GOP substitute, sponsored by Rep. Reed of New York, top Republican on the Ways and Means Committee, would let corporations choose between paying an excess profits tax at a rate not yet determined, or a corporate income tax of 55 per cent, whichever is lower. The present rate is 45 per cent.

Companies electing to use the excess profits plan would have to pay taxes equal to at least 50 per cent of their current year's earnings.

Row Looms Over Red Curb Board

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 (AP) — A fight over Senate confirmation of President Truman's new subversives control board may pop the Communists-in-government issue open in Congress again.

Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) told a reporter today he has "no doubt" that a sizeable bloc of Republicans will oppose confirmation of some, if not all, of the five members to administer the Communist registration section of the McCarran Internal Security Act.

Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis), whose Communist charges were rejected as unfounded by the Democratic majority of a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee, said in a separate interview he will fight against approval of all five.

Republican members of the investigating committee dissented from the majority's findings.

The new board is headed by a Republican, Seth W. Richardson, who was chairman of the Civil Service Loyalty Review Board. McCarthy clashed with him at times during the committee's investigation.

Policeman Slain At Detroit; Race Riot Fears Ebb

Danger Abates After Negroes Line Streets

DETROIT, Nov. 19 (AP)—A policeman was killed today and another wounded in a shooting that spread the ugly fear of "race riot" around Detroit's teeming east side.

Police rushed out their riot squads and called 100 reinforcements to guard against an outbreak.

But after an afternoon of tense watching, while 2,000 negroes lined the street and crowded upon bayonet-armed police, danger was declared abated.

Negro Admits Shooting

Police said a 53-year-old negro, Charles Marshall Gordy, Sr., admitted to them he shot the patrolman while they were taking Gordy's son away for questioning on a hold-up charge.

Killed was Patrolman Andreas Mellert, Jr., a veteran of three years on the police force. Wounded was Patrolman David Morgan, 23. His condition was reported not serious.

Police said they were charging Gordy with first degree murder. He was captured after 62 policemen surrounded Gordy's house and forced out Gordy's whole family by laying down a barrage of shots and tear gas. No one was injured.

James A. Hoye, director of traffic, said extra patrolmen were called out just in case the crowd misinterpreted why his men fired shots and tear gas bombs at the house.

Tries To Slip Away

The elder Gordy walked out nonchantly and tried to slip away at the rear of the house. He was chuckling, police said, as they took him into custody.

Later at police headquarters he was quoted by police as saying, "I shot them because I was mad."

"I could have reloaded and shot six or seven more when the others came. But I was over my 'mad' by then," police said Gordy told them.

The dead patrolman is a World War II veteran. His wife, who is expecting their first child next month, first heard the report of her husband's death on the radio and collapsed.

Mass U. S. Raids On China Charged By Russian Press

MOSCOW, Nov. 19 (AP) — The Soviet press charged today the United States has begun mass air raids on Chinese territory.

A Tass dispatch based on information from the Hsinhua Chinese news agency was printed in Pravda, Izvestia and other major papers. It did not identify the targets of the reported raids but said the U. S. Air Force in recent days had increased the tempo of violations of the Chinese border. The dispatch said one raid was carried out by 68 American planes.

Demos Urge Aid For Yugoslavia

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 (AP) — Backing President Truman, some Democrats in Congress called today for quick emergency aid to Yugoslavia to keep it from falling under domination of "a stooge of Moscow."

Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark), a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, declared "it is highly important that we assist the Tito government," and added:

"The only question in my mind is the most efficient way of doing it. We must act because if the government fell it would come under the domination of a stooge of Russia."

Sen. Kilgore (D-W. Va.) said speedy help to drought-stricken Yugoslavia is necessary "to make sure there is no weakening of Tito's position" as a foe of the Soviet Union.

"I always believe in making material aid available to anyone on our side," Kilgore told a reporter.

He added that the situation in Europe is so delicate that collapse of Yugoslav opposition to Russia could add up to a disastrous turning point in the fight of the Western Allies to block Communist aggression.

Boy, 8, Armed With Pluck, Wrench, Captures Prowler

SEATTLE, Nov. 19 (AP)—An eight-year-old boy with a lot of pluck and a monkey wrench captured a 31-year-old prowler in the family home early today.

The boy, Robert Dixon, was alone in the house at 4:30 a. m. when he heard someone attempting to force the locked front door.

When this failed the man broke a front window and started to climb in. Robert was waiting just inside, however, with a monkey wrench and a kitchen knife.

Wham! He left the prowler have it over the head. Whack! He gave him another one. And, for good measure, he took a slice at the man's hand with the butcher knife.

The prowler collapsed, out cold. A few moments later the boy's parents returned.

The prowler was still unconscious when police arrived. He was booked at the city jail without charge—after being treated for his injuries.

Salesman Who Slaughtered Five Goes On Hunger Strike

WOODBURY, N. J., Nov. 19 (AP)—The 26-year-old appliance salesman who slaughtered five relatives of his wife and wounded her and three others critically in a wild shooting spree went on a hunger strike today.

Warden William Molineaux said Ernest Ingenito has refused food since his arrest early yesterday. Ingenito is in Gloucester county jail on five charges of murder.

"He refuses to eat," Molineaux said. "He drinks coffee and chain smokes cigarets, but he won't eat."

Ingenito's self-inflicted fast, however, has not endangered the prisoner's health, the warden added.

Meanwhile County Prosecutor Milton E. Hannold disclosed Ingenito, held for grand jury action, already has been examined by "two psychologists for the state."

Hannold said charges against the five-foot-seven ex-soldier will be placed before a grand jury probably in a few days.

Ingenito is being held without bail. He was locked up after a three-minute hearing yesterday before Municipal Judge George Shunk in Franklinville.

"I did it," Ingenito told authorities. "I did it because my wife wouldn't let me see my kids."

Army Probes Blast

FUERTH, Germany, Nov. 19 (AP) —U. S. Army officials said tonight they are investigating an explosion in front of the City Hall here in which two men in American army uniform allegedly were involved.

A bomb exploded in a square facing the City Hall early this morning. German police said 70 windows in the area were broken by the blast but no one was hurt.

Cpl. R. C. DeWitt Gives His Life In Korean Battle

Cpl. Robert C. DeWitt, 19, son of Richard J. and Daisy Mae Friend DeWitt, is the second Crellin soldier to lose his life since hostilities broke out in June. He was killed on November 2, according to the Department of Defense.

Two brothers, S 1-c Verl DeWitt, 26, and CSSM James DeWitt, both in the U. S. Navy, also are serving in the Korean battle area. Six sons of the DeWitts saw action overseas during World War II and two were wounded, one seriously.

Cpl. DeWitt enlisted in the Army about two years ago at Oakland and was sent to Martinsburg, W. Va. From there he went to Fort Knox, Ky., for basic training before being shipped to Japan in March, 1949. He attended school in West Virginia and worked as a trucker prior to entering the service.

While in Japan, Cpl. DeWitt called his mother on the telephone and talked for three minutes. He was unable to divulge military plans but hinted that he was about to depart for Korea and battle.

The young soldier wrote home October 24 and told his mother "don't worry".

Survivors include a sister, Mrs. Marguerite DeWitt, Mt. Lake, and six other brothers, William and Otis DeWitt, Pittsburgh; Adrian and Claude, Mt. Lake; Earl DeWitt, twin brother of Verl, Corinth, W. Va., and Donald DeWitt, at home.

Other Garrett countains killed in Korea are:

Cpl. Harry F. Lee, Crellin; Pfc. William E. Otto, Swanton; Sgt. Willard A. Rinehart, Route 1, Oakland, and Pfc. George W. Barger and Pfc. William B. Barger, both of Vindex.

Great charm redounds from looking natural at all times and in any situation, but it takes practice, practice, practice!

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

ALTHOUGH you probably were born too late to have seen the great Eleanor Duse on the stage, I am sure her fame is not unknown to you. The complete naturalness with which she played each role has not been surpassed. Never was there anything false about her appearance, word, or action. She had the kind of allure that every woman longs to achieve.

Once, when a young hopeful asked her how she managed to appear so completely herself both on and off stage, she replied with an answer that is classic: "Self-knowledge, self-discipline and — practice, practice, practice!"

Something To Work For

Does it surprise you to learn that truly charming naturalness comes only as the result of anything so studied as self-analysis, control and hard work? It shouldn't.

It is necessary to study all phases of your personality, not because you are entranced with your charm, but because you are critical of it. The best part of such a critical attitude is that the minute you discover your errors, you can erase them from the face of the personality that you present to the world. As you single out and eliminate the superficial ones, your real, natural self will emerge.

A self-critical attitude will help you isolate the spot of make-up technique that is a bit too blatant . . . help you find the figure fault that needs eradicating . . . weed out the dress that looks as though you had borrowed it for the occasion . . . banish fidgety contortions of your face and hands . . . delete speech habits that mar your thoughts . . . and thoughts that contradict your personality.

Your Personality Distilled

To achieve naturalness, you must distill your personality into a perfect alchemy. You must look like your best self; speak like it, act like it and be like it. Integrity and naturalness are inseparable; you never achieve them lightly.

Tomorrow: Sleeping beautifully.

Negro Housing Site May Be McNamee Hill

In a special session Saturday, the Cumberland Housing Authority approved plans for 17 multiple units containing living quarters for 125 families in the Wempe Drive area of Mapleside.

It was also announced that the second project, for colored families, may be located on McNamee's Hill instead of Thomas Street.

Nearly 60 persons from the tentative site of the proposed Negro project, the Thomas Street section, jammed the office of the housing authority in the Clark Keating Building.

William L. Wilson, Jr., authority chairman, told the group that the housing group had McNamee's Hill as its first choice.

This site was suitable to all members, but was rejected when City Engineer Ralph L. Rizer informed the authority that a road to that section would cost $80,000, a figure termed excessive.

Under housing project rules, the dwelling center must be connected to the city or adjacent improved roads or streets by an all-weather road. This must be built by the city.

Wilson stated that Thomas Street was agreed upon only after other sites were inspected and rejected for various reasons.

The members of the delegation said that their objections were not because of racial reasons, but for two other reasons, one, that there would be no room for expansion at Thomas Street for additional housing project facilities in the future, and two, the probable drop in the value of adjacent properties.

Wilson said that another conference has been scheduled with the housing authority and Street Commissioner Lucile Roeder and City Engineer Rizer to determine if a cheaper road can be built to the McNamee Hill site.

Youth Held On Burglary Charge

Donald L. Crabtree, of 328 Emily Street, on parole from a previous count, was ordered held under $500 bond in Trial Magistrates Court Saturday on a charge of larceny.

Sherry reported to police that a radio, fountain pen and watch was taken from his residence last week.

Police upon investigating discovered a pawnshop ticket for the radio in Crabtree's name. Detective Thomas A. See said Crabtree admitted taking the radio but not the other two articles.

Crabtree was remanded to the Allegany County Jail in lieu of posting bond for appearance before the grand jury of the January term of Circuit Court.

Police said Crabtree is currently on parole after being convicted of a theft of a watch from a local woman.

Davis Memorial Plans Evangelistic Services

An Evangelistic service beginning Wednesday and extending to Sunday, December 3, will be held at Davis Memorial Methodist Church, with Rev. C. Neal Hutchinson, pastor of the First Nazarene Church, Oldtown Road, preaching the sermon each evening at 7:30 o'clock.

The Garland sisters, Marcella and Gertrude, have arranged for music at each evening's service. The congregational singing will be in charge of the pastor, Rev. Joseph W. Young.

Prayer services have been held in the homes of Mr. and Mrs. William Mackereth, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bierman, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Mason Davis and in the church.

On some golf courses in the Mississippi Valley, Indian mounds are used as hazards.

Walsh To Address Bar Group Today

William C. Walsh, of Cumberland, former attorney general of Maryland, will be principal speaker today at the annual dinner of the Second Judicial Circuit Bar Association at Tidewater Hotel, Easton.

About 150 are expected to attend the event.

The second circuit is composed of Caroline, Cecil, Kent, Queen Anne's and Talbot Counties.

Water Levels Hinder Deep Creek Fishing

Seasonal fluctuations in the water level of Garrett County's Deep Creek Lake has appreciably affected good fishing, according to R. D. Van Deusen and H. J. Elser, biologists of the Maryland Department of Research and Education at Solomons.

Annual draw-downs in autumn, leaving the shoals barren during winter months, hamper the productivity of the reservoir, and hinder insect and plant growth, both important, respectively, as food and shelter for fishes.

Weed growth is practically nonexistent. Fluctuations of water level in spring is considered a hazard to shoal-spawning fishes, such as the largemouth and smallmouth bass, bluegill, pumpkinseed, and rock bass.

Largemouth outnumbered smallmouth bass and both attain legal size in the second year, according to aging of scale samples. Black crappies were abundant, but their growth seemed a little below average for Maryland populations. Bluegills, pumpkinseeds, and rock bass displayed just average growth.

Forage minnows were represented only by the golden shiner, which often reaches a length of 10 to 12 inches. The introduction of such forage fishes as the blunt-nose minnow, the common shiner, and the gizzard shad, may possibly rectify the lack of food for carnivorous species.

Campers To Sell Football Program

As a means of raising funds for Allegany High School, the Allegany Camper Club, comprised of Alumni and friends, will produce and sell the Thanksgiving Day football program annually, starting this year.

The Club has raised $4,000 this year for new band uniforms. Many other projects are planned by the group.

For a number of years Fort Hill has had a similar organization, the Fort Hill Band Parents Association operating the food and soft drink concession in the stadium, doing outstanding work in aiding the school.

The souvenir program is made up of 48 pages, featuring 52 photographs of teams, players, bands, cheerleaders and coaches of today and years gone by of both schools.

The program will go on sale tomorrow before the game to the students at the schools at student prices. The Camper Club will have a booth at the corner of Centre and Baltimore Streets, Wednesday before the game with music by the Allegany band.

The committee active in promoting the publication are Frederic W. Eiler, past president; Roy C. Lottig, chairman; Mrs. Elizabeth H. Landis, Keith E. Sisk, Aden L. Everstine, S. Lua Sykes, Wilton H. Sykes, Robert E. Barnard, Jr., Wm. J. Donahue, Dr. Harry F. Butler, William R. Wilson, Mrs. Kathryn P. Wilson, Carl McIntyre and Miss Madolyn V. Norris, secretary to the committee.

We believe that something has happened in 1950 that you should take to heart.

Ever since this year's Buicks were introduced, their big bulge in sales has come from people who traded other makes of cars for this bounteous beauty.

The total is more than 200,000.

That's 200,000 "freshmen" added to the roll call of Buick owners—200,000 people who must have sized up the current version of the cars they owned, and decided that Buick offered more thrill, more comfort, more satisfaction for the money.

Beyond that, of course, there were other hundreds of thousands who already owned a Buick and bought a new one this year. But we're speaking here of new owners only.

We can name many reasons for this landslide — including Fireball power — an incomparable ride — and Dynaflow Drive.*

We can remind you that the Buick SPECIAL, SUPER and ROADMASTER just about blanket the range of a car-owner's aspirations—matching prices with many sixes in the lower brackets—matching distinction with the finest in the fine-car field.

We might add that Buick prices are doubly attractive—since their list prices include many features customarily on the "extra" list.

But why try to spell out all the reasons Buick wins in a showdown? The proof of the pudding is in this great car itself. Better come in—look it over—and find out what an unbeatable buy it is.

*Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on SUPER and SPECIAL models.

HEAD OFF ANY PSYCHIC

IF YOU strike first, by making an opening bid with a perfectly sound hand — even though you have no more than the logical minimum for your call—one of the things you accomplish is the prevention of an original psychic bid in that suit by a combative opponent which might make it awkward for your side to reach the best contract. This point is particularly important if your side is vulnerable and you are in the second hand position after the dealer had passed. If you then pass a biddable hand, your not vulnerable opponent in the next seat has the best of all opportunities to toss in a monkey wrench with a misleading call.

(Dealer: West. North - South vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
1. Pass	1 ♥	Dbl	Rdbl
Pass	Pass	1 ♠	Dbl
Pass	Pass	2 ♣	4 ♥
2. Pass	Pass	1 ♥	Pass
1 NT

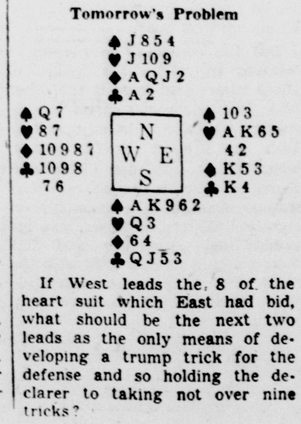

Fiercely competitive teams of four battled over this deal in the closing stages of a nip and tuck match. It happened that the East seat was occupied by a tricky player at each of the two tables. Both of those chaps did their level best to discombobulate their vulnerable opponents.

You will notice that East at Table 1 managed to obstruct the stronger pair enough to prevent reaching of the slam which was in the cards. But he couldn't keep them from getting into a game at their best suit, hearts. The defenders managed to take only one trick against that, in clubs, as after that it was easy to eliminate the defenders' trumps, discard a diamond and a club on the spades and then ruff North's last club.

Where North made a pusillanimous pass at Table 2, simply because he unsoundly wants a little more than a minimum to open when vulnerable, East made a heart psychic. After that neither North nor South could afford a vulnerable overcall. They set the 1-No Trump five tricks by taking the first eleven, giving them a mere 250 points, whereas the strong pair scored 680 at the other table by scoring two extra tricks at 4-Hearts.

Tomorrow's Problem

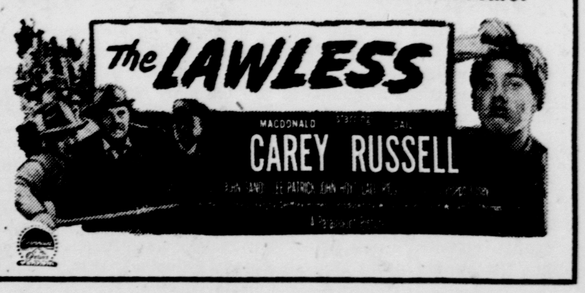

If West leads the 8 of the heart suit which East had bid, what should be the next two leads as the only means of developing a trump trick for the defense and so holding the declarer to taking not over nine tricks?

Honoring The Great

The Hall of Fame for Great Americans has had some important additions. Every five years a group of notable Americans chooses additional names for the Hall. The number is variable, but any candidate chosen must receive the votes of a majority of the electors. Usually about four or five are thus given place. In 1940 the electors were able to agree on but one, Stephen Foster, the author of America's most beloved songs.

This year the six names chosen are unusually prominent. Woodrow Wilson and Theodore Roosevelt enter together, an association which both would have loathed in their lifetimes. Scientific achievement is represented by Dr. William C. Gorgas, who made it possible to dig the Panama Canal by ridding the neighborhood of yellow fever, Josiah Willard Gibbs, one of the world's great mathematical physicists, and Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone. The first woman since 1920 was chosen in the person of Susan B. Anthony, the unwearied campaigner for woman suffrage and the removal of discriminations against women.

No choice may be made except of someone dead 25 years or more. Wilson thus got in at the earliest possible moment. Theodore Roosevelt was less quickly recognized, as he failed of election at his first opportunity in 1945. Except for Bell, who died in 1922, the others have been eligible for a good many years; but presumably the electors in previous years have found choice difficult when so many eligibles were presented for consideration. There has been a tendency to give undue preference to statesmen and writers. The 1950 choices offer a better balance.

There is no perpetual motion, but Moscow's eternal trouble-making is a reasonable facsimile thereof.

Not All War Profits

Having been directed by Congress before it adjourned to prepare an excess profits tax bill, the House Ways and Means Committee has started to give the project attention. Actually it needed no reminder to that effect from the White House but Mr. Truman has now spoken anyway and his views will of course receive the consideration to which they are entitled.

But merely to impose a heavy tax on the increased profits of all corporations will not do the job. That course would penalize unduly those thousands of small business firms which are not engaged in making materials of war and whose present prosperity is the result of normal growth. It would have the further effect—as it did in World War II—of encouraging extravagance and wasteful practices on the part of the large companies.

The Committee for Economic Development stated the case unerringly when it declared that corporations subject to an 85 per cent excess profits tax would often "rather spend their potential profits for nonproductive and non-essential purposes than pay them to the Treasury."

As the House committee therefore begins its work of finding the means for financing governmental activities it should remember that small business constitutes an important part of the national economy and should not be subjected to taxation or other regulations that will drive it to the wall. The committee should also see to it that no legislation is approved which will be an invitation to reckless spending by corporations.

In taking the profit out of war, care should be exercised that incentive under the free enterprise system is not guillotined.

General Eisenhower says Americans must keep their chins up. The same goes for their bombers.

Buy And Use The Seals

So accustomed have people become to Christmas Seals that the Yuletide season would be drab without them. Something would be lacking if they were not available, something with a friendly, humane message, which has the true significance of the period for which they are designed. the 44th annual sale of these cherished emblems expressive of good will and hope for better health conditions is getting under way.

Many persons will receive installments of seals through the mails and otherwise. During the holiday season, as well as earlier, these messengers of mercy are to be used on letters and parcels entrusted to the mails or forwarded in other ways.

Money derived from the sale, as everyone knows, is to be used in the fight against tuberculosis. Each purchaser will be contributing to a project in which every community has a stake. It will be great if everyone is liberal in purchase and use of the seals.

Weather And Controls

The British Ministry of Agriculture is finding that controls can be applied to farmers, acreages allotted, records demanded and prices guaranteed, but that despite these one unknown still remains to be reckoned with. The weather continues to go its own way.

Every two or three weeks, statistics are tabulated as to crop expectations, but no one really knows what to expect until harvest time, when the crops are safely garnered. Twenty inches of rain in six weeks ruined a great part of many farmers' wheat and hay crops, and at the same time caused an increase in potato and sugar beet yields.

On the whole, in spite of the high cost of farm labor and the endless forms to be filled out, the farmer in Britain is said to be better off today than before the war. During a good year he is assured of a fair price for all his crops, instead of being faced with falling prices due to a glut.

It is a good thing that even the most stringent system of controls must cope with some element of u certainty. Without this element, a dead level of mediocrity would be more readily achieved, and those at the helm might more easily become intoxicated with power.

New Hobby

A new field for collectors is suggested by an announcement from Princeton University. That institution has just received as a gift the original of the teletype message announcing the German surrender in the recent war. It was sent out by Sergeant Leonard C. Roemer of the Army Signal Corps, and is now given by his brother Charles to the university library.

Books, manuscripts, music scores, phonograph records and radio scripts have all found enthusiastic collectors. Teletype messages announcing historic events represent a new field. They may be hard to get, but that would never stop an ardent collector.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Regularity For Infants And Children

A WELL BALANCED diet and an adequate amount of fluid usually will encourage bowel regularity. Exercise also is of value, as well as adhering to a schedule. With this regimen, cathartics, enemas, and suppositories rarely are needed. This program will work for old and young alike but the earlier it is started, the better.

Some infants, for example, receive too much milk protein and not enough sugar in the diet. As a result, the intestinal contents assume a puttylike consistency and finally form a hard, firm mass. The addition of lactose, maltose, or other sugar nullifies the effect of casein because these carbohydrates have a fermenting action. This leads to looser, nonconstipating stools. In more obstinate cases, malt sugar or liquid malt extracts are used.

When the carbohydrates and protein factors are not responsible it may be possible that the youngster is not obtaining enough roughage. Cereals, vegetables and fruits are of benefit in this respect. Orange juice is not as useful in relieving constipation as prune, apricot, and other fruit juices and sometimes these supplementary foods must be added earlier than usual to counteract constipation. Large amounts of vitamin B, especially thiamin chloride, are said to help but it may be the sugar solution in which the vitamin is dissolved that does the trick.

Temporary constipation accompanies acute infections especially when vomiting co-exists or appetite is so poor that little food is taken. Here a laxative or suppository is justified to carry the infant over the hump but it should be stopped as soon as possible so that the intestine can regain its tone and function as nature intended. Occasionally it is natural to skip one or two days. This does no harm but some parents become upset when the youngster fails to have a daily movement. The mother not recognizing the phenomenon, may make her offspring a laxative addict; she is bound and determined to make the child regular or else.

We do not want to give the impression that constipation is always remedied by adjusting the diet. Now and then an organic disorder is responsible. A nerve disturbance may leave the intestinal wall so weak that it cannot propel the contents thru the bowel. In others an obstruction must be corrected before regularity is possible. If an anatomical defect is to blame, surgery may be needed. Occasionally a painful crack, or fissure, in the anal region hurts so much that the child deliberately holds back the bowel movement.

Bowel training usually is started about the time the tot learns to walk or earlier. Variations along this line are common and, as in other phases of development, each child determines his own pace. training is not difficult if the mother places the tot on the stool at about the same time of day that he is accustomed to have a movement. After breakfast is a favorite period but, whatever time is selected, it should be the same every day. If this routine is established and maintained, constipation seldom occurs.

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

Once again it looks like Taft, Warren and Dewey are necking the buzz-saw of national politics. Each one was vindicated in his natural state by a robust aftermath.

The issue in Ohio was parking space. In California it was portable climate. In New York, an egg in your beer.

• — • — •

The handle system was used in all elections with the same motion you use in slicing bologna. Taft, Warren and Dewey will stage an elimination tournament for 1952.

• — • — •

U. S. Cities Ahead Of Washington In Preparing For A-Bomb Attack; Truman Still Has Not Named Civil Defense Chief; Mrs. Rosenberg Boomed For Court

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — With Russia now building up a stockpile of approximately 28 atomic bombs and with the cold war turned into a hot war in one part of the world, the federal government is lagging far behind American cities in preparing against atomic attack.

As of today, President Truman still has not appointed a chief for civil defense, and present civil defense planning is temporarily in the hands of Stuart Symington's brother-in-law, likable but inexperienced J. J. Wadsworth.

Meanwhile, the American Municipal Association has prepared a confidential survey of civil defense plans showing considerable criticism of Washington for dragging its feet. The survey also shows that 150 key cities are going ahead with their own defense plans, with two cities—Norfolk, Va., and San Mateo, Calif., claiming to be 75 per cent ready for atomic attack. Manchester, Conn., estimates it is 70 per cent prepared and Uniontown, Pa., 65 per cent.

Meanwhile, many large cities, such San Francisco, San Diego, Schenectady and Wichita, have hired full-time civil defense directors, while other smaller towns—Niagara Falls, N. Y., Jackson, Mich., and Wilmington, N. C.—are relying on vounteer directors.

Uniontown, Pa., has organized its beauty shops as first-aid centers in case of emergency. San Angelo, Tex., is ready to draft its taxicabs and bus system for emergency evacuation. El Paso, Tex., has made a pact with Jaurez across the Mexican border for mutual aid in case of atomic attack.

Evacuation Centers

A few smaller cities near big cities are voluntarily setting up machinery to handle evacuees. For example, Bloomington, Ind., is preparing to care for evacuees from near-by Indianapolis and Louisville. Kingston and Oswego, N. Y., also regard themselves as evacuation depots for bigger New York cities.

Evacuation plans have also been worked out by San Diego and Southgate, Calif., Mount Vernon and New Rochelle, N. Y., Dearborn and Wyandotte, Mich., Salisbury, N. C., Atlanta, Ga., Fargo, N. D., and Newton, Mass.

One of the best-prepared cities is Schenectady, N. Y., which has even figured the bridge loads and clearances on emergency, escape routes from the city. Schenectady is also preparing to recruit volunteer air raid wardens, stretcher bearers and rescue squads.

At least three cities—Seattle, Chicago, and Washington, D. C.—have staged mock bombings to test their civil defense systems. San Diego, Calif., and Revere, Mass., are using television to explain civil defense to the public. Many other cities, such as St. Paul, Minn., Richmond, Calif., and Auburn, N. Y., are putting out their own disaster manuals.

The chief complaint from the cities is lack of coordination and cooperation from the federal government. Though only 50 per cent of the cities commented on civil defense needs, "31 per cent believed the primary deficiency is lack of detailed information and plans from the higher level of government. Responsibility for lack of information was generally laid upon the federal government rather than the state government. . . .

"Many cities feel keenly the lack of training manuals. Many felt that the federal government has been inordinately slow in producing material. Criticism of state-local relations hinges generally upon the lack of guidance in the coordination of local civil defense programs and irritation induced by the duplication of state and local civil defense efforts."

Lady On Supreme Court??

It seems a little early to talk about it, but female admirers of Mrs. Anna Rosenberg, first lady ever to be assistant secretary of defense, have another promotion in mind for her. They want her to be the first woman ever appointed to the Supreme Court.

Delightful Mrs. India Edwards of the Democratic National Committee, who probably has put more women in office than anyone else in history, has this in the back of her mind—later, when the time is ripe.

Actually, Mrs. Rosenberg was recommended to Secretary Marshall by Marshall's close friend, Gen. Bedell Smith, now chief of Central Intelligence, who has come to play an increasingly important part in the defense picture. Interesting thing about Mrs. Rosenberg is not only her feminine support, but the way hardboiled businessmen root for her. Though Republicans are already gunning against her confirmation, she has such stanch supporters as the Rockefellers and the R. H. Macy Company.

Also among her boosters are a couple of the big broadcasting networks which handed down orders at the time of her appointment that favorable stories were to be broadcast about her.

Note—Mrs. India Edwards not only wants a woman appointed to the Supreme Court but is opposed to Attorney General Howard McGrath being elevated to the court. She thinks he has loafed too much as attorney general.

Paradoxical McCarran Act

Few people realize all the problems Senator Pat McCarran has created by his hurriedly written, so-called anti-Communist law.

For instance, Romula Betancourt, ex-president of Venezula and long-time resident of the United States, recently flew to Havana to organize a Western Hemisphere peace conference in support of the United States. Betancourt, who ranks among the 10 top men in Latin-American prestige, wanted to offset the phony Communist propaganda for peace. However, his government is now a dictatorship, which, under the McCarran act, cannot send its citizens to the U. S. A.

So when Betancourt went to the American embassy in Havana to apply for a re-entry visa, he was denied one under the McCarran act. Finally, the State department permitted this good friend of the U. S. A. to come to Washington for 30 days only to close his house, then move to Havana permanently.

The State department is also disturbed because Emilio Suri Castillo, speaker of the Cuban House of Representatives and secretary general of the powerful Cuban Sugar Workers, has now been denied a visa to the United States because he was once a member of the Cuban Communist party for a brief period in the 1930's.

The paradoxical fact is that Speaker Castillo is the author of Cuba's own anti-commie law, which he wrote partly at the request of American officials.

But now, under the McCarran act, Castillo can't come to Washington.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Acheson On China

ON September 10, 1950, Dean Acheson had much to say on China. Let us quote a few things he said:

"The greater part of China to the north, which is made up of Sinkiang, Outer Mongolia, and Manchuria, is Chinese at the present moment only nominally."

No definition of North China, either Chinese or foreign, has ever divided China as Mr. Acheson does here. The Yangtze river is usually the dividing line between North and South China. Shanghai, for instance, has always been included in North China. The newspaper on which I worked there was called "The North China Daily News." Peking means north capital; Nanking means south capital.

Sinkiang is part of Chinese Turkestan and is outside the great wall. This is true of outer Mongolia and Manchuria. North China ends at the great wall. Outside territories were not regarded as part of North China. The old republican flag had five bars; four of them represented the outside areas.

Furthermore, the phrasing "to the north" instead of "North China" is an advocate's trick which only creates confusion. The real point of this statement is its total avoidance of a moral position. It accepts the pragmatic sanction that if a power has invaded or infiltrated into the territory of another power, then the conquest is to be acknowledged because it is an accomplished fact no matter how it was accomplished. If that is to be accepted as a principle, of what value is the United Nations?

Then Acheson said:

"That is where the great cloud from the north, Russian penetration, is operating and it is quite obvious that the plan is to absorb these northern areas of China under Soviet domination."

That also is a delayed statement, because the Soviet domination of China is as complete in the south as in the north. Soviet China, which is a branch of international Marxism, holds the city of Canton in the south, as it does any area in what Mr. Acheson describes as China "to the north." Only one thing can truthfully be said about all this territory and that is that these areas are already part of Soviet Russia.

Sinkiang province (and the whole of Chinese Turkestan and much of Tibet, which Mr. Acheson, for some reason, omitted) is now absolutely under Russian control. So is all of Mongolia. The Mongolian S. S. republic is part of the Soviet Union. It was stolen from China in 1924.

Then Mr. Acheson said this:

"And since there is nothing in it for them (Soviet China), I don't see why they should yield to what is undoubtedly pressures from the Communist movement to get into this Korean row."

But they did get into the Korean row. As a matter of fact, they are now killing American soldiers and marines, our sons. After General MacArthur had defeated Soviet Korea, Soviet China, out of Manchuria, took up the battle. It is British policy to deny this truth, and Mr. Acheson is the protagonist of British policy. As a matter of fact, the British hope to use three Republicans, Warren Austin, Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., and John Foster Dulles, our representatives in the United Nations, to do the very dirty job of substituting Soviet China for China in that body.

But the course of events works without regard to the wishes of those who would have it the other way. Dean Acheson's career as secretary of state was based upon the wish to support British policy, which was to abandon China and Korea and even Japan, so that Europe could have a monopoly on our aid. History, however, has ignored him altogether and has moved within its own orbit with the result that Acheson has nearly always been proved to have been wrong.

It is a sad plight for a secretary of state.

Government Termed Chief Culprit In Rising Costs

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., Nov. 19—The uneasy international situation plus a continuing rise in the cost of most goods and services has quite naturally focused attention on profits. Unfortunately, it has also revived the dangerous and widespread belief that business, big and little, is profiting excessively at the expense of wageworkers.

Loose Talk Is Confusing

It is perfectly true that there are firms which do profit unduly at the expense of their employes and the general public, just as there are some individuals ever ready to lie, cheat and steal. But the recent record of American business generally in this regard is an honorable one worthy of defense. Yet, when costs go up, our first impulse is to blame the greedy manufacturer because we believe he is taking advantage of us.

Labor unions then take up the cry of "excess profits" as they agitate for higher wages. Meanwhile, an ever growing share of the really substantial profits of American business is being drained off by government in the form of federal, state and local tax levies. If even one half of the time, money and energy which government, management and labor spend in foolishly antagonizing each other were to be spent in a united effort to curb waste and increase production, we would soon have a far higher standard of living than we now enjoy.

Stockholders Are Human

The truth is Uncle Sam now has become so adept at piling tax upon tax — and squandering so much money which he takes in — that the average corporation stockholder is really just another "laboring man". Those who invest their money in common stocks enable companies to produce more efficiently and reduce prices. This further enables these companies to pay fair wages while at the same time to make substantial federal and local tax contributions.

There are times when labor unions have some legitimate complaints, but I know that labor unions are barking up the wrong tree when they attack stockholders as a class. They forget that the ownership of stocks is now pretty well spread over all the elements of our population. In fact, I am certain that the percentage of wageworkers who are actually stockholders is very large. It is no longer rare to find even labor unions investing in industrial stocks; they know that now an additional investment of close to $10,000 is needed to give a new man a job.

Why Blame Manufacturers?

When costs go up, there is a widespread tendency to make manufacturers and storekeepers the scapegoats, just as there is a false notion that the latter receive a disproportionate share of the retail price. Doubtless our distribution system is wasteful in some respects; but it has gone a long way in the creation of the mass markets which make possible mass production.

I do wish that more people knew how this distribution system ticks and how much it costs. For example: Bread and a number of other food products cost much more to market than the part of the total retail price to consumers which the farmer, the miller and the baker receive. Everyone should realize that a good slice of the cost of every item consists of taxes, transportation, rent, and salesmen's wages. These expenses are not subject to daily or weekly changes as are raw materials.

A Suggested Remedy

No single group is entirely to blame for high costs and high prices. The chief culprit is government, but we all share in the blame for government's mistakes. Year by year, larger and larger sums of money are being taken away from distributing organizations through taxes. Far too much of this tax money has been and is even now being spent in functions which increases the cost-of-living.

This can lead to the kind of socialism which has put once powerful England in the sorry plight where she is today. This same policy is killing our incentive and will demoralize our whole employment structure if we do not force our political bureaucrats to abandon it. We became a great nation because we were willing to continually invest more money in productive purposes. We were eager to risk our savings because there was hope of profit. We must not permit government to destroy that profit motive, for that would lead to the destruction of the nation itself.

MATTER OF FACT

By JOSEPH And STEWART ALSOP

Truman

WASHINGTON

AT LEAST ONE of those present at President Truman's press conference last week carried away with him a sense of utter unreality. It was not that there was anything unusual about the press conference. It was the first since the election, and it was natural that most of the questions concerned the election results.

With his usual cheerfulness, the President insisted that the results were not really unfavorable — the Democrats lost less than any party in power had lost in any off-year election since 1916, except for 1934. With his usual stubbornness, the President also insisted that he stuck by his whole domestic political program — now quite obviously a footnote to history—and that he expected the new Congress to pass it.

There was nothing unusual, either, in the President's appearance. The four neat points of his pocket handkerchief were red, instead of the customary white. His face looked a shade pinker than usual, and the rest of him perhaps a shade plumper. He spoke with his hands clasped behind his back, possibly to conceal his only nervous habit, a tendency to shut and open his hands repeatedly, like some one moulding putty. But if he was nervous, or under any strain, he certainly did not show it.

Sense Of Unreality

Only twice did his tone take on a certain edge, a familiar sharpness. This happened when a reporter asked him about the stories of inadequate clothing for the troops in Korea. Truman replied that Gen. MacArthur had reported to him that there was plenty of warm clothing for the troops, and that was good enough for him. Again, when he was asked whether Secretary of State Dean Acheson would resign, he snapped back with a loud, positive, angry negative, and said Acheson would stay on, and that was that.

These were, in fact, about the only times that anything remotely concerning foreign and defense policy was mentioned. And this no doubt partly accounted for the curious sense of unreality. For the man facing the reporters in the ornate, high-ceilinged old-fashioned room of the old State Department might just as well have been an American President of the twenties, say, or even the early years of this century, serenely discussing the election returns, as though both he and his audience were preoccupied with no more important matters.

The sense of unreality sprang, indeed, not from any feeling that the press conference was unusual, but simply from its very usualness, its total normality. It was difficult to believe that this well fed, obviously health man, with his sharp, pleasant face, was really one of the most powerful men in the world.

Here, after all; was the Chief Executive of the only great power strong enough to stand between the Soviet Union and total world mastery. Here, in a neat double-breasted gray suit, wearing a rich silk tie in a flower pattern, smiling and cocking his head occasionally from side to side, was a man whose decisions and actions would most certainly affect the whole course of world history.

Cheerfulness A Little Muted

As the questions and answers droned on, it was difficult to believe that this cheerful, even cocky man was President of a country already in effect at war. It was downright impossible to believe that, since the Chinese intervention in Korea, an unimaginably devastating world war has become, on balance, rather more likely than not. The Chinese intervention in Korea was never, in fact, mentioned—in the cheery almost gay atmosphere of the President's press conference, it would have seemed almost indecent to bring up such a subject.

The President's cheerfulness, which is always the characteristic which first strikes the observer, was perhaps a little muted. The broad grin which was once a permanent fixture of his face had been toned down to a half-smile, and appeared only occasionally. There was this much evidence, at least, that the period of euphoria which quite clearly seized the President after his triumphant re-election, and which led him even this summer to assure worried visitors that "everything's going to be all right," is over.

The Presidential euphoria can hardly have survived the Korean war and what has happened since, for President Truman is after all by no means a fool. Those who know him say that behind his bland exterior the President has become in recent months a desperately worried and at times a heartsick man. If so, it is a good sign. For President Truman, when he is stirred, is capable of acting with real courage. In the months to come, he will certainly need courage. So will the people of the country of which he is President. This is the reality which underlies the sense of the unreal generated by cheerful normality of the President's press conference.

Local Bedside Agency Founder Observes Twenty-Fifth Year

Elizabeth J. MacDonald, 114 Potomac Street, is observing the Silver Anniversary of her MacDonald Bedside Agency, which she established in 1925 soon after she found she would have to spend the rest of her life in bed.

This blind and crippled woman, unable to move either arms or legs, supports herself through selling Christmas and greeting cards, magazine subscriptions and gift wrappings.

As a carefree girl who attended John Humbird School, was graduated from Allegany County High School and attended Frostburg State Teachers College, Elizabeth MacDonald gave every promise of a highly successful career in teaching. When 19 she had the first real premonition of the burden she would have to bear. She became bedfast for 15 months, but finally recovered sufficiently to be able to go around on crutches. She taught in South End schools despite her handicap, but became bedfast again in the early 1920s and gave up permanently her life's ambition of teaching.

At first Miss MacDonald had her sight and the use of her hands. With determination she took up painting and showed real talent. Then she lost her eyesight. Her interest in music was so intense that she asked if arrangements could be made so she might be taken in an ambulance to the Hunt Concerts that brought Galli Curci, John McCormack, Fritz Kreisler, Jascha Heifetz, Rachmaninoff and other great artists to Cumberland between 1922 and 1930. From her portable bed backstage she heard concert stars and symphony orchestras and operas.

With the loss of all use of her arms—blind, and almost bereft of every faculty except speech and hearing—Miss MacDonald has never lost her interest in the life around her. Friends visit her from every section of Cumberland and find her one of the best informed women of their acquaintance. The Library of Congress, Washington, supplies her with great literature on records so that she can pull a string tied to one of her fingers and hear the words that other people read. Four strings are tied to her fingers so she can operate her radio.

Every morning, day after day, Elizabeth MacDonald awakes to a realization that she must lie in bed helpless until sleep comes again. But she is not idle! Cheerful, resigned to God's will, she asks only that people give her a chance to support herself by purchasing their Christmas cards and magazine subscriptions through her bedside agency. She welcomes visitors at her Potomac Street home, and many who have called to cheer her have come away more cheered themselves by the wholesome soaring spirit of the helpless woman who has never become a public charge!

Cub Pack Visits Miners Hospital

FROSTBURG—Four members of Frostburg Pack, No. 44, Cub Scouts, Joseph McGregor, Joseph Palleta, William Hyde and George Poland, visited Miners Hospital Saturday and spent the afternoon calling on patients in the public wards and private rooms.

The boys, accompanied by Mrs. William McGregor, Washington Street, their den mother, were attired in the regulation uniform.

Mt. Savage Guild Holds Meeting

MT. SAVAGE — Prizes were won by Mrs. Thomas Snelson and Mrs. Frederick Miller at a card party held by the Junior Guild of St. George's Church at a meeting in the Parish House recently.

A business meeting was held, with Rev. Rudolph Gunkel opening it with a prayer. Misses Margaret and Erma Uhl were hostesses.

The next meeting will be held November 27.

McKeldin Defeated Lane By 92,988 Votes

BALTIMORE, Nov. 19 (AP)—The official returns from the general election showed today that Theodore R. McKeldin, Republican, defeated Gov. Lane by a record-breaking margin of 92,988 votes in the Maryland gubernatorial race.

The final tabulation gave McKeldin 369,790 votes to Lane's 276,792.

John Marshall Butler, in his successful bid to unseat Sen. Tydings (D-Md), received 326,286 to 283,258 for Tydings, or a margin of 43,028.

Attorney General Hall Hammond, the only Democrat contestant on the statewide ballot to win, defeated William Gunter of Cumberland, 298,966 to 253,079.

Lowest price!
Lowest down payment!
Lowest monthly payments!
Lowest operating costs for a full-size car!

The Henry J sedan

$1299.

Delivered at Willow Run, with Federal taxes paid. Only white sidewall tires, de luxe bumper guards, and local tax (if any) additional.

Not only is the Henry J the most economical car you can buy...with its ability to deliver up to 30 to 35 miles per gallon...but it gives you all this, too:

A front seat wide enough for three big people, with head and leg room aplenty...more luggage space than the average family will ever need... driving ease and sprightly performance that make it perfect for busy traffic and tight parking spots!

See and drive the Henry J now! See all the things that make it the car for today! It's SMART...it's TOUGH...it's THRIFTY—and you'll love it!

Built to Better the Best on the Road!

Buckeyes Drop Coveted No. 1 Football Tag

Oklahoma, Princeton, Army, Kentucky Win

NEW YORK, Nov. 19 (AP) — College football's elusive and coveted No. 1 tag, a "kiss of death" that has changed hands four times in six weeks, came up for grabs again today, with a fistful of eager takers.

Ohio State's powerized Buckeyes, after a week on the shaky pinnacle, tumbled yesterday before a fire-eating Illinois team, dead bent on going to the Rose Bowl. The score was 14-7.

The Buckeyes thus met the fate that had befallen Notre Dame and Southern Methodist shortly after being designated as the best in these United States.

Only Army, which has held the top three times while fluctuating in favor, has not been affected.

Army and another ranking contender for national honors, California, had their muscles softened by lightly-regarded adversaries and miserable weather yesterday but managed to bring their perfect records through the storms unscathed.

Pass Decides Battle

The Cadets downed Stanford, 7-0, in a rain storm at Palo Alto on a desperate third period aerial thrust, Bob Blaik to Don Foldberg. The Rose Bowl bound Golden Bears barely outslogged San Francisco in the mud at Berkeley, 13-7.

Oklahoma, Kentucky and Princeton, meanwhile, added to their football stature with smashing victories that undoubtedly will be reflected

Frankies Put On Late Spurt To Grab Game

Wanish's Goals Turn Tide; Spas Mesh 27 Of 34 Free Throws

Coach "Skip" Hughes' St. Francis College cagers of Loretto, Pa., staged a garrison finis last night to defeat the Cumberland Spas, local pro quint, at SS. Peter and Paul gym by the score of 64 to 55.

It was the second defeat in as many nights for Coach Bill Keegan's aggregation, which dropped the season opener here on Saturday to Waynesburg (Pa.) College by the score of 57 to 54.

A gathering of 305 paying patrons witnessed last night's battle in which the score was knotted nine times and the collegians won out in the last five minutes of play.

Wanish Turns Tide

Bill Wanish of Allentown, Pa., pulled the ball game out of the fire for the Red Flash with three successive goals that put the visitors out in front for keeps. The score was 54-51 with approximately six minutes left to play when Wanish registered three fielders in almost rapid succession to put the Frankies on the long end of a 57-54 count. Ed Sharick sank two foul shots and Johnny Clancy slammed in a goal to give St. Francis a 7-point advantage at 61-54 with two minutes remaining. After Jimmy Clevenger hooped a free throw for the home club, Clancy dumped in a foul and Johnny O'Brien scored from the field before the final whistle.

Up until the time St. Francis cut loose with a whirlwind attack in the closing minutes against the fading Spas it was an even-Stephen ball game with no team having more than a five-point advantage.

The quarter scores were 12-11, Spas, 24-23 in favor of St. Francis and 43-39 with the locals out in front.

Score Tied Nine Times

In the opening period the score was knotted at 5-5, in the second stanza it was stalemated 15, 17, 18 and 22 and in the third heat it was even-Stephen at 31-31 and 32-32. Early in the 4th period the ties were 46-46 and 47-47.

St. Francis, defeated here twice in previous years, banged in 24 fielders to the Spas' 14 in last night's encounter. The home team, however, stayed right in there through its classy foul pitching, meshing 27 of 34 throws. The winners averaged .500 at the free throw line—sinking 16 of 32 shots.

54 Personals Called

A total of 54 personal fouls were plastered on the teams—29 on the invaders and 25 on the home club—by Clifton Van Roby and Eddie Diehl. Ray Palonis, of St. Francis, was the only player ejected on six personal fouls and he made his exit in the final quarter with his team trailing at 51-53.

Palonis, Wanish and Clancy paced the St. Francis attack with 15, 13 and 11 tallies. Lou Bell headed the Spas with an even dozen points while Bob Pence and Jimmy Clevenger had 10 each.

Erie Here Sunday

The Spas will open their All-American Pro League campaign here next Sunday at 3 p. m. with the Erie (Pa.) Admirals. All Sunday games with Erie, home or away, will be played in the afternoon. Lineups:

Rex Layne Meets Walcott Friday

Utah Heavy To Fight Jersey Joe In Garden

NEW YORK, Nov. 19 (AP)—Rex Layne, promising Utah heavyweight, gambles for the jackpot Friday when he engages crafty Jersey Joe Walcott in the main ten rounder at Madison Square Garden.

Despite a record which shows only one defeat in 28 fights, the 22-year old Layne appears to be in way over his head against the experienced, hard-hitting Walcott.

Jersey Joe, who will be 37 in January, will be at least a 1 to 5 choice. However, if Layne, who has scored 19 kayo victories, can upset the Camden, N. J., veteran he could vault right into a title shot with heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles.

The bout will be broadcast by ABC and telecast by NBC.

In another outstanding bout, lightweight champion Ike Williams will attempt to avenge a decision loss to Joe Miceli when he meets the New York welterweight in a return ten in Milwaukee Thursday.

Miceli, a fine prospect, won a unanimous ten from Williams in Milwaukee Oct. 2.

On Wednesday, light heavyweight champion Joey Maxim of Cleveland faces Al Brown of Detroit in a non-title ten in Moline, Ill. The same night Johnny Bratton of Chicago and Johnny Cesario of Boston clash in a welterweight ten at New York's St. Nicholas Arena. The Bratton-Cesario bout will be broadcast and telecast by CBS.

82-Yard Punt Return Beats Eagles, 14-10

Don Paul's Long Run Nets Cardinals Win

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 19 (INS)—The Chicago Cardinals came storming from behind the third period today to upset the power-packed Philadelphia Eagles, 14 to 10.

The defeat, a serious blow to the championship aspirations of the National Football League's defending titlists, was witnessed by 28,368 fans.

Behind 10-0 at the half, the Cardinals struck twice for touchdowns in the third period and then held the Eagles in check the rest of the way.

An 82-yard punt return by Don Paul provided the Cards with the winning touchdown. Paul grabbed a Frank Reagan punt that was bounding around the Chicago 20 and eluded several nearby Eagles.

He swung to the center of the field and then raced the rest of the way down the sidelines for the six-pointer.

An Eagle fumble led to the first Cardinal td. The Chicago outfit march 68 yards with a 43 yard pass from Frank Tripucka to Bob Shaw putting it in scoring position. A 15-yard pass from Jim Hardy to Elmer Angsman produced the touchdown. Pat Harder booted both extra points.

Tommy Thompson culiminated a 59-yard first period drive by the Eagles with a nine-yard pass to Pete Pihos for a touchdown. Cliff Patton kicked the point and later in the second period booted a 17-yard field goal.

Bob Waterfield Stars As Rams Conquer Yanks

Los Angeles Wins In New York, 43-35

NEW YORK, Nov. 19 (INS)—The Los Angeles Rams strengthened their hold on first place in the National Division of the National Football League today with a 43-to-35 victory over the New York Yanks in a wild, free-scoring struggle at Yankee Stadium.

The win by the high-powered Rams dumped the Yanks into third place in the division, behind the victorious Chicago Bears.

A crowd of 42,673 fans saw the Rams take the Yanks for the second time this season in a thriller that went right down to the wire.

The Rams led 40-21 with eleven minutes left when the Yanks came back. George Ratterman threw a 16-yard touchdown pass to Dan Edwards and George Taliaferro hit Art Weiner with a 60-yard aerial for another Yanks' td.

But with seven minutes left the New Yorkers were unable to overcome a 40-35 deficit.

Tom Keane made the sixth and most vital of the Rams' six interceptions to set up a 30-yard field goal—third of the day—by brilliant Bob Waterfield and Los Angeles had the ball game.

The aggregate two team total of 1,133 yards gained broke all professional records. Los Angeles gained 636 yards and through the skyways completed 28 of 49 passes.

Waterfield was the LA star, completing 21 of 37 passes for 248 yards and a touchdown. He set up another and booted four placements in addition to his field goals of 37, 31 and 30 yards.

Dick Hoerner scored three Ram touchdowns, the last one on a brilliant 64-yard dash in the final period.

Chicago Bears Score Shutout

Subdue 49ers, 17-0; Battle Rams Next

CHICAGO, Nov. 19 (INS)—The Chicago Bears produced all their points in the first half and then repulsed every threat made by the San Francisco 49ers to win, 17 to 0, today before a crowd of 38,105 at Wrigley Field.

The shutout the 49ers suffered was their first in five years of professional football. They were unable to cross midfield until just before halftime and never got closer to the Bears' goal than the 28-yard line.

Chicago's victory gave Coach George Hala's aggregation undisputed possession of second place in the National Conference of the major pro football league. The Bears, who are only a half-game behind the first place Los Angeles Rams, meet the Californians in a showdown game in Chicago next week.

George Blanda opened the scoring three minutes before the end of the first quarter with a 32-yard field goal. John Hoffman intercepted a pass thrown by Frankie Albert and returned it for a 39-yard touchdown a minute later.

Johnny Lujack kicked the extra point just as he did after hurling a 39-yard scoring pass to Ken Kavanaugh in the second period. Lujack now leads the National League with 93 points. Score by periods:

Browns Beat 'Skins, Hold First Place

Cleveland Gets Scare But Is Victor, 20-14, On Phelps' 6-Pointer

CLEVELAND, Nov. 19 (INS)—The last-place Washington Redskins, who have won only one game this season, gave the Cleveland Browns the scare of their lives today before succumbing, 20 to 14, in the last period before 21,908 fans at Cleveland.

An 80-yard drive midway in the final period overcame a 14 to 13 Washington lead and preserved the Browns' half-game lead over the New York Giants in the American Conference of the National Football League.

Halfback Dopey Phelps scored the decisive td on a dash around end and Tackle Lou Groza kicked the extra point, his second of the game, to put the Browns ahead to stay.

The Redskins charged back, however, with Eddie Saenz running back the Cleveland kickoff 71 yards to the Brown 31. But a series of passes by Harry Gilmer failed to advance the ball and the Browns took over.

Groza's accurate booting put the Browns into an early lead in the second period. Paul Brown's club scored a td on a pass from Otto Graham to Dante Lavelli and added six points on two field goals, one a 30-yard boot.

This offset a second period Washington touchdown scored by Hall Haynes on an interception of a Graham pass. But the Redskins went out in front in the third period when a Gilmer to Saenz pass put the ball on the three, where Halfback Rob Goode blasted over.

Doak Walker Steals Show

Scores All Points As Lions Win, 24-21

DETROIT, Nov. 19 (AP)—Smooth operating Doak Walker slammed over all 24 points for the Detroit Lions today as they battled their way to a 24-21 decision over the stubborn Green Bay Packers in a National Football League game here.

The former Southern Methodist star, who is making a strong bid for honors as the No. 1 freshman in the NFL, picked up three touchdowns, three conversions and a field goal on the rain-soaked gridiron.

He climaxed his great day by catching an eight yard touchdown pass in the last two minutes of play to enable the Lions to come from behind and nip the Packers.

That touchdown enabled the Detroiters to snap their four game losing streak, while it cost the Packers their sixth successive setback. Score:

Giants Pulverize Baltimore Colts

BALTIMORE, Nov. 19 (AP)—Switching to the T and exploding like T.N.T. after trailing 20-7 at halftime, the New York Giants pulverized the Baltimore Colts 55-20 today.

Quarterback Travis Tidwell directed the Giants to their second highest scoring total in history after quarterback Chuck Conerly got nowhere with the A single wing formation of attack. The Giants' biggest point output was 56 points against the Philadelphia Eagles in 1933.

Tidwell and the T formation came in for the Giants midway in the second period with the score 13-0 against them. After the rampaging Colts added another score to the delirious delight of 14,573 fans in Memorial Stadium, the former Auburn quarterback got the New Yorkers straightened out and headed for their seventh win against two losses in the National Football League.

Personally, he threw two touchdown passes to end Bob McChesney and went over the goal once himself. Eddie Price, the pride of Tulane, bucked for two scores and the others were credited to Jim Ostendarp, a Baltimorean, Randall Clay and Bob Jackson.

Cross Country Teams Vie For IC4A Title

NEW YORK, Nov. 19—(AP)—Back in 1930, Penn State College won the IC4A cross-country championship—but the intervening decades have been lean ones for the Nittany Lions. Tomorrow, however, may be their day again.

Some 250 harriers from 39 colleges will toe the mark for the 42nd edition of the IC4A harrier title run, and it is the Penn State squad that stands out. That's despite the presence of Dick Shea on the Army team.

The Staters were fifth last year, and have all seven members of their 1949 squad back for another fling at the championship. Bill Ashenfelter, a younger brother of Horace, who still can show his heels to most two-milers running today, is the standout of the Penn State team.

16 Win Turkeys, Hams In Firemen's Shoot

Santa Clara Broncos Beat St. Mary's, 9-0

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19 (INS)—The Santa Clara Broncos defeated St. Mary's Gaels 9-0 today in the annual renewal of their "little big game," the first of which was played in 1896.

Threatening rain kept the crowd to 10,000—one of the smallest ever to witness the game between the two rivals.

The lone touchdown came in the second period when the Bronco quarterback Len Napolitano threw a 25-yard pass to Gern Magler, Santa Clara end.

Interstate Loop Players Feted

Awards And Trophy Are Distributed

Eleven players received cash awards amounting to $70 and the Centerville (Pa.) Reds were presented the league's championship trophy at the annual dinner of the Interstate Baseball League held yesterday at the Loyal Order of Moose Home.

Cash awards of $10 each went to Tommy Allen, Romney pitcher, for leading the league with an 11-5 record and Bob Keller, Moorefield, who paced the batsmen of the league with an average of .398.

Allen is now in the army and is stationed at Fort Benning, Ga., Keller, a newlywed, was also absent.

Dick McElwee, Romney, top base stealer, and Jim Gaffney, Cumberland Moose, leader in runs batted in, also received $10;

Pete Cecil, Moose, and Marty Dishong, Everett, who tied in doubles with 11 each, received $5 each. Four players tied for homer honors with four each — Gaffney, Paul Sipes and Jack Feight, Everett, and Warden Hott, Moorefield, received $2.50 each.

Secretary Roy Clites, Hyndman, announced that the league has a balance of $280.04.

John J. Long, president, presided. Other officers present were Frank J. Davis, vice president, and Secretary Clites, and Robert Herboldsheimer, umpire-in-chief.

Brief remarks were made by Long, Davis, Herboldsheimer, Lonnie Jackson, Moose lodge governor, and representatives of the teams.

Chancellors Deadlock Recorders In K-C Loop

The Chancellors won two out of three games from the Guards yesterday on the Club alleys and went into a first place tie with the Recorders in the Knights of Columbus Bowling League.

The Recorders who were in first place by two games, lost three games to the Grand Knights.

High scorers were: "Pie" Conley, Grand Knights, 230-596; Harold Wagoner, Recorders, 187-515; Tommy McGeady, Chancellors, 190-548, and Jim Cunningham, Guards, 158-411. The standings:

	W.	L.
Recorders	19	11
Chancellors	19	11
Guards	12	18
Grand Knights	10	20

Metkovich

Muncrief

Souchok

Klein

FORMER major leaguers, these four will be back in the big time next year after being shunted to the minors. The four were among those selected in the draft at the Cincinnati, O., meeting. Lou Klein, Los Angeles infielder, went to the Indians. Bob Muncrief, Los Angeles pitcher, was picked up by the Yanks. Steve Souchok, Sacramento first sacker, was drafted by the Tigers. George Metkovich, Oakland outfielder, was selected by the Pirates. (International)

Steelers Grab Lead In LaSalle Circuit

Jack Vocke with 167-482 and Eddie Dove with 154-383 headed the Steelers' attack as the latter won three games from the Eagles yesterday and moved into first place in the LaSalle High School Bowling League.

Big Jim Connelly paced the Eagles with a 171-446.

In the other match the Redskins defeated the Bears. Jerry Loibel and Alex Davis led the Bears' offensive with sets of 400 and 398. Joe Fair topped the 'Skins with 135-367 and Bobby Thomas, freshman, posted 128-362. The standings:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Steelers	18	12	.600
Bears	17	13	.567
Redskins	14	16	.467
Eagles	11	19	.367

16 Win Turkeys At Ridgeley Rod, Gun Club Traps

Sixteen persons won 21 turkeys ranging from 20 to 12 pounds in the shoot held yesterday by the Ridgeley Rod and Gun Club.

Forty gunners from Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania participated.

Carl King, Everett, Pa., and Harry Naugle, Cumberland, led the winners with three birds each. Wade Gladden, Coldstream, W. Va., won two turkeys.

Those winning one turkey each were:

Leo Rice, Ridgeley; Mary E. Murrell, Ridgeley; Donald King, Everett; W. F. Weakly, Ridgeley; Charles Jordan, Cumberland; W. D. Biddinger, Ridgeley; Ed McDonald, Headsville, W. Va.

Dr. E. C. Boyer, Johnstown, Pa.; W. Eisentrout, Ridgeley; M. C. Houseworth, Bedford Road; Russell McElfish, Bedford Road; John Lohr, Johnstown, Pa., and Tony Francis, Westernport.

THIS MAN KNOWS

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 19 (INS)—Bette Davis was so glowing with happiness when she met Gary Merrill at the airport, that no one had the heart to tell her the bad news.

Her bridegroom, who is just back from Germany where he made "Legion Of The Damned," will be snatched away again December 18 for another long location jaunt. This time it's Florida, where he'll make "The Frogmen" with Dana Andrews and Richard Widmark.

Bette Davis

Sam Engel, the producer, and Lloyd Bacon, the director, say they feel like real heavies pulling a trick like this on Bette—but Gary is the boy they have to have. I can't say I blame them. After "All About Eve" he's really headed right for stardom.

My guess is that Bette will go along to Florida, at least long enough to spend the holidays with him.

• — • — •

Paul Jones, producer of the "Road" epics, felt that with Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis doing "My Friend Irma Goes Abroad," Bing and Bob shouldn't do "Road To Paris" which has exactly the same backgrounds. So he has Valentine Davies writing "Road To Hollywood."

The idea strikes me as plum wonderful. Can't you see Bing and Bob in a satire on this town? It'll be funny—that's for sure—and it will be kind, which is more than can be said of other movies on the same subject.

• — • — •

I've always thought those stories printed that MGM planned to "discipline" Ava Gardner were a lot of nonsense—and I am right. Last week, when RKO put in a bid to borrow Ava, the reply from MGM was "sorry—we're keeping her right here."

Ava goes into "Scaramouche" opposite Stewart Granger immediately after she finishes "Show Boat."

Of course, it won't be so immediate that she won't have time for a quick visit to New York to see you-know-who. But she won't be able to stay more than ten days, that's how quickly the adventure yarn with Granger is scheduled to start.

• — • — •

All the fussing and talk of suspension notwithstanding, Linda Darnell has decided to do "The Guy Who Sank The Navy" after all. Linda was proud of her record of never having had a suspension in all the years she has been at 20th—and she doesn't want any trouble now.

I hear her original objection was not over the importance of her role. She just didn't want to be the "other woman" who comes between Paul Douglas and Joan Bennett n the script. She told me she wanted to play another type of character.

After she thought it over, Linda decided that sirens don't fare too badly on the screen. Sometimes the "bad girl" steals the picture. She did on several occasions, I remember, when she wasn't even the star.

All the elopment rumors floating around when Jean Simmons and Stewart Granger flew with Howard Hughes to the Grand Canyon and Lake Meade, didn't mean a thing. The last time Howard took a couple flying it was Cary Grant and Betsy Drake and it was, indeed, an elopement—but it was no elopement for Stewart and Jean.

Jean, who leaves for home today, set a definite wedding date and it's New Year's day. She doesn't know whether it will be in Hollywood or London—that depends upon where they are at that time.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Richard Basehart has been hospitalized in Germany with pneumonia and is reported very ill. He was stricken after making scenes for "Legion Of The Damned" which called for him to swim in the icy waters of the Rhine.

Valentina Cortesa leaves Wednesday for Pittsburgh to join her boy friend, Conductor Victor De Sabata. Then she'll take off for Italy for a visit with her family.

Franchot Tone must be back from New York by December 5 to give a deposition in the fight between him and his ex-wife, Jean Wallace, for the custody of their children. Jean won the first round when she was allowed to have the children three days a week.

Joan Davis, who is feeling much better, was at Ciro's with Danny Elman, her former boy friend.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Radio And Television

By JOHN CROSBY

The Big Lie Technique

THE AIR waves clear around the globe are full of interesting lies about the American people. Radio Moscow is now broadcasting 832 program hours a week from some 250 transmitters in all the languages that matter. Recently, "Living — 1950" (NBC 7 p. m. EST Saturdays) compiled a few of the more arresting statements made about us dirty capitalistic warmongers—in case the rest of you rotten capitalists are interested.

John Crosby

"This is Radio Moscow calling. The United States is afraid. The Yankee imperialists—the blackest forces of aggression—are afraid of the truth, of the march forward of history, which has sealed the unavoidable crash of the rotten capitalist world. So the docile varlets from the dollarized countries, following the orders of the State Department, talked business in the famous Hotel Waldorf-Astoria about the cannon fodder which is needed to unleash the war against the Soviet Union."

• — • — •

What is especially striking about this vitriol, to me at least, is the fact that the Waldorf gets off so easily, being described simply as "famous," rather than as a hotbed of syndicalo-bourgeois fascism. Why, look here, Radio Moscow, if even half the rotten capitalist intrigues hatched in the Sert Room got any farther than the diagrams on the tablecloth, we'd all be millionaires. In fact, if you're looking for propaganda material on the unworkability of the rotten capitalist system, just hang around the men's bar at the Waldorf for awhile. You'll hear about more huge plants that never get built, more deals that are never consummated, more quick fortunes that are never made, than you'll find anywhere else in this decadent country.

Russian propaganda is based on the big lie technique, but even then, it is pretty hard to square with any form of logic, even Iron Curtain logic. A large part of the broadcasts are devoted to cracking us over the head for possessing so many dollars and trying to dollarize—a nice word—the rest of the world with our dirty capitalist money. Right next to our dollar happiness, you'll hear something like this:

"Only the idiocy of an oversatiated beast of prey can explain the horrible American conditions that doom millions to hunger, illness, and lingering death. Last year in America, 20,000,000 persons lived on a starvation diet. That's how the notorious American way of life looks.

"In the United States, only 4 per cent of the citizens can afford the services of a doctor, and 45,000,000 American children are rapidly losing their health through malnutrition.

"In American automobile plants, the average worker becomes an invalid after five years of work."

Well, let's see now—20,000,000 of us starving, 45,000,000 sick children and all those invalid automobile workers—that puts a third of the population in sick bay. We're obviously in no shape to launch what Radio Moscow refers to as our "bloodthirsty war in Korea." We're especially in no shape to discuss "the cannon fodder which is needed to unleash the war against the Soviet Union." Obviously, with 45,000,000 sick children on our hands, we haven't got any cannon fodder worth mentioning. (There are only 38,000,000 children under fifteen years in this country. We have more sick children than we have children.)

We ought to be used to being abused for foreigners by this time. We've taken an awful lot of abuse from them, including a celebrated speech by George Bernard Shaw over NBC in 1933 in which Shaw made about as many bum guesses as it is possible for one man to make. Said Mr. Shaw at that time:

"Because the practical mood in which you elected Mr. Hoover was a disappointment and you got into a sentimental mood, and Mr. Roosevelt by a happy chance got photographed with a baby, he went into the White House with a rush. You hope a great deal from Franklin Roosevelt. You will get nothing from him. In his four years, if he has to go on under the Constitution with the usual rotten Congress and all the rest of it, he will inevitably be as great a disappointment as Mr. Hoover."

Pfc. Charles A. Butler Receives Purple Heart

One of the 41 men to receive Purple Hearts Friday at the first mass ceremony staged in Walter Reed Hospital, Washington, D. C., since fighting started in Korea, was Pfc. Charles A. Butler, 20, of Cresaptown.

He is a son of Mrs. Lucy Helbig, of Cresaptown. Pfc. Butler was wounded in action August 2.

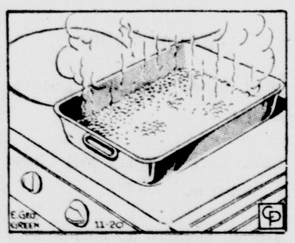

Pfc. Butler enlisted in the Army in June, 1948. In January of this year he was shipped to Japan from where he left for Korean action on July 19.

He was wounded about two weeks later by a mortar blast. Pfc. Butler is recuperating from head, shoulder, arms and hip wounds.

His mother, who visits him every week, was present at the ceremony Friday.

Maj. Gen. Paul H. Streit, reminding the men he was following a custom started by Gen. George Washington, pinned on the medals and gave each man a handshake.

WIFE PRESERVERS

Stainless steel pans can be brightened by filling with a mild vinegar solution and allowing them to simmer on the stove.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

F E G O K O V B H X V C A T G M E F T M V D H K M I B M I H K C D D — H X F P M H Y M F I M.

Saturday's Cryptoquote: A FELLOW-FEELING MAKES ONE WONDROUS KIND—GARRICK.

W. A. Buchholtz To Attend National Municipal Congress

City Commissioner William H. Buchholtz will represent both the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland and District 6, Maryland Municipal League, at the 1950 American Municipal Congress.

More than 500 mayors, city managers, councilmen, finance officers and other municipal officials from throughout the United States are expected to gather in Washington, D. C. December 4-6 for the Congress.

The focus of this year's meeting will be on the position of municipal government at mid-century as well as the determination of policies that cities will support on a nation-wide basis in the year ahead.

The four-day Congress is sponsored by the American Municipal Association, which officially represents 10,350 cities in the U. S. as the national federation of state leagues of municipalities.

A highlight of the 1950 Congress will be an address by Secretary of State Dean Acheson before the annual dinner of the Association December 5. A luncheon session on opening day of the Congress will hear Senator Harry P. Cain (R., Wash.) former mayor of Tacoma, discuss "Where is the Federal Government Leading the Cities?"

Keynote of the mid-century conference will be sounded by Denver's Mayor Quigg Newton, who will review progress in city government since 1900 in his presidential address at the opening session. A series of reports by various municipal officials will outline progress made by cities during 1950. Among subjects to be covered are crime; highways and traffic; civil defense; housing; slum clearance and urban redevelopment; home rule; social security and municipal finance.

Other key sessions of the Congress will be devoted to "How Will the Defense Program Affect the Finances of Cities?", "Municipal Public Works vs Defense Requirements" "Public Relations for Large Cities" "What the 1950 Census Means to Municipalities", "Application of the Federal Social Security Act to Public Employees", "Solving America's Highway, Traffic and Parking Problems" and "Municipal Responsibilities for Civil Defense."

Tucker County Polio Costs High

PARSONS, W. Va. — Polio in Tucker county has cost $3,268.15 this year up to November 1. J. Harold Felton, Tucker County director, said $2,468.17 was for Morris Memorial Hospital in Milton. One case, not included, was covered by polio insurance. Another case is pending and one patient is still in Milton. Some $799 was paid for local doctors, care, ambulances, braces and old cases throughout the year.

The worst polio record in this county occurred during the summer months with ten cases treated in Milton.

A check for $2,000 has been received from the National Foundation and has been forwarded to the hospital. Approximately $1,000 or more will be needed to clear all debts. Felton said that any advance contributions will be greatly appreciated at this time.

A polio meeting has been scheduled December 5 in Clarksburg for county officers, directors and other March of Dimes workers and any interested persons.

The Pre-March of Dimes conferences will be held from 3 to 5 p. m. after which the Harrison County Medical Society Auxiliary will hold a reception at 6 p. m. The banquet will be held at 6:30 p. m.

Police Investigate Series Of Thefts

Police reported no developments yesterday in a series of thefts here over the weekend.

Two offices on the fifth floor of the Liberty Trust Building were entered and a total of $65 stolen Friday night.

In South End near the Wiley Ford bridge on Fort Avenue, Virgie's Tavern was burglarized of about $40 in cash.

Detective Thomas A. See reported $50 was taken from the office of the Quaker City Life Insurance Company, and that $15 was taken from the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

The Chamber of Commerce office was entered and thoroughly ransacked, but nothing taken.

At the South End tavern, entrance was gained by removing a pane from a rear window. In addition to the cash, several cartons of cigarettes were taken.

PUBLIC NOTICE
TO
BIDDERS INTERESTED IN SELLING PRE-FABRICATED METAL BUILDINGS

Sealed bids will be received by the County Commissioners of Allegany County, Maryland, until December 5, 1950, at 10:30 o'clock A. M., by its Clerk, the undersigned, whose address is the Court House, Cumberland, Maryland, for the purchase of One Pre-fabricated Metal Building for use by the County Roads Department. All bids must be marked "Pre-Fabricated Metal Building Bid" on the outside envelope.

Plans and specifications for said pre-fabricated metal building dated November 17, 1950, will be available on and after November 17, 1950, at the Office of the County Roads Engineer, 111 Union Street, Cumberland, Maryland.

The County Commissioners of Allegany County, Maryland, reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

Veterans Meet On Bonus Plan

Legionnaires of Mountain District posts at a meeting in Farrady Post home, Frostburg, yesterday afternoon, made plans to further the introduction of a Soldiers' Bonus Bill at the January session of the General Assembly.

According to Russell J. Paupe, Legion district commander, those present decided to call a meeting of representatives of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Amvets, Military Order of the Purple Heart, and Disabled American Veterans, to be held November 27 at 8 p. m. at Farrady Post, Frostburg.

Paupe said J. Milton Dick, former legislator, spoke at yesterday's meeting and outlined a plan of formulating a bonus bill and methods of introducing it.

Frank Webb, junior vice commander of the Department of Maryland Veterans of Foreign Wars told the group the VFW has already started working on such a measure and will welcome the support of all veteran groups in having it passed.

Guerrillas Seize Town

TAIPEI, Formosa, Nov. 19 (AP) — Chinese Nationalist reports said today guerrillas captured the South China town of Lingshan Nov. 12 after wiping out two Communist battalions in a two-hour battle.

Wounded Hunter Is Improving

Estel Jesse Hennen, 22, of RFD 1, Oldtown, who suffered a severe wound of the left thigh when shot by a companion hunter Saturday afternoon, was listed as "improved" at Memorial Hospital late last night.

Hennen and Floyd Thomas Buser, 16, also of Oldtown, were hunting on the farm of Floyd Buser, seven miles south of Oldtown, when Buser's .20 gauge single-barrel shotgun accidently went off. They were walking side by side at the time, according to Criminal Investigator William F. Baker.

The blast almost went through Hennen's leg. Two pieces of leather, a penknife, four pennies and a box top in his pocket went deep into the wound, making surgery necessary. The force of the shot caused two blades on the knife to open.

Prior to the mishap, Buser bagged two rabbits and Hennen got one. Authorities said no charges will be filed against the youth. The hunting season opened Wednesday.

Score Of Prominent Americans Plead For World Government

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 19 (AP) — A score of prominent American writers, educators, entertainers and politicians tonight put on a spirited plea for world government, pictured as the only way out of this "age of the great confusion."

The plea was contained in a playpageant by a number of writers headed by Oscar Hammerstein 2d, and presented under the sponsorship of the United World Federalists, Inc., a group made up of some 40,000 persons.

Norman Cousins, editor of the Saturday Review of Literature, spelled out the purpose of world government as aiming at keeping "the points of dissimiliarity between peoples from becoming the fuse caps of an atomic explosion."

Harold E. Stassen, Republican political leader and president of the University of Pennsylvania, said "nothing can stop us save the running down of the clock of history before we have given enough voice or have been sufficiently heard. It is my fervent prayer that we will beat the clock."

Murray Asks Changes In Mobilization Setup

CHICAGO, Nov. 19 (AP) — CIO President Philip Murray tonight called for "drastic" changes in America's mobilization program.

Murray said that "as it now stands" the Defense Production Act will "serve only to weaken the mobilization effort."

He made the statement in his annual report to the CIO national convention opening here tomorrow.

Murray, for 10 years the CIO's head man, also:

1. Claimed that "never in all human history has one single organization brought so much good to so many people" as has the CIO in the past decade.

2. Predicted that "before long the influence of the Communist Party in the American labor movement will have been erased once and for all."

3. Said the ouster of 11 allegedly Communist-dominated unions has brought an "unprecedented degree of unanimity into CIO ranks and given the CIO more effectiveness and militance."

Workman Is Buried 15 Minutes Under Coal

UTICA, N. Y., Nov. 19 (AP) — "I don't want to die cramped up like this."

That was Walter Kosuda's first thought when he was jackknifed in a coal chute yesterday and buried for 15 minutes under anthracite.

The 32-year-old Utica workman looked fit today at St. Elizabeth hospital but said he felt "quite fatigued."

He fell through the bottom of a coal hopper car and jammed into the chute where coal poured over him.

He Finally Got Around To Reporting Blaze

PATCHOGUE, N. Y., Nov. 19 (AP)—Thomas Raissis strolled into the Lake street firehouse carrying a fire extinguisher.

"Can I have this extinguisher refilled here?" he asked.

Custodian George Fogarty told him no.

"Well, can I borrow an extinguisher?" the visitor inquired.

"We don't loan 'em," replied Fogarty.

Raissis thought for a moment, then said casually, "the only reason I'm asking is that there's a fire at our place."

A truckload of firemen sped to Raissis' restaurant and doused the blaze after a 15-minute battle.

Mt. Savage 4-H Club Meets

MT. SAVAGE — Miss Thelma Allin, assistant home demonstration agent, modeled a suit at a recent meeting of the 4-H Club of Calla Hill at the home of Miss Joan Sweene, Mt. Savage Highway.

The meeting was called to order by Mary Meade, president. Silver cleaning demonstrations were given by Nancy Cooley and Robertine Boyle.

The next meeting, at the home of Mrs. Wilson Sweene, will be a Christmas Party.

DOING O. K. WITH OKIES - By Alan Maver

ON THE LINE

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK (INS)

TAKING a bold chance, the boss recently appointed me a part-time drama critic, a job that opened up when the regular critic was promoted to full-time copy boy.

I felt undressed, walking into my first critical job without an opera cloak, top hat, cane and spats. Any fool knows that's how critics dress, and that they always use their extra seat for their outer garments. My own knowledge of critics and their behavior goes 'way back to the writings of O. O. McIntyre, and more recent assurances have been given to me by the critic in 20th Century Fox's excellent "All About Eve." Real man of distinction type. Spoke through only one nostril, the ultimate in worldly elegance.

But, looking around the theater, my last illusion in life went glimmering. There sat Bob Coleman wearing sideburns with his sackcloth and ashes; John Chapman wearing a business suit and a look of quiet desperation; John McClain, George Jean Nathan, Brooks Atkinson, and all the others—and they looked pretty much like any sampling of the house itself. Not a cape to their name. But some blue shirts.

• — • — •

At play's end those with stories to write sped furtively toward the door, ghostly guests departing in a darkened feast while the rest of the party lingered over the fine brandy of curtain calls. I had always thought that critics went immediately to the leading lady's undressing room, then took her to a midnight wine orgy.

I fled in their wake, the raw neophyte who had not boned up properly on the arresting adjective, the audacious adverb or the triple entendre.

My marquee language was rusty. They were willing to help. Coleman let me have a slightly worn but still serviceable "exquisite" to use in my own review. Chapman tossed me an "appealing" he wasn't using for the evening. McClain helped with "superb" and said I could keep it for the rest of the season. Nathan provided "rancid."

With these highly respected tools, I went to work. But somebody forgot to give me the articles, prepositions, predicates and punctuation. Had to go it on my own, drawing from a think knowledge of the drama hitherto confined to watching televised rassling matches. And it came out of the typewriter somewhat different from that of other reviews.

Am now a seasoned reviewer with three plays under my belt. I turned out to be a ruthless plot-giver-awayer. It seems a fairer thing to do, though it is deemed gauche by some of my colleagues. Seems to me to be as important as giving the score of a ball game.

Had to come right out and say that Jessica Tandy bumps herself off with a fist full of sleeping pills in "Hilda Crane." And why. Something like this:

"A little dented around the fenders, Hilda quits New York and drops back to her minor league home town to forget the two blanks she drew in her marriages. She finds desire under the elms of the local university, with the help of a raffish English professor, but marries a self-made buffalo who is high up in lawn-mowers.

"She staggers through two years of marriage, and an off-stage baby, before her heels round out again. Simultaneously, the professor reenters and after a bitter struggle with her better self, lasting nearly a minute, Hilda and the prof shop for a motel.

"Even though she comes back home the very next day, she is tortured by the suspicion that she done the good folks wrong, so she gulps that keg of knockout drops which she has ben keeping handy for just such a jolly emergency."

Most of my colleagues, whose names are beginning to slip my mind now that I have arrived, liked "Hilda Crane." I found it something to take a shower after, though the people in it try hard to make it seem worth the money.

I did like Clifford Odets' new one, "A Country Girl," his best since "Golden Boy." Paul Kelly, Uta Hagen and the new fellow who plays the director, are just right for the superlatives I picked up from Coleman, Chapman and McClain.

But "Bell, Book and Candle," with the remarkable Rex Harrisons, is a holy treatise on modern witchcraft which falls on its face with an ectoplasmic thud. Besides it seemed so redundant to make the landlady a witch.

Deaths

REXRODE SERVICE

A funeral service for Henry Brooke Rexrode, 48, RFD 1, Limestone Road, Keyser, W. Va., who was burned to death Friday after his coal truck wrecked on Burke Hill, Route 220 at McCoole, was held yesterday afternoon at the Evangelical United Brethren Church Antioch, with Rev. Lowell R. Rogers, Burlington, assisted by Rev. W. E. Knowles, Antioch, officiating. Interment was in Thrush Cemetery, near Antioch.

MISS WINIFRED LAFFEY

Miss Winifred V. Laffey, 65, died at 11 a.m. yesterday at Ocala, Fla., while she was visiting her brother there.

She was the daughter of James F. and Margaret Noone Laffey and she lived at 224 Glenn Street, this city.

The body is to arrive in Cumberland tomorrow morning at 11:40 o'clock. It will be taken to Stein's Funeral Home, where it will remain until 2 p.m., when it will be taken to St. Patrick's Cemetery for a graveside service.

JOSEPH G. KELLEY

Joseph G. Kelley, 77, of 211 Pennsylvania Avenue, died Saturday in Allegany Hospital. He had been ill in recent years due to a heart condition.

Born in Terra Alta, W. Va., Mr. Kelley worked as a B. and O. conductor 27 years and retired six years ago after serving as custodian at John Humbird School for 17 years. His parents were the late William T. and Hulda Sisler Kelley.

Surviving are three sons, Frank and Eugene Kelley, this city, and Joseph Kelley, at home; two daughters, Genevieve and Bernadette Kelley, both at home; one granddaughter and two great granddaughters.

The body is at the residence where a service will be conducted today at 2 p. m. by Rev. Kenneth W. Grove, pastor of Emmanuel Methodist Church. Interment will take place in Hillcrest Burial Park.

CHARLES BONHEIMER

Charles Bonheimer, brother of Mrs. Mary Ayers, 417 Broadway, died Friday at Phoenix, Ariz.

A service will be held in Phoenix.

BORGMAN SERVICE

A requiem mass for Mrs. Annie Borgman, 67, who died Tuesday night at the home of her son, Edward Borgman, Cresaptown, was celebrated Saturday in St. Ambrose Catholic Church there by Rev. Father Cletus, O.F.M. Cap., pastor. Burial was in the parish cemetery.

Pallbearers were Edward O'Neal, Loman Bennett, S. B. Murphy, Anthony Yockus, Herman Garlitz and Carl Long.

New Pa. Turnpike Link Open Today

CARLISLE, Pa., Nov. 19 (AP) — Pennsylvania's newest turnpike addition — the $87,000,000, 100-miles eastern extension—makes it debut to the public tomorrow.

The new eastern link will be thrown open to traffic for the first time at 7 a. m.

The new toll road extends from the original eastern terminus of the 160-mile superhighway here to King of Prussia, Montgomery county, about 15 miles from Philadelphia's city line. The road now extends from the outskirts of Philadelphia to the outskirts of Pittsburgh.

Workmen made last minute checks along the four-lane ribbon of highway today in preparation for the flood of traffic expected to roll over its length tomorrow. No ceremony has been arranged to commemorate the opening, since the new road was formally dedicated last month.

The automobile toll will be $1.20 from Carlisle to King of Prussia. The toll for the entire length of the turnpike will be $2.50. Truck rates will vary according to type of vehicles.

Banks Are Requested To Hold Down Lending

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 (AP)—The Federal Reserve Board tonight appealed to banks to fight inflation by holding down lending. It was the board's second such plea in four months.

Chairman Thomas B. McCabe voiced the board's concern over a record-smashing $5,000,000,000 rise in the bank loans since July 1—approximate date of the Korean war's start.

"With full employment, high level production, and rising wages and prices, almost everyone's credit appears to be good," he said in a communication to the Federal Reserve System's 7,000 banks.

"Further expansion in bank credit means more dollars competing for limited supplies of labor and materials. Unless such expansion of credit is checked it is bound to raise prices."

Buckeyes Drop

in the newest shakeup of the Associated Press' "top ten."

These teams also are unbeaten and untied, meaning there were no accidents among the seven remaining unstopped powers. Wyoming and Loyola of Los Angeles didn't play.

Oklahoma, second to Ohio State in last week's ratings, rolled over Missouri, 41-7. Kentucky No. 5, flattened North Dakota, 83-0. Princeton, No. 7, buried Yale under a record scoring avalanche for the series, 47-12.

Amid this vigorous jockeying for the national title, there were important developments on the bowl front with one major berth clinched and two others — the Rose — virtually put in the bag.

Longhorns Win Title

Texas' Longhorns captured the Southwest Conference title and accompanying Cotton Bowl bid by dumping Texas Christian, 21-7, while Rice was upsetting Texas A. and M., 21-13.

That took the pressure off Texas' game with the rugged Texas Aggies Nov. 30.

Rose at Pasadena — Illinois vs. California (each must win its final game to clinch it.)

Sugar at New Orleans — Kentucky vs. Oklahoma or Southern Methodist (don't be surprised if Kentucky gets the nod before the big Tennessee game Saturday).

Cotton at Dallas — Texas (definite) vs. Oklahoma or Tennessee.

Orange at Miami — Miami vs. Tennessee, Clemson or Wyoming.

Once-beaten Tennessee, 35-0 conqueror of Mississippi Saturday, takes on Kentucky this week-end at Knoxville. Bowl scouts will be plentiful in the stands.

Miami, the pride of the peninsula, and Clemson, an old bowl hand, are unbeaten but once-tied. Miami whipped Florida, 20-14. Clemson overwhelmed Furman, 57-2.

Southern Methodist and Alabama, although each has lost two games, remain good bowl possibilities. SMU won over Arkansas Saturday, 14-7. Alabama mauled Georgia Tech, 54-19.

Wyoming, reported to have a powerhouse unit although its schedule hasn't been too rough, closes with Denver Thursday. A bowl bid of some description is certain.

Illinois, which has lost to Wisconsin, must defeat Northwestern this week to sew up another trip to Pasadena where it beat UCLA in 1947, 45-14.

Wisconsin, already beaten by Michigan and Ohio State, was upended by the Ivy League's Pennsylvania, 20-0. Ohio State is ineligible to go to the bowl.

Bears Tackle Stanford

California, with 33 consecutive victories in regular season play, must beat Stanford Saturday. Otherwise Washington, which has lost only to the Bears in the league, would have a say-so.

Prolonged victory droughs ended Saturday for Minnesota and Harvard. The Gophers, whose Coach Bernie Bierman is leaving after the present season, won their first game over Purdue, 27-14. Harvard snapped a nine-game losing streak by beating Brown, 14-13.

Notre Dame, already beaten three times, had to struggle to gain a 14-14 tie with Iowa. Navy won its second game of the year, beating Columbia, 29-7. Michigan State, whipped only by Maryland, closed out a successful campaign by thumping Pittsburgh, 19-0.

Will Fight Communism

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 19 (AP) — The American Legion tonight set up a new national committee of 139 lawyers and law enforcement officers to fight Communism in the United States.

Legion National Commander Erle Cocke, Jr., Dawson, Ga., said the new national committee on un-American activities would help the government enforce the anti-subversive control law, expose Americans who ship war materials to Communist countries, and offer legal and research aid to persons accused of libeling Communists.

Pontifical Mass Opens St. Mary's Golden Jubilee

Archbishop Keough Present At Ceremony

Most Rev. Francis P. Keough, archbishop of Baltimore, officiated at the pontifical mass held here yesterday morning to open the Golden Jubilee of St. Mary's Catholic Church.

Chief Justice Taney General Assembly, Fourth Degree, Knights of Columbus, formed the honor guard for Archbishop Keough.

Chaplains for the Archbishop were Rt. Rev. Msgr. Antonio Scarpati, pastor of St. Peter's Church, Westernport, and Rt. Rev. Msgr. William E. Kelly, pastor of St. Martin's Church, Washington, who was the first member of the parish to be ordained.

Rt. Rev. Msgr Edward L. Leonard, pastor of St. Bernard's Church, Baltimore, recounted the history of the parish in a festive sermon prepared for the golden jubilee of the parish which was formed as a mission of St. Patrick's and became a separate parish in 1900.

Over 30 clergy of this area were presented in the sanctuary at the solemn ceremony as members of area parishes crowded into the recently decorated church.

Seminarians Attend

All seminarians from the parish were present in the sanctuary and students of the parish school acted as servers.

Special music, including Panus Angelicus, Ave Maria and Praise Ye the Father, was sung by St. Mary's High School Girls while the mass was sung by the church choir.

Over 100 members of the Fourth Degree, headed by James J. Condon, marshal, were present for the ceremony. They were joined by Charles B. Humelsine, master of the Fourth Degree in Maryland; Charles B. Colliflower, state grand marshal; J. Edmund Walsh, faithful navigator, all of Baltimore; Charles Carroll, of Carrolton General Assembly, and Lester A. Bowers, faithful navigator of Hagerstown Assembly.

Students of the parochial school last night presented a pageant depicting incidents in the history of the parish.

All of the high school girls participated in the pageant while choruses were presented by both graded and high school students of the parish.

Full Program Planned

The week's program will continue today with games at 8:30 p. m., when awards will be made in commemoration of the church's 50th anniversary.

Tuesday's program calls for a homecoming event at 8:30 p. m. under the sponsorship of the Alumni Association. Features will include a quiz show, community singing, a "Barber Shop Quartet," headed by John Conway, movies and a buffet supper.

An old time square dance will be held Wednesday night in the parish gymnasium.

A solemn Mass of Thanksgiving will be celebrated Thursday at 9 a. m., with Rev. Lawrence P. Landrigan, pastor of the church since 1934, officiating.

Games will be played Friday at 8:30 p. m.

The program will end Saturday at 8:30 a. m. with a Requiem Mass for deceased members of the parish.

Extensive redecorating work costing some $13,000 has been completed at the church in preparation for the golden jubilee. The church was completed in 1928, with the late Archbishop Michael J. Curley officiating at the laying of the cornerstone.

Drumsticks

Turkey farming in Garrett County, as a result of the On-the-Farm GI Training program is growing by leaps and bounds. The above picture shows Hubert Glotfelty of near McHenry with part of his flock of 2700 turkeys, all ready for market. A veteran of Army service in the South Pacific, Hubert came home to his farm, and has gone into chicken and turkey raising on a big scale. Like his classmate Robert Brenneman in the lower picture, he finds turkeys one of the most profitable farm crops. Shown with Brenneman are his wife and daughter Little Jacqueline. They live near Bittinger and their turkeys will grace over 1000 dinner tables Thanksgiving Day. Brenneman is a veteran of the Army and is also enrolled in the On-the-Farm training classes for GI's at Accident, conducted by Charles B. Miller.

County Finances Show Collections Above Normal

Cash Position Best In Many Years

Allegany County expenditures for the first four months of operation in the current fiscal year, total $1,115,982.68, according to the monthly report of Mrs. Johanna Sills, county auditor.

The report, showing receipts and expenditures from July 1 to October 31, indicates the county has an appropriated balance of $1,921,866.45 with which to complete the year's operations. The total appropriation was $3,037,849.13 for the year.

Receipts for October totaled $105,-024.01, while expenditures amounted to $134,504.61. The county had on deposit in local banks at the end of October, a total of $1,817,705.26.

For the first third of the fiscal period, county collections from all sources are shown to be at a very high level. A total of $2,382,480.87 has been received. This figure, however, is $162,819.13 below the estimated total revenue of $2,545,300 for the year, but it is pointed out that eight months remain in the year in which to collect it.

For 1947, H. E. Loar, collector, has $944.22 outstanding. For 1948, H. E. Loar has $3,793.39 to collect and H. E. Taylor has $561.39 that is delinquent.

For 1949, W. A. Strother, local collector has $24,213.06 to come in. He also has $102,841.63 uncollected for the current year.

Taylor has $5,221.77 outstanding for 1949, while Loar has $8,705.17 uncollected.

For 1950, the current year, Loar is charged with an uncollected balance of $22,306.33, while Taylor has collected $55,852.81, over and above the amount levied in his district.

Large sums of money used to operate the county come from state distribution of various funds. To date this year, the county has received $1,566.65 for admission taxes; $57,748.22 from Maryland Income Taxes; $402.50 from state franchise tax; $15,894.77 from horse racing in the state.

Motor vehicle revenue and gasoline taxes have brought the county $55,808.32 in four months. Liquor licenses produced $1,558.63. Recordation fees accounted for $4,072.89. Pin Ball and music machine licenses produced $2,229.34.

Traders license gave the county its share, $1,379.14, while $32,593.25 was a state refund for automobile taxes.

Real Estate taxes collected for the year total $1,455,272.33, while personal property taxes total $88,400.52, and business corporation taxes provided the county with $598,361.70. Financial corporations paid to the county, $38,693.81, and interest on taxes amounts to $1,406.10.

A number of other miscellaneous items make up the balance of the collections and receipts.

Under expenditures this year, the auditor shows $268.38 was paid out for capital improvements; $947,408.-86 for various expenses; and $168,-305.44 was paid out in salaries.

Most appropriation accounts have sufficient balances to carry them through the year, as anticipated, county officials noted in analyzing the report.

Columbia St. PTA To Hear State Singers

The Maryland Singers of Frostburg State Teachers College, will be guest entertainers at the meeting of Columbia Street Parent-Teacher Association, tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium.

Dr. Maurice Matteson will direct the Singers in several numbers. Members of the association and friends of the school are invited.

According to Mrs. Rhea Gibbs, president, a report will be given of the PTA convention held in Baltimore, by the association's secretary, Mrs. Robert Herboldsheimer, delegate.

Teachers will be in their home rooms at 7:30 to greet parents and a prize will be awarded the home room with the most parents attending.

New Sales Tax Law Effective On December 1

Tawes Outlines Changes In Levy

The newly enacted changes in the state's sales tax law will become effective December 1, and J. Millard Tawes, state comptroller, yesterday reminded the people of Maryland in 'a statement that the tax has been eliminated on purchases of 50 cents or less.

Tawes said if purchases total more than 50 cents to any individual, the purchase is subject to tax at the same rate as before the changes.

The tax begins at 51 cents and all sales between 51 cents and $1 are subject to two cents tax. An additional cent must be collected for each 50 cents or fraction thereof, in excess of $1.

Comptroller Tawes also explains that the tax has been removed from food. The definition of food has been enlarged to include soda fountain drinks such as milk shakes.

Alcoholic beverages of all kinds including mixed drinks and soft drinks, in unopened containers, remain subject to the tax.

Restaurants and taverns which serve food and alcoholic beverages will be required to segregate such sales, since the tax will not apply to food, but will continue to be imposed on alcoholic beverages, when the sale to any person at one time is more than 50 cents.

Baby oils and baby powders, labeled as such by the manufacturer, will be relieved of sales tax. Powders and oils sold for cosmetic uses are still subject to the tax.

Soaps, soap powders, cleansing fluids and detergents will be free of the tax when purchased for home or personal use. There has been no change in regard to these items when purchased for uses other than in the home or for personal use. The change does not affect tooth paste, tooth powder, shaving soap, shaving cream or shaving powder, all of which remain subject to the tax.

Turkey Dinner Is Planned In County Schools

11,000 Students To Enjoy Holiday Treat

At least 11,000 Allegany County students will enjoy a traditional Thanksgiving dinner this week as part of the school lunch program of the county.

William P. Cooper, director of the county school lunch program, said some 6,000 pounds of fully dressed turkeys were delivered to school lunch centers of Allegany County Friday in preparation for the holiday dinner.

Most of the schools, he said, plan to serve the turkey dinner Tuesday, since school will close at 1 p. m. Wednesday, the day before Thanksgiving.

The meal, a real banquet, will be served without additional cost to the students.

Although the menu will vary with the school, here are foods suggested for the banquet:

Roast turkey and dressing, tomato or fruit juice, cranberry salad, mashed potatoes and gravy, rolls, butter, milk, dixie cup or fruit cookie.

Cooper said that in some of the elementary schools, Parent-Teacher Associations or other groups have donated money to finance the Thanksgiving dinners of students who cannot afford to pay.

A similar turkey feast is slated for Christmas, Cooper said, adding that final plans on the project will depend on the cost of turkey in mid December.

Turkeys, he added, are plentiful now since the year's crop is up about 10 per cent.

Allegany County public schools will close next Wednesday at 1 p. m. for the Thanksgiving holidays and reopen Monday morning, November 27.

249 Diesel Units Ordered By B & O

About half of the 249 Diesel units ordered by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad early this year have been delivered, Chester T. Williams, superintendent of the railroad's Cumberland Division, said yesterday.

Other units have been promised for delivery at various dates as late as June, 1951, the new division superintendent explained. Some of the units are on yard duty here, he said.

Just how many of the units will come to this division Williams does not know. He would not hazard a guess. He said that some of the units —two or three are needed to pull most trains—will be used on the run between Cumberland and St. Louis. Others will operate between Cincinnati and Buffalo, between Cumberland and Grafton, from Grafton on the Cowan branch through the West Virginia coal fields, and between Willard, Ohio, and Philadelphia.

Some will be utilized for yard duty and others for long-distance operations. These Diesels have varying power and are made by different manufacturers. Some are best suited in the mountain areas and others are handy for speedy operations, Williams added.

The superintendent again emphasized that steam engines will not be eliminated from the Cumberland Division although their numbers will be fewer.

Civil Defense Seminar Planned For Physicians

Dentists, Pharmacists, Nurses Also Invited

Invitations are being issued to doctors, dentists, nurses and pharmacists throughout the state to attend a seminar on the medical aspects of atomic warfare as a part of the state's Civil Defense program, according to William Barger, county director.

The seminar will be held in two sessions, November 27-29, from 7 to 10 p. m. at Baltimore City College, 31st Street and The Alameda.

Speakers will include Brig. Gen. James P. Cooney, of the Military Application Division of the Atomic Energy Commission; Col. Albert DeCoursey, director of the Armed Forces Institute of Pathology; and Dr. R. G. Bunham, of the Office of the Secretary of Defense.

The moderator will be Dr. Richard H. Gannett, vice chairman of the Maryland Medical Committee for Civil Defense.

Several films pertaining to atomic warfare and civil defense also will be shown each night.

Director Barger said he has been notified that a complete list of the medical professional people is not available and any doctors, dentists, nurses or pharmacists who do not receive invitations will be welcomed without them.

On-The-Farm Trainees Find Turkeys Profitable Crop

With Thanksgiving Day just around the corner, and Christmas only a month beyond that, World War II veterans in nearby Garrett County are marketing several thousand turkeys, as part of their year's most profitable crop.

The On-the-Farm training program for GI's features all types of farming, and classes at Accident, conducted by Charles B. Miller of Friendsville have attracted a score or more of farmer-vets who are making the most of their GI benefits.

In this fourth of a series of articles exclusive with the Cumberland NEWS, Hubert Glotfelty, who was mentioned in the first article for his success with raising chickens, is also listed as one of the more successful turkey raisers. He has a flock, ready for market, numbering close to 2500 birds. His farm is located near McHenry.

Another successful turkey raiser is Robert Brenneman of near Bittinger, also a veteran training in Miller's classes. Brenneman served in the Army from April 7, 1951 until December 31, 1942 and except for that period has spent all his time on the farm.

He is married to the former Marguerite L. Hetrick and they have one daughter Jacqueline age four years, known to everyone as Jackie.

Robert bought his farm at Bittinger, January 1, this year. It includes 100 acres of land, made up of four acres of corn for ensilage, two acres husking corn, eight acres oats, three acres buckwheat, 30 acres hay, and ample pasture land for his small herd of dairy cattle.

In addition to turkeys, he plans to make dairy farming his regular enterprise. Already, he is selling Grade-A milk to a well known manufacturer of ice cream and in the summer supplies the 4-H Camp at Bittinger.

He plans to build his dairy herd from eight to 20 pure breds, and to improve all production by modern methods.

His farm also includes besides the dairy cows and 1000 turkeys, 400 broilers, one brood sow, 10 fattening hogs, and two heifers.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Brenneman believe their farm offers them greater security and a better way of life than any other pursuit, and they have very definite and worthwhile plans for steadily improving their land, their home and their farming enterprise.

Youths Arrested In Stolen Truck

Two Swanton area youths were picked up in Baltimore late yesterday afternoon in a truck which Maryland State Police said was stolen from Swanton.

They said the 1946 panel truck of James Lake, Swanton, was stopped in the northeastern section of Baltimore at 4 p. m. following a state police broadcast.

State Police said the truck was taken from Lake's dance hall about noon yesterday.

State Police said Baltimore authorities advised the 16 and 17 year old Swanton and Deer Park lads had $3.16 left from an estimated $10 they allegedly took from a cigar box in the dance hall. They still had seven packs of a carton of cigarets they took in the hall, authorities said.

Authorities were trying last night to learn what happened to the battery from the truck.

Extinguish Blaze

East Side firemen extinguished a blaze in the auto of James Crites, Mexico Farms, yesterday at 3:50 p. m., on Furnace Street. Caused by defective wiring, firemen said damage was slight.

Allegany County Arthritis Group To Raise Funds

Letters Being Mailed For Research Money

Letters appealing for donations to help meet a $2,000,000 national goal for arthritis and rheumatism victims will be placed in the mail this week, according to Mrs. Marion T. Powers, chairman of the newly organized Allegany County Branch of the Maryland Chapter of the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation.

Sixty per cent of the money raised will be retained in Maryland and the balance will go to the national group.

"Arthritis is the most prevalent chronic disease in this country affecting our most precious national resource, manpower," said Mrs. Powers. "It is the oldest disease known to man.

"It strikes all ages and there are approximately 7,500,000 victims. This is more than all the victims of cancer, tuberculosis, heart disease and diabetes combined.

"The cause of arthritis," continued Mrs. Powers, "is unknown. Cortisone and ACTH are not cures for rheumatic disease as the public has been led to believe by too optimistic publicity.

"These hormones have tremendous and far-reaching effects on the mechanism of health and disease, not only in arthritis but in many other diseases. They bring relief in many severe arthritis cases. But the relief stops when the administration of the hormones is stopped. Medical science has not discovered how cortisone and ACTH produce their effects. But the physiological reactions from these hormones show that investigators are at least on the right track in their research for the cause of arthritis. Now is the time to extend research."

The disease takes a toll of 97 million work days annually and $520,000,000 are lost yearly in wages.

Dr. H .C. Byrd Praises Shaw's Work

Dr. H. C. Byrd, president of the University of Maryland and an honorary member of the Cresap Society, has written to Ross F. Shaw, also a member of the society, praising him for the many years service he has rendered to the Cresap Society.

Dr. Byrd, cited as one of the most outstanding contributions the erection of a monument at Oldtown last year in honor of Col. Thomas Cresap.

Man Hurt When Car Strikes Pole

A local man suffered severe head injuries early yesterday morning when the car in which he was riding struck a utility pole on Baltimore Avenue.

Police said the man, Robert Meister, 24, of 919 Harding Avenue, was admitted to Allegany Hospital after the car driven by Edward T. Lindsay, 24, of 316 Harrison Street, crashed at 3:49 a. m.

Meister's condition was reported satisfactory last night.

Police said the car Lindsay was driving east on Baltimore Avenue swerved to the left side of the street about 75 feet from the Goethe Street intersection and struck a pole head on.

Lt. James E. Van and Officers Snyder, Wilson and Jenkins investigated. No date has been set for a charge of reckless driving preferred by the officers.

Rev. Brake To Speak At Virginia Ave. PTA

Rev. Donald F. Brake, pastor of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church, will speak on "Thanksgiving" tomorrow at the 7:30 o'clock meeting of Virginia Avenue Parent-Teacher Association, at the school.

Mrs. Yola Hudson, nutrition expert of Fort Hill High School will discuss nutrition and will outline a program to be inaugurated at Virginia Avenue.

Teachers will be in their class rooms at 7 p.m. to greet parents. Mrs. Hudson also stated that plans for the annual Christmas treat and program will be considered.

Rev. Seth C. Morrow Accepts Pastorate Here

The new pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, this city, is to be Rev. Seth C. Morrow, according to an announcement made at the church yesterday.

Rev. Morrow comes here from First Presbyterian Church, Pottsville, Pa., where he has served as minister for the past eight years.

Receiving his bachelor of arts degree from Bethany College, he went on to receive his bachelor of theology degree from Princeton Theological Seminary, Princeton, N. J. and his master of theology from Union Theological Seminary, Richmond, Va.

Before serving at Pottsville, Rev. Morrow was pastor of the Presbyterian Church, Gettysburg, Pa., for four years.

He is married and has two children, a daughter, 10, and a son, 6.

Emmanuel Methodist Sets Holiday Service

The annual Thanksgiving Day service will be held in Emmanuel Methodist Church at 10 a.m. Thursday and is open to all who want to attend.

A special feature will be an anthem by the choir of the church and Rev. Kenneth W. Grove, the minister, will deliver the morning sermon.

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the church will meet at the parsonage at 7:30 p.m. today. All members are asked to attend.

The Board of Education of the church school will meet Tuesday in the church at 7:30 p.m. Plans will be completed for Christmas activities.

Increase In Social Security Applicants Reported Here

There has been a large increase in the number of claims for old age and survivors insurance benefits at the local Social Security Office, according to James S. Getty, manager.

Getty said there have been 410 additional claims filed, mostly during the months of September and October, bringing the total number of claims received by the local office this year to 1,167.

Of the 410 claims received, he said, 250 were from residents of Allegany county, 60 applicants reside in Garrett county, 50 in Mineral county, W. Va., and the remaining 50 live in Hardy, Grant, and Pendleton Counties, W. Va.

Getty attributed the increase in applications to the liberalized eligibility provisions of the amendments to the Social Security Act made this year by Congress.

He cited the changes which affect most of the workers in this area, whereby any individual who is not earning over $50 a month in social security employment may be eligible for benefits if he is 65 years old or older and has worked for at least six calendar quarters since January 1, 1937.

Widows, children under 18, and parents over 65 of any worker who dies after September 1, 1950, may also be entitled to benefits if the worker, regardless of his age, had at least six quarters of coverage.

Any worker who is 75 years old, or older, may draw his social security benefits and continue to work at the same time.

These new provisions, Getty said, have increased the monthly benefit total in this area to $109,000 each month.

According to the plan of the national Social Security Administration, he explained, the increased revenue provides buying power for the individual, reduces the number of persons on relief roles, and helps raise the living standard of the entire area.

"There are undoubtedly many more individuals who are eligible for benefits, but who may not have contacted the local office," Getty remarked.

"All of them are invited to inquire about their eligibility for benefits, because nothing can be paid unless an application for payments is filed at the local office," he added.

Harold Miller Enters Johns Hopkins Hospital

Harold K. Miller, Park Heights, entered Wilmer Clinic, Johns Hopkins Hospital yesterday. He is to undergo an operation today.

Weather

A rather unusual day, with cloudy skies and intermittant sunshine, came to an end with a few drizzles of rain yesterday. The temperature varied from a low of 34 degrees to a high of 50 degrees in Constitution Park. Downtown, the variation was from a low of 38 degrees to a high of 53 degrees. Windy with occasional rain and mild is the forecast for today.

Gettysburg Address Timely As Korean War Continues

The immortal message which President Lincoln uttered in Gettysburg fourscore and seven years ago yesterday is still as timely as the day it was delivered, William A. Gunter, local attorney, said yesterday.

In 1943, Gunter used a paraphrase of the Gettysburg Address at the dedication of a Soldiers' Honor Roll in LaVale.

The same words might have been used yesterday to honor the brave Americans who are fighting and dying with the UN forces throughout the world in defense of the freedoms provided only in government of the people, by the people and for the people.

The address, which was subsequently printed in the Congressional Record at the request of Rep. J. Glenn Beall, follows:

"Eightscore and seven years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal.

"Now we are engaged in a great global war, testing whether that nation, or any nation so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure.

"We are met on a homefront battlefield of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field as a permanent resting place for the names of those who have left here to give their lives so that the nation might live.

"It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this. But, in a larger sense, we cannot dedicate—we cannot consecrate — we cannot hallow this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who were born and lived here, have consecrated it, far above our poor power to add or detract.

"The world will little note, nor long remember what we say over here, but it can never forget what they did over there.

"It is for us, the living, the well fed, the well paid, the fortunate here, to be here dedicated to the unfinished work which they who are fighting over there have thus far nobly advanced.

"It is rather for us to be here at home dedicated to the great tasks remaining before us — that from these honored dead, in unknown and unseen graves over there, to take increased devotion to the cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion—that we here at home highly resolve that these American soldiers shall not have fought in vain—that this nation, under God, and all nations so conceived and so dedicated, shall have a new birth of freedom and that government of the people, by the people and for the people shall not perish from the earth."

Births Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Wilburn Michael, 121 South Smallwood Street, a son, yesterday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. James Edwards, Grantsville, a daughter, last night.

Mr. and Mrs. James Houdershelt, Wiley Ford, a son, last night.

California Flood Waters Drive Hundreds From Their Homes

Rivers, Fed By Rain, Melting Sierra Snow, Overrun Entire Communities

FRESNO, Calif., Nov. 19 (AP) — Fed by rain and melting Sierra snow, flood waters boiled over the lowlands of California's San Joaquin Valley today, driving hundreds of persons from their homes and overrunning entire communities.

Chowchilla, a town of 4,000 between Madera and Modesto, was under two feet of debris-carrying water, as a tributary of the San Joaquin and three sloughs overflowed.

To the south, some 1,000 persons fled the rampaging north fork of the Kern River, which inundated the mining towns of Kernville and Isbaella, northeast of Bakersfield, to a depth of four feet.

Fish Hatchery Ruined

A state fish hatchery, valued at $20,000, was ruined by the raging stream six miles north of Kernville. Visalia and Bakersfield merchants, anticipating the worst, sandbagged their store fronts. A Red Cross unit, with supplies of typhoid serum, was dispatched to Isabella.

The Weather Bureau predicted more rain for tonight and tomorrow, as the swollen streams swept over acres of productive farmland.

An estimated 75,000 to 100,000 turkeys ready for market drowned in the Centerville area, northeast of Fresno. Ed Chober, Fresno Bee photographer, said he saw turkeys, dead and alive, floating in the muddy water, and cows and horses immersed to their necks.

U. S. 99, the main north-south highway, was closed to everything but trucks at Chowchilla and to two-way traffic in Madera, where the surging Fresno River threatened a bridge.

10 Inches Of Rain

The level of the water back of Friant Dam, on the San Joaquin, was rising two feet an hour, after some 10 inches of rain the past day in the Sierra and as much as two inches in the valley itself.

Almost without warning, the Kings River roared over its banks east of Fresno last night and onto a five-mile wide basin, forcing at least 150 persons from their homes.

In the rich delta farming area of Tulare County, lowland sections were overrun by three flooding streams. A bridge on Highway 99, north-south arterial, was expected to give way, and some 15 persons were reported marooned in the California Hot Springs resort area.

Failure In Power Plant Blacks Out Boston For Hour

BOSTON, Nov. 19 (AP) — Most of Boston and several surrounding communities were blacked out for about an hour tonight because of a Boston Edison Company power plant failure.

The blackout affected theatres, newspaper plants and news services, telephone and radio stations, traffic lights and most utilities and buildings which have alternating current.

Hospitals were not seriously affected. The Boston City, the Peter Bent Brigham and the Children's hospitals switched quickly to their own generating plants when the lights began to flicker. Other Boston hospitals were not affected at all.

Party Opposed To German Army Wins Election

Socialist Victory Blow To Adenauer

FRANKFURT, Germany, Monday, Nov. 20 (AP)—The Socialist party, campaigning against creation of a new West German army to aid in defense of Western Europe against Communism, scored an election triumph yesterday.

Socialist leaders immediately hailed as a vote against German rearmament the outcome of the balloting for new state parliaments in the two West German states of Hesse and Wuerttemberg-Baden.

The election was a sharp setback to the West German republic's most powerful party, the Christian Democrats. Their leader, Chancellor (premier) Konrad Adenauer, had urged that Germans take part in "the defense of freedom."

Communists Take Licking

Adenauer's party lost its parliamentary edge to the Socialists in Wuerttemberg-Baden and slipped from second to third place in Hesse, where the Socialists won a clear parliamentary majority.

The Communists took their worst licking since the war, failing to win a seat in either of the state legislatures. They had won 10 seats in each state in the parliamentary elections of four years ago.

Rearmament was not the sole issue in the campaign. The Socialists had blamed Adenauer's "free enterprise" policy for raising prices and the current coal shortage. But the loudest campaign oratory centered on the question of whether a disarmed Western Germany should take up arms again to join the Western Allies in a united European army.

"Clear Protest"

Willy Knothe, Socialist chairman of Hesse, said the outcome was "a clear protest against the policies of Chancellor Adenauer, especially on the question of remilitarization."

The Socialists declared themselves against a German army until Germany is restored to full international equality and until the Allies send enough troops into Western Germany to assure a successful defense in case of Russian attack.

Child, Nursemaid Who Ran Away With Her, Found

Baby, Girl Picked Up At Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 19 (AP) — Flaxen-haired, blue-eyed Deborah Booth, two and a half years old, was found here by police today with the nursemaid who took the child from her Harrisburg, Pa., home and has since posed as her mother.

Detective James A. McTague said he took both of them in custody at the Broad Street station of the Pennsylvania Railroad after his office had been tipped off by the Travelers Aid Society.

McTague said the nursemaid, 18-year-old Mary Margaret Williams, told him and other detectives assigned to the case that she took the child from her home in an exclusive Harrisburg residential area Friday because she felt "Deborah was not being brought up in a Christian home."

Child Is Unharmed

The child was unharmed and but little impressed by the excitement attending the solution of a disappearance which had set in motion a police search in many parts of the country.

No charges were lodged immediately.

Deborah winked and blinked while photographers' flashbulbs popped, and curiously poked away at a spare typewriter in detective bureau headquarters. She appeared to be considerably attached to the nursemaid who ran away with her.

McTague gave this sequence of events since the disappearance:

Late last Friday the nursemaid, with the child in tow, applied for help to Travelers Aid Society attendants at the Broad Street PRR station. She represented herself as a destitute widow, "Mary Miller," and said Deborah was her own child, but gave her name as Shirley.

Saw Picture In Newspaper

Mrs. Spahr Hull, Travelers Aid agent at the station, said she placed the nursemaid and the child in a private home at least for a night or two.

Today, Mrs. Hull saw a picture of Deborah in a Philadelphia newspaper, recognized her as the supposed daughter of the woman she had helped, and then called the police. She then arranged to have the two taken to the station, where they were met by McTague.

Plane Travel Record

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 (AP)—The nation's 15 domestic trunk airlines are piling up a new record for passenger travel this year with an indicated volume of 7,754,107,000 passenger-miles.

This is nearly 20 per cent greater than the record total of 6,562,580,000 passenger-miles in 1949.

Peace Congress Jolted By Rogge

WARSAW, Nov. 19 (AP)—O. John Rogge, United States delegate, jolted the second World Peace Congress today with a rousing address in which he pleaded that the Communist-backed assemblage accept some ideas from the western world.

In the booming voice, the former assistant United States attorney general said there is widespread apprehension that the Congress is becoming an instrument of Russian foreign policy.

Rogge—one of the few foreigners ever to be invited to speak before the Supreme Soviet (parliament) in the Kremlin—was roundly applauded there last March, though he placed part of the responsibility for the East-West cold war on the Soviet Union.

But he was interrupted four times today by boos, shouts and protest and derisive laughter.

He charged that while Communists in many places talked loudly of peace, they have committed acts of aggression. He stood up against the storm of protest resolutely. The chairwoman, Mrs. Anezka Hodinova-Spurna of Czechoslovakia, several times rapped for order.

Rogge got some applause. There was a ripple of handclapping at the end of his 45-minute speech.

But the shouts of protest became loud when Rogge praised Yugoslavia for its independence of the Cominform. He commended the efforts of Yugoslavia to arrange non-aggression pacts with its neighbors.

Boy, 8, Armed With Pluck, Wrench, Captures Prowler

SEATTLE, Nov. 19 (AP)—An eight-year-old boy with a lot of pluck and a monkey wrench captured a 31-year-old prowler in the family home early today.

The boy, Robert Dixon, was alone in the house at 4:30 a. m. when he heard someone attempting to force the locked front door.

When this failed the man broke a front window and started to climb in. Robert was waiting just inside, however, with a monkey wrench and a kitchen knife.

Wham! He left the prowler have it over the head. Whack! He gave him another one. And, for good measure, he took a slice at the man's hand with the butcher knife.

The prowler collapsed, out cold. A few moments later the boy's parents returned.

The prowler was still unconscious when police arrived. He was booked at the city jail without charge—after being treated for his injuries.

Eleventh-Hour Agreement Averts Television Strike

Radio Performers, Networks Also Settle

NEW YORK, Nov. 19 (AP) — An 11th-hour agreement averted a strike called for today by television performers and enabled the big Sunday programs to go on the airwaves as scheduled.

A threatened strike at an unspecified date by radio performers was averted by a separate agreement reached later in the day.

The television strike would have hit the Columbia Broadcasting System, the American Broadcasting Company, the Dumont television network and New York station WOR--TV.

It was to have started at their studios in New York at 6 a.m. (EST) and in Chicago and Los Angeles two hours later.

Both the television and radio performers, represented by separate AFL unions, won concessions on pay and other demands, union spokesmen said.

Break Comes At 4 A. M.

The break in the threatened television strike came at about 4 a.m. (EST) when agreement was reached by the National Broadcasting Company and the AFL Television Authority, claiming to represent 25,000 performers.

The television authority had not called a strike against NBC because that network continued to negotiate with the union after negotiations between the authority and the other three networks were broken off yesterday afternoon.

Immediately after NBC and the authority reached a solution — following a 16-hour negotiating session — the other three announced readiness to resume negotiations.

AFRA, Networks Settle

By 5:40 a.m., CBS, ABC and Dumont reached agreement — with the exception that the Dumont negotiators said it still needed ratification by top company officials.

Soon after 2 p.m., the AFL American Federation of Radio Artists announced it had reached agreement with all major networks on pay scales and working conditions for radio performers.

An AFRA spokesman said some 5,000 radio performers won wage increases ranging from 15 to 30 per cent.

No Plans On Foot For Travel Curbs

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 (AP) — Assurance that there are no plans on foot for curtailment or "priorities" in civilian travel was given today by Director James K. Knudson of the Defense Transportation Administration.

The country has the best transportation system "with which we have ever faced a national emergency," Knudson said in a radio interview arranged by the Gannett News Service. He added:

"It is not time yet to ask the question, as we did in World War II: Is this trip necessary?"

Lodge Assails Russian Belief

NEW YORK, Nov. 19 (AP) — The United States charged today that the basic motivation of Russian policy is the belief that war against non-Communist countries is just and virtuous.

It labelled this belief "the Vishinsky doctrine" and warned that peaceful cooperation between Russia and the United States is impossible so long as Moscow follows it.

Andrei Y. Vishinsky is Soviet foreign minister and chief delegate to the United Nations.

The analysis and denunciation of Russian policy was made in a formal statement by Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge (R-Mass.), issued in his capacity as U. S. delegate to the U. N. General Assembly.

"We ask the Soviets to abandon this idea," Lodge said. "We believe that if this doctrine were abandoned peaceful co-existence and the peaceful negotiation of differences might very well become as natural to us as life itself."

John H. Fahey, Former Top FHA Official, Dies

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 (AP) — John H. Fahey, 77, veteran newspaperman and former top Federal Housing Agency official, died of pneumonia today at Emergency hospital.

Fahey at one time was second vice president of the Associated Press and was one of the founders of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce. He served as national president of the chamber in 1914.

Fahey had made his home at Swampscott, Mass., since his retirement from government service early in 1948. He was visiting in Washington when he was stricken.

A funeral mass will be celebrated at St. Matthew's (Roman Catholic) Cathedral Tuesday morning. Burial services will be held later in Lynn, Mass.

ACTH Now Available

CHICAGO, Nov. 19 (AP)—ACTH now can be obtained on a doctor's prescription, Armour and Company announced today.

ACTH has brought dramatic relief to sufferers from a long list of stubborn diseases.

Republican Tax Plan Faces Veto

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 (AP)—A Republican substitute for President Truman's $4,000,000,000 excess profits tax plan today appeared headed for a veto by the House Ways and Means Committee.

Led by Chairman Doughton (D-NC), members of the committee's Democratic majority, which outnumber Republicans 15 to 10, criticized the GOP proposal as one that would hit small business and favor corporations with income swollen by the defense program.

Democrats predicted that when the committee settles down late this week to the actual task of writing a tax bill, it will closely follow the President's suggestions.

The president's plan calls for a tax of 75 per cent on excess profits of corporations, with the four-year period 1946-49 used as a yardstick to determine what profits are abnormal.

The GOP substitute, sponsored by Rep. Reed of New York, top Republican on the Ways and Means Committee, would let corporations choose between paying an excess profits tax at a rate not yet determined, or a corporate income tax of 55 per cent, whichever is lower. The present rate is 45 per cent.

Companies electing to use the excess profits plan would have to pay taxes equal to at least 50 per cent of their current year's earnings.

Pact Provides Hike Of 9 To 14 Cents An Hour

Pickets Disband; Operators Return

NEW YORK, Nov. 19 (AP)—A bitter 11-day strike by 33,000 CIO telephone workers that idled many thousands of non-strikers in the nationwide industry ended today.

Continuous mediation sessions here for more than 24 hours, and talks in Detroit in another phase of the dispute, brought agreement after months of seemingly-fruitless negotiations.

Picket lines of striking equipment workers, employes of the Western Electric Co., manufacturing subsidiary of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., were ordered disbanded.

Throughout the strike their picket lines at various telephone exchanges had idled operators and other Bell System employes who would not cross the lines.

Operators Return

Long lines of operators here started going back to work immediately.

The union hailed the New York agreement — which provides wage increases ranging from nine to 14 cents an hour under a 15-month contract—as a "major victory" in which the company gave in "on every major point."

In Detroit, CIO officials and Michigan Bell Telephone Co. representatives reached an agreement affecting 16,000 accounting, plant and traffic employes.

Providing increases of from $3 to $5 a week, it was called "costly" by the company and "substantially better than we could have gotten without the strike" by the union.

At Haverhill, Mass., striking Western Electric plant workers ratified an agreement two hours after it was reached in all-night talks there.

Retroactive Contract

The Haverhill settlement, affecting 700 workers, adds seven to 15 cents an hour to wages now ranging to about $1.62 an hour.

The New York talks, affecting 17,000 Western Electric equipment workers, continued without interruption from 11:30 a. m. (EST) yesterday through noon today.

Sleepy and weary after the round-the-clock conference here, Mediator Frank H. Brown emerged from the conference chamber shortly after noon and released terms of the accord.

The new contract, retroactive to Nov. 15, will run through Feb. 15, 1952 — a 15-month period. The agreement must be ratified by union membership by Dec. 4.

Row Looms Over Red Curb Board

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 (AP) — A fight over Senate confirmation of President Truman's new subversives control board may pop the Communists-in-government issue open in Congress again.

Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) told a reporter today he has "no doubt" that a sizeable bloc of Republicans will oppose confirmation of some, if not all, of the five members to administer the Communist registration section of the McCarran Internal Security Act.

Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis), whose Communist charges were rejected as unfounded by the Democratic majority of a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee, said in a separate interview he will fight against approval of all five.

Republican members of the investigating committee dissented from the majority's findings.

The new board is headed by a Republican, Seth W. Richardson, who was chairman of the Civil Service Loyalty Review Board. McCarthy clashed with him at times during the committee's investigation.

Kremlin Protests Paroling Of Former Japanese Minister

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 (AP)—The Soviet government tonight protested the paroling of Mamoru Shigemitsu, Japan's wartime foreign minister convicted of war crimes, as an "illegal and arbitrary action" by Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

The former Japanese leader had been sentenced in 1948 to serve seven years for war crimes. It was the lightest sentence given any major Japanese war criminal.

The legal section of the Supreme Allied Command in the Pacific announced in Tokyo on Nov. 8 that Shigemitsu would be released from Sugamo prison on Nov. 21.

Policeman Slain At Detroit; Race Riot Fears Ebb

Danger Abates After Negroes Line Streets

DETROIT, Nov. 19 (AP)—A policeman was killed today and another wounded in a shooting that spread the ugly fear of "race riot" around Detroit's teeming east side.

Police rushed out their riot squads and called 100 reinforcements to guard against an outbreak.

But after an afternoon of tense watching, while 2,000 negroes lined the street and crowded upon bayonet-armed police, danger was declared abated.

Negro Admits Shooting

Police said a 53-year-old negro, Charles Marshall Gordy, Sr., admitted to them he shot the patrolman while they were taking Gordy's son away for questioning on a hold-up charge.

Killed was Patrolman Andreas Mellert, Jr., a veteran of three years on the police force. Wounded was Patrolman David Morgan, 23. His condition was reported not serious.

Police said they were charging Gordy with first degree murder. He was captured after 62 policemen surrounded Gordy's house and forced out Gordy's whole family by laying down a barrage of shots and tear gas. No one was injured.

James A. Hoye, director of traffic, said extra patrolmen were called out just in case the crowd misinterpreted why his men fired shots and tear gas bombs at the house.

Tries To Slip Away

The elder Gordy walked out nonchantly and tried to slip away at the rear of the house. He was chuckling, police said, as they took him into custody.

Later at police headquarters he was quoted by police as saying, "I shot them because I was mad."

"I could have reloaded and shot six or seven more when the others came. But I was over my 'mad' by then," police said Gordy told them.

The dead patrolman is a World War II veteran. His wife, who is expecting their first child next month, first heard the report of her husband's death on the radio and collapsed.

Mass U. S. Raids On China Charged By Russian Press

MOSCOW, Nov. 19 (AP) — The Soviet press charged today the United States has begun mass air raids on Chinese territory.

A Tass dispatch based on information from the Hsinhua Chinese news agency was printed in Pravda, Izvestia and other major papers. It did not identify the targets of the reported raids but said the U. S. Air Force in recent days had increased the tempo of violations of the Chinese border. The dispatch said one raid was carried out by 68 American planes.

Salesman Who Slaughtered Five Goes On Hunger Strike

WOODBURY, N. J., Nov. 19 (AP)—The 26-year-old appliance salesman who slaughtered five relatives of his wife and wounded her and three others critically in a wild shooting spree went on a hunger strike today.

Warden William Molineaux said Ernest Ingenito has refused food since his arrest early yesterday. Ingenito is in Gloucester county jail on five charges of murder.

"He refuses to eat," Molineaux said. "He drinks coffee and chain smokes cigarets, but he won't eat."

Ingenito's self-inflicted fast, however, has not endangered the prisoner's health, the warden added.

Meanwhile County Prosecutor Milton E. Hannold disclosed Ingenito, held for grand jury action, already has been examined by "two psychologists for the state."

Hannold said charges against the five-foot-seven ex-soldier will be placed before a grand jury probably in a few days.

Ingenito is being held without bail. He was locked up after a three-minute hearing yesterday before Municipal Judge George Shunk in Franklinville.

"I did it," Ingenito told authorities. "I did it because my wife wouldn't let me see my kids."

Tank Column Seizes Walled City Of Kapsan

Red Trap Smashed; Resistance Feeble

SEOUL, Monday, Nov. 20 (AP) — A U. S. tank column, speeding over glistening snow under clear blue skies, captured the walled city of Kapsan Sunday and pushed nine miles beyond to within 13 air miles of the Manchurian border on the Northeast Korean front.

The advance came after a bloody 30 minute skirmish at the entrance to Kapsan, where Korean Communists lay in an ambush around a bluff.

Closest GIs Have Ever Been

The tank column, pacing the 17th Regimental Combat Team of the Seventh Division, placed American troops closer to the Manchurian border than ever before in the Korean war. Last month U. S. 24th Division troops pushed within 15 air miles of the border on the northwest front before withdrawing some 50 miles.

While the Seventh plunged ahead against feeble resistance, a deadly game of "hide and seek" was under way on the Chongchon River front in the northwest, field dispatches said.

There U. S., British and South Korean patrols found strong Chinese and Korean Communist forces continuing a general pullback three to five miles ahead of United Nations troops.

At one point on the north central front, Communist camp fires were still warm. The Red departure apparently had been only a few hours or less in advance of the advancing Allies.

An intelligence spokesman at Tokyo reported that Communist troops were inclined to disperse when fired upon. This was in marked contrast to the wild intensity of Chinese Red attacks three weeks ago.

Air Support Continues

In the air, fighter-bombers continued close front line support. Superforts splattered 300 tons of incendiary bombs on six secondary towns used by the Reds for supply and staging. They met no anti-aircraft fire nor enemy fighters.

The U. S. 7th Division's drive on the northeast front overshadowed other developments in Korea Sunday.

"We have them on the run and we won't give them a chance to dig in," one officer reported to Maj. Gen. David G. Barr, commanding the Seventh.

Barr said the Seventh would continue as fast as it could toward the Manchurian border. Their objective is the border town of Hyesanjin, a rail and highway terminus.

Demos Urge Aid For Yugoslavia

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 (AP) — Backing President Truman, some Democrats in Congress called today for quick emergency aid to Yugoslavia to keep it from falling under domination of "a stooge of Moscow."

Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark), a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, declared "it is highly important that we assist the Tito government," and added:

"The only question in my mind is the most efficient way of doing it. We must act because if the government fell it would come under the domination of a stooge of Russia."

Sen. Kilgore (D-W. Va.) said speedy help to drought-stricken Yugoslavia is necessary "to make sure there is no weakening of Tito's position" as a foe of the Soviet Union.

"I always believe in making material aid available to anyone on our side," Kilgore told a reporter.

He added that the situation in Europe is so delicate that collapse of Yugoslav opposition to Russia could add up to a disastrous turning point in the fight of the Western Allies to block Communist aggression.

Army Probes Blast

FUERTH, Germany, Nov. 19 (AP) —U. S. Army officials said tonight they are investigating an explosion in front of the City Hall here in which two men in American army uniform allegedly were involved.

A bomb exploded in a square facing the City Hall early this morning. German police said 70 windows in the area were broken by the blast but no one was hurt.

Cpl. R. C. DeWitt Gives His Life In Korean Battle

Cpl. Robert C. DeWitt, 19, son of Richard J. and Daisy Mae Friend DeWitt, is the second Crellin soldier to lose his life since hostilities broke out in June. He was killed on November 2, according to the Department of Defense.

Two brothers, S 1-c Verl DeWitt, 26, and CSSM James DeWitt, both in the U. S. Navy, also are serving in the Korean battle area. Six sons of the DeWitts saw action overseas during World War II and two were wounded, one seriously.

Cpl. DeWitt enlisted in the Army about two years ago at Oakland and was sent to Martinsburg, W. Va. From there he went to Fort Knox, Ky., for basic training before being shipped to Japan in March, 1949. He attended school in West Virginia and worked as a trucker prior to entering the service.

While in Japan, Cpl. DeWitt called his mother on the telephone and talked for three minutes. He was unable to divulge military plans but hinted that he was about to depart for Korea and battle.

The young soldier wrote home October 24 and told his mother "don't worry".

Survivors include a sister, Mrs. Marguerite DeWitt, Mt. Lake, and six other brothers, William and Otis DeWitt, Pittsburgh; Adrian and Claude, Mt. Lake; Earl DeWitt, twin brother of Verl, Corinth, W. Va., and Donald DeWitt, at home.

Other Garrett countains killed in Korea are:

Cpl. Harry F. Lee, Crellin; Pfc. William E. Otto, Swanton; Sgt. Willard A. Rinehart, Route 1, Oakland, and Pfc. George W. Barger and Pfc. William B. Barger, both of Vindex.

Great charm redounds from looking natural at all times and in any situation, but it takes practice, practice, practice!

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

ALTHOUGH you probably were born too late to have seen the great Eleanor Duse on the stage, I am sure her fame is not unknown to you. The complete naturalness with which she played each role has not been surpassed. Never was there anything false about her appearance, word, or action. She had the kind of allure that every woman longs to achieve.

Once, when a young hopeful asked her how she managed to appear so completely herself both on and off stage, she replied with an answer that is classic: "Self-knowledge, self-discipline and — practice, practice, practice!"

Something To Work For

Does it surprise you to learn that truly charming naturalness comes only as the result of anything so studied as self-analysis, control and hard work? It shouldn't.

It is necessary to study all phases of your personality, not because you are entranced with your charm, but because you are critical of it. The best part of such a critical attitude is that the minute you discover your errors, you can erase them from the face of the personality that you present to the world. As you single out and eliminate the superficial ones, your real, natural self will emerge.

A self-critical attitude will help you isolate the spot of make-up technique that is a bit too blatant . . . help you find the figure fault that needs eradicating . . . weed out the dress that looks as though you had borrowed it for the occasion . . . banish fidgety contortions of your face and hands . . . delete speech habits that mar your thoughts . . . and thoughts that contradict your personality.

Your Personality Distilled

To achieve naturalness, you must distill your personality into a perfect alchemy. You must look like your best self; speak like it, act like it and be like it. Integrity and naturalness are inseparable; you never achieve them lightly.

Tomorrow: Sleeping beautifully.

Negro Housing Site May Be McNamee Hill

In a special session Saturday, the Cumberland Housing Authority approved plans for 17 multiple units containing living quarters for 125 families in the Wempe Drive area of Mapleside.

It was also announced that the second project, for colored families, may be located on McNamee's Hill instead of Thomas Street.

Nearly 60 persons from the tentative site of the proposed Negro project, the Thomas Street section, jammed the office of the housing authority in the Clark Keating Building.

William L. Wilson, Jr., authority chairman, told the group that the housing group had McNamee's Hill as its first choice.

This site was suitable to all members, but was rejected when City Engineer Ralph L. Rizer informed the authority that a road to that section would cost $80,000, a figure termed excessive.

Under housing project rules, the dwelling center must be connected to the city or adjacent improved roads or streets by an all-weather road. This must be built by the city.

Wilson stated that Thomas Street was agreed upon only after other sites were inspected and rejected for various reasons.

The members of the delegation said that their objections were not because of racial reasons, but for two other reasons, one, that there would be no room for expansion at Thomas Street for additional housing project facilities in the future, and two, the probable drop in the value of adjacent properties.

Wilson said that another conference has been scheduled with the housing authority and Street Commissioner Lucile Roeder and City Engineer Rizer to determine if a cheaper road can be built to the McNamee Hill site.

Youth Held On Burglary Charge

Donald L. Crabtree, of 328 Emily Street, on parole from a previous count, was ordered held under $500 bond in Trial Magistrates Court Saturday on a charge of larceny.

Sherry reported to police that a radio, fountain pen and watch was taken from his residence last week.

Police upon investigating discovered a pawnshop ticket for the radio in Crabtree's name. Detective Thomas A. See said Crabtree admitted taking the radio but not the other two articles.

Crabtree was remanded to the Allegany County Jail in lieu of posting bond for appearance before the grand jury of the January term of Circuit Court.

Police said Crabtree is currently on parole after being convicted of a theft of a watch from a local woman.

The second circuit is composed of Caroline, Cecil, Kent, Queen Anne's and Talbot Counties.

Water Levels Hinder Deep Creek Fishing

Seasonal fluctuations in the water level of Garrett County's Deep Creek Lake has appreciably affected good fishing, according to R. D. Van Deusen and H. J. Elser, biologists of the Maryland Department of Research and Education at Solomons.

Annual draw-downs in autumn, leaving the shoals barren during winter months, hamper the productivity of the reservoir, and hinder insect and plant growth, both important, respectively, as food and shelter for fishes.

Weed growth is practically nonexistent. Fluctuations of water level in spring is considered a hazard to shoal-spawning fishes, such as the largemouth and smallmouth bass, bluegill, pumpkinseed, and rock bass.

Largemouth outnumbered smallmouth bass and both attain legal size in the second year, according to aging of scale samples. Black crappies were abundant, but their growth seemed a little below average for Maryland populations. Bluegills, pumpkinseeds, and rock bass displayed just average growth.

Forage minnows were represented only by the golden shiner, which often reaches a length of 10 to 12 inches. The introduction of such forage fishes as the blunt-nose minnow, the common shiner, and the gizzard shad, may possibly rectify the lack of food for carnivorous species.

Campers To Sell Football Program

As a means of raising funds for Allegany High School, the Allegany Camper Club, comprised of Alumni and friends, will produce and sell the Thanksgiving Day football program annually, starting this year.

The Club has raised $4,000 this year for new band uniforms. Many other projects are planned by the group.

For a number of years Fort Hill has had a similar organization, the Fort Hill Band Parents Association operating the food and soft drink concession in the stadium, doing outstanding work in aiding the school.

The souvenir program is made up of 48 pages, featuring 52 photographs of teams, players, bands, cheerleaders and coaches of today and years gone by of both schools.

The program will go on sale tomorrow before the game to the students at the schools at student prices. The Camper Club will have a booth at the corner of Centre and Baltimore Streets, Wednesday before the game with music by the Allegany band.

The committee active in promoting the publication are Frederic W. Eller, past president; Roy C. Lottig, chairman; Mrs. Elizabeth H. Landis, Keith E. Sisk, Aden L. Everstine, S. Lua Syckes, Wilton H. Syckes, Robert E. Barnard, Jr., Wm. J. Donahue, Dr. Harry F. Butler, William R. Wilson, Mrs. Kathryn P. Wilson, Carl McIntyre and Miss Madolyn V. Norris, secretary to the committee.

We believe that something has happened in 1950 that you should take to heart.

Ever since this year's Buicks were introduced, their big bulge in sales has come from people who traded other makes of cars for this bounteous beauty.

The total is more than 200,000.

That's 200,000 "freshmen" added to the roll call of Buick owners—200,000 people who must have sized up the current version of the cars they owned, and decided that Buick offered more thrill, more comfort, more satisfaction for the money.

Beyond that, of course, there were other hundreds of thousands who already owned a Buick and bought a new one this year. But we're speaking here of new owners only.

We can name many reasons for this landslide — including Fireball power — an incomparable ride — and Dynaflow Drive.*

We can remind you that the Buick SPECIAL, SUPER and ROADMASTER just about blanket the range of a car-owner's aspirations—matching prices with many sixes in the lower brackets—matching distinction with the finest in the fine-car field.

We might add that Buick prices are doubly attractive—since their list prices include many features customarily on the "extra" list.

But why try to spell out all the reasons Buick wins in a showdown? The proof of the pudding is in this great car itself. Better come in—look it over—and find out what an unbeatable buy it is.

MRS. A. C. BRUENINGER

OAKLAND — Mrs. Mary Pickrell Breuninger, wife of Alvin C. Breuninger, Red House, died in the Union Protestant Hospital in Clarksburg, W. Va. last Sunday. She had been ill since August.

Mrs. Breuninger taught school in Garrett County for a number of years. She entered nurses training in the Clarksburg Hospital in 1926 and was a hospital supervisor there after graduation. After a post graduate course at the University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, she returned to Clarksburg to become supervisor of the operating room in the same hospital. She held this position until her marriage on June 2, 1944 at Red House.

She was born January 23, 1899 near Linden, Virginia, a daughter of Jeff D. and Bessie Pickrell.

Surviving are her husband, Alvin C. Breuninger, of Sunnyside, near Oakland; two sisters, Bertha Pickrell, Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Lucille Sandige, Long Beach, Calif.; six brothers, A. L. Little Orleans Girl Is Honored

Long range food preservation plans won for Ruth Smith, 19, Little Orleans, state honors in the canning achievement program of Maryland 4-H Clubs.

Ruth Smith

A 4-H'er for 12 years, she has completed 97 projects and canning has been her favorite.

Because she learned how to select and preserve fruits, vegetables, poultry and meats produced on the farm, Ruth has been able to reduce the family food bill considerably.

At the community canning center last summer, Ruth assisted neighbors in preserving 12,000 quarts of fruits and vegetables. Her individual canning projects over the years total 5,900 quarts.

She has always been active in community work and has served her club as president and leader. She is now a junior at Frostburg State Teachers College.

She is one of the students who will go to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago November 26-30

"The Authority on Authorities"

HEAD OFF ANY PSYCHIC

IF YOU strike first, by making an opening bid with a perfectly sound hand — even though you have no more than the logical minimum for your call—one of the things you accomplish is the prevention of an original psychic bid in that suit by a combative opponent which might make it awkward for your side to reach the best contract. This point is particularly important if your side is vulnerable and you are in the second hand position after the dealer had passed. If you then pass a biddable hand, your not vulnerable opponent in the next seat has the best of all opportunities to toss in a monkey wrench with a misleading call.

(Dealer: West. North - South vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
1. Pass	1 ♥	Dbl	Rdbl
Pass	Pass	1 ♠	Dbl
Pass	Pass	2 ♣	4 ♥
2. Pass	Pass	1 ♥	Pass
1 NT

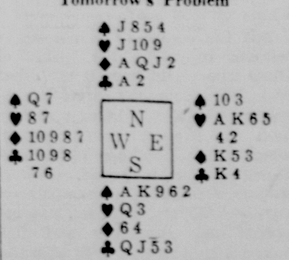

Fiercely competitive teams of four battled over this deal in the closing stages of a nip and tuck match. It happened that the East seat was occupied by a tricky player at each of the two tables. Both of those chaps did their level best to discombobulate their vulnerable opponents.

You will notice that East at Table 1 managed to obstruct the stronger pair enough to prevent reaching of the slam which was in the cards. But he couldn't keep them from getting into a game at their best suit, hearts. The defenders managed to take only one trick against that, in clubs, as after that it was easy to eliminate the defenders' trumps, discard a diamond and a club on the spades and then ruff North's last club.

Where North made a pusillanimous pass at Table 2, simply because he unsoundly wants a little more than a minimum to open when vulnerable, East made a heart psychic. After that neither North nor South could afford a vulnerable overcall. They set the 1-No Trump five tricks by taking the first eleven, giving them a mere 250 points, whereas the strong pair scored 680 at the other table by scoring two extra tricks at 4-Hearts.

* * *

Tomorrow's Problem

If West leads the 8 of the heart suit which East had bid, what should be the next two leads as the only means of developing a trump trick for the defense and so holding the declarer to taking not over nine tricks?

Honoring The Great

The Hall of Fame for Great Americans has had some important additions. Every five years a group of notable Americans chooses additional names for the Hall. The number is variable, but any candidate chosen must receive the votes of a majority of the electors. Usually about four or five are thus given place. In 1940 the electors were able to agree on but one, Stephen Foster, the author of America's most beloved songs.

This year the six names chosen are unusually prominent. Woodrow Wilson and Theodore Roosevelt enter together, an association which both would have loathed in their lifetimes. Scientific achievement is represented by Dr. William C. Gorgas, who made it possible to dig the Panama Canal by ridding the neighborhood of yellow fever, Josiah Willard Gibbs, one of the world's great mathematical physicists, and Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone. The first woman since 1920 was chosen in the person of Susan B. Anthony, the unwearied campaigner for woman suffrage and the removal of discriminations against women.

No choice may be made except of someone dead 25 years or more. Wilson thus got in at the earliest possible moment. Theodore Roosevelt was less quickly recognized, as he failed of election at his first opportunity in 1945. Except for Bell, who died in 1922, the others have been eligible for a good many years; but presumably the electors in previous years have found choice difficult when so many eligibles were presented for consideration. There has been a tendency to give undue preference to statesmen and writers. The 1950 choices offer a better balance.

There is no perpetual motion, but Moscow's eternal trouble-making is a reasonable facsimile thereof.

Not All War Profits

Having been directed by Congress before it adjourned to prepare an excess profits tax bill, the House Ways and Means Committee has started to give the project attention. Actually it needed no reminder to that effect from the White House but Mr. Truman has now spoken anyway and his views will of course receive the consideration to which they are entitled.

But merely to impose a heavy tax on the increased profits of all corporations will not do the job. That course would penalize unduly those thousands of small business firms which are not engaged in making materials of war and whose present prosperity is the result of normal growth. It would have the further effect—as it did in World War II—of encouraging extravagance and wasteful practices on the part of the large companies.

The Committee for Economic Development stated the case unerringly when it declared that corporations subject to an 85 per cent excess profits tax would often "rather spend their potential profits tax would often "rather spend their potential profits for nonproductive and non-essential purposes than pay them to the Treasury."

As the House committee therefore begins its work of finding the means for financing governmental activities it should remember that small business constitutes an important part of the national economy and should not be subjected to taxation or other regulations that will drive it to the wall. The committee should also see to it that no legislation is approved which will be an invitation to reckless spending by corporations.

In taking the profit out of war, care should be exercised that incentive under the free enterprise system is not guillotined.

General Eisenhower says Americans must keep their chins up. The same goes for their bombers.

Buy And Use The Seals

So accustomed have people become to Christmas Seals that the Yuletide season would be drab without them. Something would be lacking if they were not available, something with a friendly, humane message, which has the true significance of the period for which they are designed. the 44th annual sale of these cherished emblems expressive of good will and hope for better health conditions is getting under way.

Many persons will receive installments of seals through the mails and otherwise. During the holiday season, as well as earlier, these messengers of mercy are to be used on letters and parcels entrusted to the mails or forwarded in other ways.

Money derived from the sale, as everyone knows, is to be used in the fight against tuberculosis. Each purchaser will be contributing to a project in which every community has a stake. It will be great if everyone is liberal in purchase and use of the seals.

Weather And Controls

The British Ministry of Agriculture is finding that controls can be applied to farmers, acreages allotted, records demanded and prices guaranteed, but that despite these one unknown still remains to be reckoned with. The weather continues to go its own way.

Every two or three weeks, statistics are tabulated as to crop expectations, but no one really knows what to expect until harvest time, when the crops are safely garnered. Twenty inches of rain in six weeks ruined a great part of many farmers' wheat and hay crops, and at the same time caused an increase in potato and sugar beet yields.

On the whole, in spite of the high cost of farm labor and the endless forms to be filled out, the farmer in Britain is said to be better off today than before the war. During a good year he is assured of a fair price for all his crops, instead of being faced with falling prices due to a glut.

It is a good thing that even the most stringent system of controls must cope with some element of u certainty. Without this element, a dead level of mediocrity would be more readily achieved, and those at the helm might more easily become intoxicated with power.

New Hobby

A new field for collectors is suggested by an announcement from Princeton University. That institution has just received as a gift the original of the teletype message announcing the German surrender in the recent war. It was sent out by Sergeant Leonard C. Roemer of the Army Signal Corps, and is now given by his brother Charles to the university library.

Books, manuscripts, music scores, phonograph records and radio scripts have all found enthusiastic collectors. Teletype messages announcing historic events represent a new field. They may be hard to get, but that would never stop an ardent collector.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Regularity For Infants And Children

A WELL BALANCED diet and an adequate amount of fluid usually will encourage bowel regularity. Exercise also is of value, as well as adhering to a schedule. With this regimen, cathartics, enemas, and suppositories rarely are needed. This program will work for old and young alike but the earlier it is started, the better.

Some infants, for example, receive too much milk protein and not enough sugar in the diet. As a result, the intestinal contents assume a puttylike consistency and finally form a hard, firm mass. The addition of lactose, maltose, or other sugar nullifies the effect of casein because these carbohydrates have a fermenting action. This leads to looser, nonconstipating stools. In more obstinate cases, malt sugar or liquid malt extracts are used.

When the carbohydrates and protein factors are not responsible it may be possible that the youngster is not obtaining enough roughage. Cereals, vegetables and fruits are of benefit in this respect. Orange juice is not as useful in relieving constipation as prune, apricot, and other fruit juices and sometimes these supplementary foods must be added earlier than usual to counteract constipation. Large amounts of vitamin B, especially thiamin chloride, are said to help but it may be the sugar solution in which the vitamin is dissolved that does the trick.

Temporary constipation accompanies acute infections especially when vomiting co-exists or appetite is so poor that little food is taken. Here a laxative or suppository is justified to carry the infant over the hump but it should be stopped as soon as possible so that the intestine can regain its tone and function as nature intended. Occasionally it is natural to skip one or two days. This does no harm but some parents become upset when the youngster fails to have a daily movement. The mother not recognizing the phenomenon, may make her offspring a laxative addict; she is bound and determined to make the child regular or else.

We do not want to give the impression that constipation is always remedied by adjusting the diet. Now and then an organic disorder is responsible. A nerve disturbance may leave the intestinal wall so weak that it cannot propel the contents thru the bowel. In others an obstruction must be corrected before regularity is possible. If an anatomical defect is to blame, surgery may be needed. Occasionally a painful crack, or fissure, in the anal region hurts so much that the child deliberately holds back the bowel movement.

Bowel training usually is started about the time the tot learns to walk or earlier. Variations along this line are common and, as in other phases of development, each child determines his own pace. training is not difficult if the mother places the tot on the stool at about the same time of day that he is accustomed to have a movement. After breakfast is a favorite period but, whatever time is selected, it should be the same every day. If this routine is established and maintained, constipation seldom occurs.

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

Once again it looks like Taft, Warren and Dewey are necking the buzz-saw of national politics. Each one was vindicated in his natural state by a robust aftermath.

• — • — •

The issue in Ohio was parking space. In California it was portable climate. In New York, an egg in your beer.

• — • — •

The handle system was used in all elections with the same motion you use in slicing bologna. Taft, Warren and Dewey will stage an elimination tournament for 1952.

• — • — •

That's the main grouch with Taft and Warren at this momentous moment. Everybody fields but only Dewey bats.

• — • — •

Bill Bryan used the same system from 1896 until exhausted. He ran against McKinley, he ran against Roosevelt, he ran against Taft and he ran against time. He was counted out.

U. S. Cities Ahead Of Washington In Preparing For A-Bomb Attack; Truman Still Has Not Named Civil Defense Chief; Mrs. Rosenberg Boomed For Court

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — With Russia now building up a stockpile of approximately 28 atomic bombs and with the cold war turned into a hot war in one part of the world, the federal government is lagging far behind American cities in preparing against atomic attack.

As of today, President Truman still has not appointed a chief for civil defense, and present civil defense planning is temporarily in the hands of Stuart Symington's brother-in-law, likable but inexperienced J. J. Wadsworth.

Meanwhile, the American Municipal Association has prepared a confidential survey of civil defense plans showing considerable criticism of Washington for dragging its feet. The survey also shows that 150 key cities are going ahead with their own defense plans, with two cities—Norfolk, Va., and San Mateo, Calif., claiming to be 75 per cent ready for atomic attack. Manchester, Conn., estimates it is 70 per cent prepared and Uniontown, Pa., 65 per cent.

Meanwhile, many large cities, such San Francisco, San Diego, Schenectady and Wichita, have hired full-time civil defense directors, while other smaller towns—Niagara Falls, N. Y., Jackson, Mich., and Wilmington, N. C.—are relying on vounteer directors.

Uniontown, Pa., has organized its beauty shops as first-aid centers in case of emergency. San Angelo, Tex., is ready to draft its taxicabs and bus system for emergency evacuation. El Paso, Tex., has made a pact with Jaurez across the Mexican border for mutual aid in case of atomic attack.

Evacuation Centers

A few smaller cities near big cities are voluntarily setting up machinery to handle evacuees. For example, Bloomington, Ind., is preparing to care for evacuees from near-by Indianapolis and Louisville. Kingston and Oswego, N. Y., also regard themselves as evacuation depots for bigger New York cities.

Evacuation plans have also been worked out by San Diego and Southgate, Calif., Mount Vernon and New Rochelle, N. Y., Dearborn and Wyandotte, Mich., Salisbury, N. C., Atlanta, Ga., Fargo, N. D., and Newton, Mass.

One of the best-prepared cities is Schenectady, N. Y., which has even figured the bridge loads and clearances on emergency, escape routes from the city. Schenectady is also preparing to recruit volunteer air raid wardens, stretcher bearers and rescue squads.

At least three cities—Seattle, Chicago, and Washington, D. C.—have staged mock bombings to test their civil defense systems. San Diego, Calif., and Revere, Mass., are using television to explain civil defense to the public. Many other cities, such as St. Paul, Minn., Richmond, Calif., and Auburn, N. Y., are putting out their own disaster manuals.

The chief complaint from the cities is lack of coordination and cooperation from the federal government. Though only 50 per cent of the cities commented on civil defense needs, "31 per cent believed the primary deficiency is lack of detailed information and plans from the higher level of government. Responsibility for lack of information was generally laid upon the federal government rather than the state government. . . .

"Many cities feel keenly the lack of training manuals. Many felt that the federal government has been inordinately slow in producing material. Criticism of state-local relations hinges generally upon the lack of guidance in the coordination of local civil defense programs and irritation induced by the duplication of state and local civil defense efforts."

Lady On Supreme Court??

It seems a little early to talk about it, but female admirers of Mrs. Anna Rosenberg, first lady ever to be assistant secretary of defense, have another promotion in mind for her. They want her to be the first woman ever appointed to the Supreme Court.

Delightful Mrs. India Edwards of the Democratic National Committee, who probably has put more women in office than anyone else in history, has this in the back of her mind—later, when the time is ripe.

Actually, Mrs. Rosenberg was recommended to Secretary Marshall by Marshall's close friend, Gen. Bedell Smith, now chief of Central Intelligence, who has come to play an increasingly important part in the defense picture. Interesting thing about Mrs. Rosenberg is not only her feminine support, but the way hardboiled businessmen root for her. Though Republicans are already gunning against her confirmation, she has such stanch supporters as the Rockefellers and the R. H. Macy Company.

Also among her boosters are a couple of the big broadcasting networks which handed down orders at the time of her appointment that favorable stories were to be broadcast about her.

Note—Mrs. India Edwards not only wants a woman appointed to the Supreme Court but is opposed to Attorney General Howard McGrath being elevated to the court. She thinks he has loafed too much as attorney general.

Paradoxical McCarran Act

Few people realize all the problems Senator Pat McCarran has created by his hurriedly written, so-called anti-Communist law.

For instance, Romula Betancourt, ex-president of Venezula and long-time resident of the United States, recently flew to Havana to organize a Western Hemisphere peace conference in support of the United States. Betancourt, who ranks among the 10 top men in Latin-American prestige, wanted to offset the phony Communist propaganda for peace. However, his government is now a dictatorship, which, under the McCarran act, cannot send its citizens to the U. S. A.

So when Betancourt went to the American embassy in Havana to apply for a re-entry visa, he was denied one under the McCarran act. Finally, the State department permitted this good friend of the U. S. A. to come to Washington for 30 days only to close his house, then move to Havana permanently.

The State department is also disturbed because Emilio Suri Castillo, speaker of the Cuban House of Representatives and secretary general of the powerful Cuban Sugar Workers, has now been denied a visa to the United States because he was once a member of the Cuban Communist party for a brief period in the 1930's.

The paradoxical fact is that Speaker Castillo is the author of Cuba's own anti-commie law, which he wrote partly at the request of American officials.

But now, under the McCarran act, Castillo can't come to Washington.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Acheson On China

ON September 10, 1950, Dean Acheson had much to say on China. Let us quote a few things he said:

"The greater part of China to the north, which is made up of Sinkiang, Outer Mongolia, and Manchuria, is Chinese at the present moment only nominally."

No definition of North China, either Chinese or foreign, has ever divided China as Mr. Acheson does here. The Yangtze river is usually the dividing line between North and South China. Shanghai, for instance, has always been included in North China. The newspaper on which I worked there was called "The North China Daily News." Peking means north capital; Nanking means south capital.

Sinkiang is part of Chinese Turkestan and is outside the great wall. This is true of outer Mongolia and Manchuria. North China ends at the great wall. Outside territories were not regarded as part of North China. The old republican flag had five bars; four of them represented the outside areas.

Furthermore, the phrasing "to the north" instead of "North China" is an advocate's trick which only creates confusion. The real point of this statement is its total avoidance of a moral position. It accepts the pragmatic sanction that if a power has invaded or infiltrated into the territory of another power, then the conquest is to be acknowledged because it is an accomplished fact no matter how it was accomplished. If that is to be accepted as a principle, of what value is the United Nations?

Then Acheson said:

"That is where the great cloud from the north, Russian penetration, is operating and it is quite obvious that the plan is to absorb these northern areas of China under Soviet domination."

That also is a delayed statement, because the Soviet domination of China is as complete in the south as in the north. Soviet China, which is a branch of international Marxism, holds the city of Canton in the south, as it does any area in what Mr. Acheson describes as China "to the north." Only one thing can truthfully be said about all this territory and that is that these areas are already part of Soviet Russia.

Sinkiang province (and the whole of Chinese Turkestan and much of Tibet, which Mr. Acheson, for some reason, omitted) is now absolutely under Russian control. So is all of Mongolia. The Mongolian S. S. republic is part of the Soviet Union. It was stolen from China in 1924.

Then Mr. Acheson said this:

"And since there is nothing in it for them (Soviet China), I don't see why they should yield to what is undoubtedly pressures from the Communist movement to get into this Korean row."

But they did get into the Korean row. As a matter of fact, they are now killing American soldiers and marines, our sons. After General MacArthur had defeated Soviet Korea, Soviet China, out of Manchuria, took up the battle. It is British policy to deny this truth, and Mr. Acheson is the protagonist of British policy. As a matter of fact, the British hope to use three Republicans, Warren Austin, Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., and John Foster Dulles, our representatives in the United Nations, to do the very dirty job of substituting Soviet China for China in that body.

But the course of events works without regard to the wishes of those who would have it the other way. Dean Acheson's career as secretary of state was based upon the wish to support British policy, which was to abandon China and Korea and even Japan, so that Europe could have a monopoly on our aid. History, however, has ignored him altogether and has moved within its own orbit with the result that Acheson has nearly always been proved to have been wrong.

It is a sad plight for a secretary of state.

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., Nov. 19—The uneasy international situation plus a continuing rise in the cost of most goods and services has quite naturally focused attention on profits. Unfortunately, it has also revived the dangerous and widespread belief that business, big and little, is profiting excessively at the expense of wageworkers.

Loose Talk Is Confusing

It is perfectly true that there are firms which do profit unduly at the expense of their employes and the general public, just as there are some individuals ever ready to lie, cheat and steal. But the recent record of American business generally in this regard is an honorable one worthy of defense. Yet, when costs go up, our first impulse is to blame the greedy manufacturer because we believe he is taking advantage of us.

Labor unions then take up the cry of "excess profits" as they agitate for higher wages. Meanwhile, an ever growing share of the really substantial profits of American business is being drained off by government in the form of federal, state and local tax levies. If even one half of the time, money and energy which government, management and labor spend in foolishly antagonizing each other were to be spent in a united effort to curb waste and increase production, we would soon have a far higher standard of living than we now enjoy.

Stockholders Are Human

The truth is Uncle Sam now has become so adept at piling tax upon tax — and squandering so much money which he takes in — that the average corporation stockholder is really just another "laboring man". Those who invest their money in common stocks enable companies to produce more efficiently and reduce prices. This further enables these companies to pay fair wages while at the same time to make substantial federal and local tax contributions.

There are times when labor unions have some legitimate complaints, but I know that labor unions are barking up the wrong tree when they attack stockholders as a class. They forget that the ownership of stocks is now pretty well spread over all the elements of our population. In fact, I am certain that the percentage of wageworkers who are actually stockholders is very large. It is no longer rare to find even labor unions investing in industrial stocks; they know that now an additional investment of close to $10,000 is needed to give a new man a job.

Why Blame Manufacturers?

When costs go up, there is a widespread tendency to make manufacturers and storekeepers the scapegoats, just as there is a false notion that the latter receive a disproportionate share of the retail price. Doubtless our distribution system is wasteful in some respects; but it has gone a long way in the creation of the mass markets which make possible mass production.

I do wish that more people knew how this distribution system ticks and how much it costs. For example: Bread and a number of other food products cost much more to market than the part of the total retail price to consumers which the farmer, the miller and the baker receive. Everyone should realize that a good slice of the cost of every item consists of taxes. transportation, rent, and salesmen's wages. These expenses are not subject to daily or weekly changes as are raw materials.

A Suggested Remedy

No single group is entirely to blame for high costs and high prices. The chief culprit is government, but we all share in the blame for government's mistakes. Year by year, larger and larger sums of money are being taken away from distributing organizations through taxes. Far too much of this tax money has been and is even now being spent in functions which increases the cost-of-living.

This can lead to the kind of socialism which has put once powerful England in the sorry plight where she is today. This same policy is killing our incentive and will demoralize our whole employment structure if we do not force our political bureaucrats to abandon it. We became a great nation because we were willing to continually invest more money in productive purposes. We were eager to risk our savings because there was hope of profit. We must not permit government to destroy that profit motive, for that would lead to the destruction of the nation itself.

MATTER OF FACT

By JOSEPH And STEWART ALSOP

Truman

WASHINGTON

AT LEAST ONE of those present at President Truman's press conference last week carried away with him a sense of utter unreality. It was not that there was anything unusual about the press conference. It was the first since the election, and it was natural that most of the questions concerned the election results.

With his usual cheerfulness, the President insisted that the results were not really unfavorable — the Democrats lost less than any party in power had lost in any off-year election since 1916, except for 1934. With his usual stubbornness, the President also insisted that he stuck by his whole domestic political program — now quite obviously a footnote to history—and that he expected the new Congress to pass it.

There was nothing unusual, either, in the President's appearance. The four neat points of his pocket handkerchief were red, instead of the customary white. His face looked a shade pinker than usual, and the rest of him perhaps a shade plumper. He spoke with his hands clasped behind his back, possibly to conceal his only nervous habit, a tendency to shut and open his hands repeatedly, like some one moulding putty. But if he was nervous, or under any strain, he certainly did not show it.

Sense Of Unreality

Only twice did his tone take on a certain edge, a familiar sharpness. This happened when a reporter asked him about the stories of inadequate clothing for the troops in Korea. Truman replied that Gen. MacArthur had reported to him that there was plenty of warm clothing for the troops, and that was good enough for him. Again, when he was asked whether Secretary of State Dean Acheson would resign, he snapped back with a loud, positive, angry negative, and said Acheson would stay on, and that was that.

These were, in fact, about the only times that anything remotely concerning foreign and defense policy was mentioned. And this no doubt partly accounted for the curious sense of unreality. For the man facing the reporters in the ornate, high-ceilinged old-fashioned room of the old State Department might just as well have been an American President of the twenties, say, or even the early years of this century, serenely discussing the election returns, as though both he and his audience were preoccupied with no more important matters.

The sense of unreality sprang, indeed, not from any feeling that the press conference was unusual, but simply from its very usualness, its total normality. It was difficult to believe that this well fed, obviously health man, with his sharp, pleasant face, was really one of the most powerful men in the world.

Here, after all; was the Chief Executive of the only great power strong enough to stand between the Soviet Union and total world mastery. Here, in a neat double-breasted gray suit, wearing a rich silk tie in a flower pattern, smiling and cocking his head occasionally from side to side, was a man whose decisions and actions would most certainly affect the whole course of world history.

Cheerfulness A Little Muted

As the questions and answers droned on, it was difficult to believe that this cheerful, even cocky man was President of a country already in effect at war. It was downright impossible to believe that, since the Chinese intervention in Korea, an unimaginably devastating world war has become, on balance, rather more likely than not. The Chinese intervention in Korea was never, in fact, mentioned—in the cheery almost gay atmosphere of the President's press conference, it would have seemed almost indecent to bring up such a subject.

The President's cheerfulness, which is always the characteristic which first strikes the observer, was perhaps a little muted. The broad grin which was once a permanent fixture of his face had been toned down to a half-smile, and appeared only occasionally. There was this much evidence, at least, that the period of euphoria which quite clearly seized the President after his triumphant re-election, and which led him even this summer to assure worried visitors that "everything" going to be all right," is over.

The Presidential euphoria can hardly have survived the Korean war and what has happened since, for President Truman is after all by no means a fool. Those who know him say that behind his bland exterior the President has become in recent months a desperately worried and at times a heartsick man. If so, it is a good sign. For President Truman, when he is stirred, is capable of acting with real courage. In the months to come, he will certainly need courage. So will the people of the country of which he is President. This is the reality which underlies the sense of the unreal generated by cheerful normality of the President's press conference.

Local Bedside Agency Founder Observes Twenty-Fifth Year

Elizabeth J. MacDonald, 114 Potomac Street, is observing the Silver anniversary of her MacDonald Bedside Agency, which she established in 1925 soon after she found she would have to spend the rest of her life in bed.

This blind and crippled woman, unable to move either arms or legs, supports herself through selling Christmas and greeting cards, magazine subscriptions and gift wrappings.

As a carefree girl who attended John Humbird School, was graduated from Allegany County High School and attended Frostburg State Teachers College, Elizabeth MacDonald gave every promise of a highly successful career in teaching. When 19 she had the first real premonition of the burden she would have to bear. She became bedfast for 15 months, but finally recovered sufficiently to be able to go around on crutches. She taught in South End schools despite her handicap, but became bedfast again in the early 1920s and gave up permanently her life's ambition of teaching.

At first Miss MacDonald had her sight and the use of her hands. With determination she took up painting and showed real talent. Then she lost her eyesight. Her interest in music was so intense that she asked if arrangements could be made so she might be taken in an ambulance to the Hunt Concerts that brought Galli Curci, John McCormack, Fritz Kreisler, Jascha Heifetz, Rachmaninoff and other great artists to Cumberland between 1922 and 1930. From her portable bed backstage she heard concert stars and symphony orchestras and operas.

With the loss of all use of her arms—blind, and almost bereft of every faculty except speech and hearing—Miss MacDonald has never lost her interest in the life around her. Friends visit her from every section of Cumberland and find her one of the best informed women of their acquaintance. The Library of Congress, Washington, supplies her with great literature on records so that she can pull a string tied to one of her fingers and hear the words that other people read. Four strings are tied to her fingers so she can operate her radio.

Every morning, day after day, Elizabeth MacDonald awakes to a realization that she must lie in bed helpless until sleep comes again. But she is not idle! Cheerful, resigned to God's will, she asks only that people give her a chance to support herself by purchasing their Christmas cards and magazine subscriptions through her bedside agency. She welcomes visitors at her Potomac Street home, and many who have called to cheer her have come away more cheered themselves by the wholesome soaring spirit of the helpless woman who has never become a public charge!

MT. SAVAGE — Prizes were won by Mrs. Thomas Snelson and Mrs. Frederick Miller at a card party held by the Junior Guild of St. George's Church at a meeting in the Parish House recently.

A business meeting was held, with Rev. Rudolph Gunkel opening it with a prayer. Misses Margaret and Erma Uhl were hostesses.

The next meeting will be held November 27.

McKeldin Defeated Lane By 92,988 Votes

BALTIMORE, Nov. 19 (AP)—The official returns from the general election showed today that Theodore R. McKeldin, Republican, defeated Gov. Lane by a record-breaking margin of 92,988 votes in the Maryland gubernatorial race.

The final tabulation gave McKeldin 369,790 votes to Lane's 276,792.

John Marshall Butler, in his successful bid to unseat Sen. Tydings (D-Md), received 326,286 to 283,258 for Tydings, or a margin of 43,028.

Buckeyes Drop Coveted No. 1 Football Tag

Oklahoma, Princeton, Army, Kentucky Win

NEW YORK, Nov. 19 (AP) — College football's elusive and coveted No. 1 tag, a "kiss of death" that has changed hands four times in six weeks, came up for grabs again today, with a fistful of eager takers.

Ohio State's powerized Buckeyes, after a week on the shaky pinnacle, tumbled yesterday before a fire-eating Illinois team, dead bent on going to the Rose Bowl. The score was 14-7.

The Buckeyes thus met the fate that had befallen Notre Dame and Southern Methodist shortly after being designated as the best in these United States.

Only Army, which has held the top three times while fluctuating in favor, has not been affected.

Army and another ranking contender for national honors, California, had their muscles softened by lightly-regarded adversaries and miserable weather yesterday but managed to bring their perfect records through the storms unscathed.

Pass Decides Battle

The Cadets downed Stanford, 7-0, in a rain storm at Palo Alto on a desperate third period aerial thrust, Bob Blaik to Don Foldberg. The Rose Bowl bound Golden Bears barely outslogged San Francisco in the mud at Berkeley, 13-7.

Oklahoma, Kentucky and Princeton, meanwhile, added to their football stature with smashing victories that undoubtedly will be reflected

THE QUEEN CITY BREWING CO. CUMBERLAND, MD.

St. Francis College Tops Spas, 64-55

TROPHY FOR INTERSTATE CHAMPIONS — John J. Long, president of the Interstate Baseball League, is shown presenting the league's championship trophy to Tom Nave, business manager of the Centerville (Pa.) Reds, at the circuit's annual awards dinner yesterday at the Loyal Order of Moose Home. The Centerville Club won the pennant and also the playoffs this year. A pennant will be presented next spring. Looking on at the presentation were Roy Clites, Hyndman, league secretary, second from left, and Frank J. Davis, Cumberland, vice president and "father" of the league, on extreme right. The loop has been in operation for five years.

Frankies Put On Late Spurt To Grab Game

Wanish's Goals Turn Tide; Spas Mesh 27 Of 34 Free Throws

Coach "Skip" Hughes' St. Francis College cagers of Loretto, Pa., staged a garrison finis last night to defeat the Cumberland Spas, local pro quint, at SS. Peter and Paul gym by the score of 64 to 55.

It was the second defeat in as many nights for Coach Bill Keegan's aggregation, which dropped the season opener here on Saturday to Waynesburg (Pa.) College by the score of 57 to 54.

A gathering of 305 paying patrons witnessed last night's battle in which the score was knotted nine times and the collegians won out in the last five minutes of play.

Wanish Turns Tide

Bill Wanish of Allentown, Pa., pulled the ball game out of the fire for the Red Flash with three successive goals that put the visitors out in front for keeps. The score was 54-51 with approximately six minutes left to play when Wanish registered three fielders in almost rapid succession to put the Frankies on the long end of a 57-54 count. Ed Sharick sank two foul shots and Johnny Clancy slammed in a goal to give St. Francis a 7-point advantage at 61-54 with two minutes remaining. After Jimmy Clevenger hooped a free throw for the home club, Clancy dumped in a foul and Johnny O'Brien scored from the field before the final whistle.

Up until the time St. Francis cut loose with a whirlwind attack in the closing minutes against the fading Spas it was an even-Stephen ball game with no team having more than a five-point advantage.

The quarter scores were 12-11, Spas, 24-23 in favor of St. Francis and 43-39 with the locals out in front.

Score Tied Nine Times

In the opening period the score was knotted at 5-5, in the second stanza it was stalemated 15, 17, 18 and 22 and in the third heat it was even-Stephen at 31-31 and 32-32. Early in the 4th period the ties were 46-46 and 47-47.

St. Francis, defeated here twice in previous years, banged in 24 fielders to the Spas' 14 in last night's encounter. The home team, however, stayed right in there through its classy foul pitching, meshing 27 of 34 throws. The winners averaged .500 at the free throw line—sinking 16 of 32 shots.

54 Personals Called

A total of 54 personal fouls were plastered on the teams—29 on the invaders and 25 on the home club—by Clifton Van Roby and Eddie Diehl. Ray Palonis, of St. Francis, was the only player ejected on six personal fouls and he made his exit in the final quarter with his team trailing at 51-53.

Palonis, Wanish and Clancy paced the St. Francis attack with 15, 13 and 11 tallies. Lou Bell headed the Spas with an even dozen points while Bob Pence and Jimmy Clevenger had 10 each.

Erie Here Sunday

The Spas will open their All-American Pro League campaign here next Sunday at 3 p. m. with the Erie (Pa.) Admirals. All Sunday games with Erie, home or away, will be played in the afternoon. Lineups:

Rex Layne Meets Walcott Friday

Utah Heavy To Fight Jersey Joe In Garden

NEW YORK, Nov. 19 (AP)—Rex Layne, promising Utah heavyweight, gambles for the jackpot Friday when he engages crafty Jersey Joe Walcott in the main ten rounder at Madison Square Garden.

Despite a record which shows only one defeat in 28 fights, the 22-year old Layne appears to be in way over his head against the experienced, hard-hitting Walcott.

Jersey Joe, who will be 37 in January, will be at least a 1 to 5 choice. However, if Layne, who has scored 19 kayo victories, can upset the Camden, N. J., veteran he could vault right into a title shot with heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles.

The bout will be broadcast by ABC and telecast by NBC.

In another outstanding bout, lightweight champion Ike Williams will attempt to avenge a decision loss to Joe Miceli when he meets the New York welterweight in a return ten in Milwaukee Thursday.

Miceli, a fine prospect, won a unanimous ten from Williams in Milwaukee Oct. 2.

On Wednesday, light heavyweight champion Joey Maxim of Cleveland faces Al Brown of Detroit in a non-title ten in Moline, Ill. The same night Johnny Bratton of Chicago and Johnny Cesario of Boston clash in a welterweight ten at New York's St. Nicholas Arena. The Bratton-Cesario bout will be broadcast and telecast by CBS.

82-Yard Punt Return Beats Eagles, 14-10

Don Paul's Long Run Nets Cardinals Win

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 19 (INS)—The Chicago Cardinals came storming from behind the third period today to upset the power-packed Philadelphia Eagles, 14 to 10.

The defeat, a serious blow to the championship aspirations of the National Football League's defending titlists, was witnessed by 28,368 fans.

Behind 10-0 at the half, the Cardinals struck twice for touchdowns in the third period and then held the Eagles in check the rest of the way.

An 82-yard punt return by Don Paul provided the Cards with the winning touchdown. Paul grabbed a Frank Reagan punt that was bounding around the Chicago 20 and eluded several nearby Eagles.

He swung to the center of the field and then raced the rest of the way down the sidelines for the six-pointer.

An Eagle fumble led to the first Cardinal td. The Chicago outfit march 68 yards with a 43 yard pass from Frank Tripucka to Bob Shaw putting it in scoring position. A 15-yard pass from Jim Hardy to Elmer Angsman produced the touchdown. Pat Harder booted both extra points.

Tommy Thompson culminated a 59-yard first period drive by the Eagles with a nine-yard pass to Pete Pihos for a touchdown. Cliff Patton kicked the point and later in the second period booted a 17-yard field goal.

Score by periods:

Chicago Bears Score Shutout

Subdue 49ers, 17-0; Battle Rams Next

CHICAGO, Nov. 19 (INS)—The Chicago Bears produced all their points in the first half and then repulsed every threat made by the San Francisco 49ers to win, 17 to 0, today before a crowd of 38,105 at Wrigley Field.

The shutout the 49ers suffered was their first in five years of professional football. They were unable to cross midfield until just before halftime and never got closer to the Bears' goal than the 28-yard line.

Chicago's victory gave Coach George Hala's aggregation undisputed possession of second place in the National Conference of the major pro football league. The Bears, who are only a half-game behind the first place Los Angeles Rams, meet the Californians in a showdown game in Chicago next week.

George Blanda opened the scoring three minutes before the end of the first quarter with a 32-yard field goal. John Hoffman intercepted a pass thrown by Frankie Albert and returned it for a 39-yard touchdown a minute later.

Johnny Lujack kicked the extra point just as he did after hurling a 39-yard scoring pass to Ken Kavanaugh in the second period. Lujack now leads the National League with 93 points. Score by periods:

Bob Waterfield Stars As Rams Conquer Yanks

Los Angeles Wins In New York, 43-35

NEW YORK, Nov. 19 (INS)—The Los Angeles Rams strengthened their hold on first place in the National Division of the National Football League today with a 43-to-35 victory over the New York Yanks in a wild, free-scoring struggle at Yankee Stadium.

The win by the high-powered Rams dumped the Yanks into third place in the division, behind the victorious Chicago Bears.

A crowd of 42,673 fans saw the Rams take the Yanks for the second time this season in a thriller that went right down to the wire.

The Rams led 40-21 with eleven minutes left when the Yanks came back. George Ratterman threw a 16-yard touchdown pass to Dan Edwards and George Taliaferro hit Art Weiner with a 60-yard aerial for another Yanks' td.

But with seven minutes left the New Yorkers were unable to overcome a 40-35 deficit.

Tom Keane made the sixth and most vital of the Rams' six interceptions to set up a 30-yard field goal—third of the day—by brilliant Bob Waterfield and Los Angeles had the ball game.

The aggregate two team total of 1,133 yards gained broke all professional records. Los Angeles gained 636 yards and through the skyways completed 28 of 49 passes.

Waterfield was the LA star, completing 21 of 37 passes for 248 yards and a touchdown. He set up another and booted four placements in addition to his field goals of 37, 31 and 30 yards.

Dick Hoerner scored three Ram touchdowns, the last one on a brilliant 64-yard dash in the final period.

Score by periods:

LOS ANGELES	7	9	10	17—43
NEW YORK	0	7	7	21—35

Los Angeles scoring: Touchdowns — Hirsch, Davis, Hoerner 3. Conversions — Waterfield 4. Field goal—Waterfield 3.

16 Win Turkeys At Ridgeley Rod, Gun Club Traps

Sixteen persons won 21 turkeys ranging from 20 to 12 pounds in the shoot held yesterday by the Ridgeley Rod and Gun Club.

Forty gunners from Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania participated.

Carl King, Everett, Pa., and Harry Naugle, Cumberland, led the winners with three birds each. Wade Gladden, Coldstream, W. Va., won two turkeys.

Those winning one turkey each were:

Leo Rice, Ridgeley; Mary E. Murrell, Ridgeley; Donald King, Everett; W. F. Weakly, Ridgeley; Charles Jordan, Cumberland; W. D. Biddinger, Ridgeley; Ed McDonald, Headsville, W. Va.

Dr. E. C. Boyer, Johnstown, Pa.; W. Eisentrout, Ridgeley; M. C. Houseworth, Bedford Road; Russell McElfish, Bedford Road; John Lohr, Johnstown, Pa., and Tony Francis, Westernport.

Browns Beat 'Skins, Hold First Place

Cleveland Gets Scare But Is Victor, 20-14, On Phelps' 6-Pointer

CLEVELAND, Nov. 19 (INS)—The last-place Washington Redskins, who have won only one game this season, gave the Cleveland Browns the scare of their lives today before succumbing, 20 to 14, in the last period before 21,908 fans at Cleveland.

An 80-yard drive midway in the final period overcame a 14 to 13 Washington lead and preserved the Browns' half-game lead over the New York Giants in the American Conference of the National Football League.

The Redskins charged back, however, with Eddie Saenz running back the Cleveland kickoff 71 yards to the Brown 31. But a series of passes by Harry Gilmer failed to advance the ball and the Browns took over.

Groza's accurate booting put the Browns into an early lead in the second period. Paul Brown's club scored a td on a pass from Otto Graham to Dante Lavelli and added six points on two field goals, one a 30-yard boot.

This offset a second period Washington touchdown scored by Hall Haynes on an interception of a Graham pass. But the Redskins went out in front in the third period when a Gilmer to Saenz pass put the ball on the three, where Halfback Rob Goode blasted over.

Score by periods:

WASHINGTON	0	7	7	0	—14
CLEVELAND	0	13	0	7	—20

Washington scoring: Touchdowns — Haynes, Goode. Conversions—Dudley 2.

Cleveland scoring: Touchdowns—Lavelli, Phelps. Conversions—Groza 2. Field goals—Groza 2.

Doak Walker Steals Show

Scores All Points As Lions Win, 24-21

DETROIT, Nov. 19 (AP) — Smooth operating Doak Walker slammed over all 24 points for the Detroit Lions today as they battled their way to a 24-21 decision over the stubborn Green Bay Packers in a National Football League game here.

The former Southern Methodist star, who is making a strong bid for honors as the No. 1 freshman in the NFL, picked up three touchdowns, three conversions and a field goal on the rain-soaked gridiron.

He climaxed his great day by catching an eight yard touchdown pass in the last two minutes of play to enable the Lions to come from behind and nip the Packers.

GREEN BAY	0	14	0	7	—21
DETROIT	0	10	7	7	—24

Green Bay scoring—Touchdowns, Cloud 2, Pritko. Conversions—Pritsch 3.

Detroit scoring—Touchdowns, Walker 3. Field goal—Walker. Conversions—Walker 3.

Giants Pulverize Baltimore Colts

BALTIMORE, Nov. 19 (AP) — Switching to the T and exploding like T.N.T. after trailing 20-7 at halftime, the New York Giants pulverized the Baltimore Colts 55-20 today.

Quarterback Travis Tidwell directed the Giants to their second highest scoring total in history after quarterback Chuck Conerly got nowhere with the A single wing formation of attack. The Giants' biggest point output was 56 points against the Philadelphia Eagles in 1933.

Tidwell and the T formation came in for the Giants midway in the second period with the score 13-0 against them. After the rampaging Colts added another score to the delirious delight of 14,573 fans in Memorial Stadium, the former Auburn quarterback got the New Yorkers straightened out and headed for their seventh win against two losses in the National Football League.

Personally, he threw two touchdown passes to end Bob McChesney and went over the goal once himself. Eddie Price, the pride of Tulane, bucked for two scores and the others were credited to Jim Ostendarp, a Baltimorean, Randall Clay and Bob Jackson.

NEW YORK	0	7	21	27	—55
BALTIMORE	6	14	0	0	—20

New York scoring: Touchdowns—Price 2, McChesney 2, Tidwell, Ostendarp, Clay, Jackson. Conversions—Poole 7.

Baltimore scoring: Touchdowns—Stone, Williams, Crisler. Conversions—Kissell 2.

Cross Country Teams Vie For IC4A Title

NEW YORK, Nov. 19—(AP)—Back in 1930, Penn State College won the IC4A cross-country championship—but the intervening decades have been lean ones for the Nittany Lions. Tomorrow, however, may be their day again.

Some 250 harriers from 39 colleges will toe the mark for the 42nd edition of the IC4A harrier title run, and it is the Penn State squad that stands out. That's despite the presence of Dick Shea on the Army team.

The Staters were fifth last year, and have all seven members of their 1949 squad back for another fling at the championship. Bill Ashenfelter, a younger brother of Horace, who still can show his heels to most two-milers running today, is the standout of the Penn State team.

16 Win Turkeys, Hams In Firemen's Shoot

Turkey winners were "Skip" Layman, Paul Monnett, Robert Howell, Tom Humbertson, Lee Mackereth, James M. Duvall, Carl Stinson and Harry Benson, all of Route 4, Cumberland; F. Wolfe, James Ginevan, Elmer Flaterta and Bill Piper, Oldtown; Ernest Valentine, 420 Arch street, Cumberland; Russell Myers, Williams Road; Bruce Sneathen, 35 Mullen street, Cumberland, and Marion Apple, Cumberland.

Santa Clara Broncos Beat St. Mary's, 9-0

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19 (INS)—The Santa Clara Broncos defeated St. Mary's Gaels 9-0 today in the annual renewal of their "little big game," the first of which was played in 1896.

Threatening rain kept the crowd to 10,000—one of the smallest ever to witness the game between the two rivals.

Metkovich — Muncrief

Souchok — Klein

FORMER major leaguers, these four will be back in the big time next year after being shunted to the minors. The four were among those selected in the draft at the Cincinnati, O., meeting. Lou Klein, Los Angeles infielder, went to the Indians. Bob Muncrief, Los Angeles pitcher, was picked up by the Yanks. Steve Souchok, Sacramento first sacker, was drafted by the Tigers. George Metkovich, Oakland outfielder, was selected by the Pirates. (International)

Steelers Grab Lead In LaSalle Circuit

Jack Vocke with 167-482 and Eddie Dove with 154-383 headed the Steelers' attack as the latter won three games from the Eagles yesterday and moved into first place in the LaSalle High School Bowling League.

Big Jim Connelly paced the Eagles with a 171-446.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 19 (INS)—Bette Davis was so glowing with happiness when she met Gary Merrill at the airport, that no one had the heart to tell her the bad news.

Bette Davis

Her bridegroom, who is just back from Germany where he made "Legion Of The Damned," will be snatched away again December 18 for another long location jaunt. This time it's Florida, where he'll make "The Frogmen" with Dana Andrews and Richard Widmark.

Sam Engel, the producer, and Lloyd Bacon, the director, say they feel like real heavies pulling a trick like this on Bette—but Gary is the boy they have to have. I can't say I blame them. After "All About Eve" he's really headed right for stardom.

My guess is that Bette will go along to Florida, at least long enough to spend the holidays with him.

Paul Jones, producer of the "Road" epics, felt that with Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis doing "My Friend Irma Goes Abroad," Bing and Bob shouldn't do "Road To Paris" which has exactly the same backgrounds. So he has Valentine Davies writing "Road To Hollywood."

The idea strikes me as plum wonderful. Can't you see Bing and Bob in a satire on this town? It'll be funny—that's for sure—and it will be kind, which is more than can be said of other movies on the same subject.

I've always thought those stories printed that MGM planned to "discipline" Ava Gardner were a lot of nonsense—and I am right. Last week, when RKO put in a bid to borrow Ava, the reply from MGM was "sorry—we're keeping her right here."

Of course, it won't be so immediate that she won't have time for a quick visit to New York to see you-know-who. But she won't be able to stay more than ten days, that's how quickly the adventure yarn with Granger is scheduled to start.

• — • — •

All the fussing and talk of suspension notwithstanding, Linda Darnell has decided to do "The Guy Who Sank The Navy" after all. Linda was proud of her record of never having had a suspension in all the years she has been at 20th—and she doesn't want any trouble now.

I hear her original objection was not over the importance of her role. She just didn't want to be the "other woman" who comes between Paul Douglas and Joan Bennett n the script. She told me she wanted to play another type of character.

After she thought it over, Linda decided that sirens don't fare too badly on the screen. Sometimes the "bad girl" steals the picture. She did on several occasions, I remember, when she wasn't even the star.

All the elopment rumors floating around when Jean Simmons and Stewart Granger flew with Howard Hughes to the Grand Canyon and Lake Meade, didn't mean a thing. The last time Howard took a couple flying it was Cary Grant and Betsy Drake and it was, indeed, an elopement—but it was no elopement for Stewart and Jean.

Jean, who leaves for home today, set a definite wedding date and it's New Year's day. She doesn't know whether it will be in Hollywood or London—that depends upon where they are at that time.

Richard Basehart has been hospitalized in Germany with pneumonia and is reported very ill. He was stricken after making scenes for "Legion Of The Damned" which called for him to swim in the icy waters of the Rhine.

Valentina Cortesa leaves Wednesday for Pittsburgh to join her boy friend, Conductor Victor De Sabata. Then she'll take off for Italy for a visit with her family.

Franchot Tone must be back from New York by December 5 to give a deposition in the fight between him and his ex-wife, Jean Wallace, for the custody of their children. Jean won the first round when she was allowed to have the children three days a week.

Joan Davis, who is feeling much better, was at Ciro's with Danny Elman, her former boy friend.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Radio And Television

By JOHN CROSBY

The Big Lie Technique

THE AIR waves clear around the globe are full of interesting lies about the American people. Radio Moscow is now broadcasting 832 program hours a week from some 250 transmitters in all the languages that matter. Recently, "Living — 1950" (NBC 7 p. m. EST Saturdays) compiled a few of the more arresting statements made about us dirty capitalistic warmongers—in case the rest of you rotten capitalists are interested.

John Crosby

"This is Radio Moscow calling. The United States is afraid. The Yankee imperialists—the blackest forces of aggression—are afraid of the truth, of the march forward of history, which has sealed the unavoidable crash of the rotten capitalist world. So the docile varlets from the dollarized countries, following the orders of the State Department, talked business in the famous Hotel Waldorf-Astoria about the cannon fodder which is needed to unleash the war against the Soviet Union."

What is especially striking about this vitriol, to me at least, is the fact that the Waldorf gets off so easily, being described simply as "famous," rather than as a hotbed of syndicalo-bourgeois fascism. Why, look here, Radio Moscow, if even half the rotten capitalist intrigues hatched in the Sert Room got any farther than the diagrams on the tablecloth, we'd all be millionaires. In fact, if you're looking for propaganda material on the unworkability of the rotten capitalist system, just hang around the men's bar at the Waldorf for awhile. You'll hear about more huge plants that never get built, more deals that are never consummated, more quick fortunes that are never made, than you'll find anywhere else in this decadent country.

Russian propaganda is based on the big lie technique, but even then, it is pretty hard to square with any form of logic, even Iron Curtain logic. A large part of the broadcasts are devoted to cracking us over the head for possessing so many dollars and trying to dollarize—a nice word—the rest of the world with our dirty capitalist money. Right next to our dollar happiness, you'll hear something like this:

"Only the idiocy of an oversatiated beast of prey can explain the horrible American conditions that doom millions to hunger, illness, and lingering death. Last year in America, 20,000,000 persons lived on a starvation diet. That's how the notorious American way of life looks.

"In the United States, only 4 per cent of the citizens can afford the services of a doctor, and 45,000,000 American children are rapidly losing their health through malnutrition.

Well, let's see now—20,000,000 of us starving, 45,000,000 sick children and all those invalid automobile workers—that puts a third of the population in sick bay. We're obviously in no shape to launch what Radio Moscow refers to as our "bloodthirsty war in Korea." We're especially in no shape to discuss "the cannon fodder which is needed to unleash the war against the Soviet Union." Obviously, with 45,000,000 sick children on our hands, we haven't got any cannon fodder worth mentioning. (There are only 38,000,000 children under fifteen years in this country. We have more sick children than we have children.)

We ought to be used to being abused for foreigners by this time. We've taken an awful lot of abuse from them, including a celebrated speech by George Bernard Shaw over NBC in 1933 in which Shaw made about as many bum guesses as it is possible for one man to make. Said Mr. Shaw at that time:

"Because the practical mood in which you elected Mr. Hoover was a disappointment and you got into a sentimental mood, and Mr. Roosevelt by a happy chance got photographed with a baby, he went into the White House with a rush. You hope a great deal from Franklin Roosevelt. You will get nothing from him. In his four years, if he has to go on under the Constitution with the usual rotten Congress and all the rest of it, he will inevitably be as great a disappointment as Mr. Hoover."

Pfc. Charles A. Butler Receives Purple Heart

One of the 41 men to receive Purple Hearts Friday at the first mass ceremony staged in Walter Reed Hospital, Washington, D. C., since fighting started in Korea, was Pfc. Charles A. Butler, 20, of Cresaptown.

He is a son of Mrs. Lucy Helbig, of Cresaptown, Pfc. Butler was wounded in action August 2.

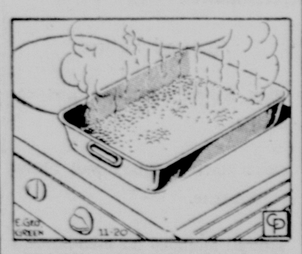

Pfc. Butler enlisted in the Army in June, 1948. In January of this year he was shipped to Japan from where he left for Korean action on July 19.

He was wounded about two weeks later by a mortar blast. Pfc. Butler is recuperating from head, shoulder, arms and hip wounds.

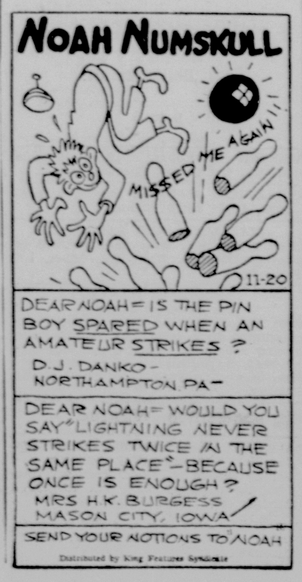

His mother, who visits him every week, was present at the ceremony Friday.

Maj. Gen. Paul H. Streit, reminding the men he was following a custom started by Gen. George Washington, pinned on the medals and gave each man a handshake.

Saturday's Answer

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

F E G O K O V B H X V C A T G M E F T M V D H K M I B M I H K C D D — H X F P M H Y M F I M.

W. A. Buchholtz To Attend National Municipal Congress

City Commissioner William H. Buchholtz will represent both the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland and District 6, Maryland Municipal League, at the 1950 American Municipal Congress.

More than 500 mayors, city managers, councilmen, finance officers and other municipal officials from throughout the United States are expected to gather in Washington, D. C. December 4-6 for the Congress.

The focus of this year's meeting will be on the position of municipal government at mid-century as well as the determination of policies that cities will support on a nation-wide basis in the year ahead.

The four-day Congress is sponsored by the American Municipal Association, which officially represents 10,350 cities in the U. S. as the national federation of state leagues of municipalities.

A highlight of the 1950 Congress will be an address by Secretary of State Dean Acheson before the annual dinner of the Association December 5. A luncheon session on opening day of the Congress will hear Senator Harry P. Cain (R., Wash.) former mayor of Tacoma, discuss "Where is the Federal Government Leading the Cities?"

Keynote of the mid-century conference will be sounded by Denver's Mayor Quigg Newton, who will review progress in city government since 1900 in his presidential address at the opening session. A series of reports by various municipal officials will outline progress made by cities during 1950. Among subjects to be covered are crime; highways and traffic; civil defense; housing; slum clearance and urban redevelopment; home rule; social security and municipal finance.

Other key sessions of the Congress will be devoted to "How Will the Defense Program Affect the Finances of Cities?", "Municipal Public Works vs Defense Requirements" "Public Relations for Large Cities" "What the 1950 Census Means to Municipalities", "Application of the Federal Social Security Act to Public Employees", "Solving America's Highway, Traffic and Parking Problems" and "Municipal Responsibilities for Civil Defense."

Tucker County Polio Costs High

PARSONS, W. Va. — Polio in Tucker county has cost $3,268.15 this year up to November 1. J. Harold Felton, Tucker County director, said $2,468.17 was for Morris Memorial Hospital in Milton. One case, not included, was covered by polio insurance. Another case is pending and one patient is still in Milton. Some $799 was paid for local doctors, care, ambulances, braces and old cases throughout the year.

The worst polio record in this county occurred during the summer months with ten cases treated in Milton.

A check for $2,000 has been received from the National Foundation and has been forwarded to the hospital. Approximately $1,000 or more will be needed to clear all debts. Felton said that any advance contributions will be greatly appreciated at this time.

A polio meeting has been scheduled December 5 in Clarksburg for county officers, directors and other March of Dimes workers and any interested persons.

The Pre-March of Dimes conferences will be held from 3 to 5 p. m. after which the Harrison County Medical Society Auxiliary will hold a reception at 6 p. m. The banquet will be held at 6:30 p. m.

Police Investigate Series Of Thefts

Two offices on the fifth floor of the Liberty Trust Building were entered and a total of $65 stolen Friday night.

In South End near the Wiley Ford bridge on Fort Avenue, Virgie's Tavern was burglarized of about $40 in cash.

Detective Thomas A. See reported $50 was taken from the office of the Quaker City Life Insurance Company, and that $15 was taken from the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

At the South End tavern, entrance was gained by removing a pane from a rear window. In addition to the cash, several cartons of cigarettes were taken.

Veterans Meet On Bonus Plan

Legionnaires of Mountain District posts at a meeting in Farrady Post home, Frostburg, yesterday afternoon, made plans to further the introduction of a Soldiers' Bonus Bill at the January session of the General Assembly.

According to Russell J. Paupe, Legion district commander, those present decided to call a meeting of representatives of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Amvets, Military Order of the Purple Heart, and Disabled American Veterans, to be held November 27 at 8 p. m. at Farrady Post, Frostburg.

Paupe said J. Milton Dick, former legislator, spoke at yesterday's meeting and outlined a plan of formulating a bonus bill and methods of introducing it.

Frank Webb, junior vice commander of the Department of Maryland Veterans of Foreign Wars told the group the VFW has already started working on such a measure and will welcome the support of all veteran groups in having it passed.

Guerrillas Seize Town

TAIPEI, Formosa, Nov. 19 (AP) — Chinese Nationalist reports said today guerrillas captured the South China town of Lingshan Nov. 12 after wiping out two Communist battalions in a two-hour battle.

Wounded Hunter Is Improving

Estel Jesse Hennen, 22, of RFD 1, Oldtown, who suffered a severe wound of the left thigh when shot by a companion hunter Saturday afternoon, was listed as "improved" at Memorial Hospital late last night.

Hennen and Floyd Thomas Buser, 16, also of Oldtown, were hunting on the farm of Floyd Buser, seven miles south of Oldtown, when Buser's .20 gauge single-barrel shotgun accidently went off. They were walking side by side at the time, according to Criminal Investigator William F. Baker.

The blast almost went through Hennen's leg. Two pieces of leather, a penknife, four pennies and a box top in his pocket went deep into the wound, making surgery necessary. The force of the shot caused two blades on the knife to open.

Prior to the mishap, Buser bagged two rabbits and Hennen got one. Authorities said no charges will be filed against the youth. The hunting season opened Wednesday.

Score Of Prominent Americans Plead For World Government

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 19 (AP) — A score of prominent American writers, educators, entertainers and politicians tonight put on a spirited plea for world government, pictured as the only way out of this "age of the great confusion."

The plea was contained in a play-pageant by a number of writers headed by Oscar Hammerstein 2d, and presented under the sponsorship of the United World Federalists, Inc., a group made up of some 40,000 persons.

Norman Cousins, editor of the Saturday Review of Literature, spelled out the purpose of world government as aiming at keeping "the points of dissimiliarity between peoples from becoming the fuse caps of an atomic explosion."

Harold E. Stassen, Republican political leader and president of the University of Pennsylvania, said "nothing can stop us save the running down of the clock of history before we have given enough voice or have been sufficiently heard. It is my fervent prayer that we will beat the clock."

Murray Asks Changes In Mobilization Setup

CHICAGO, Nov. 19 (AP) — CIO President Philip Murray tonight called for "drastic" changes in America's mobilization program.

Murray said that "as it now stands" the Defense Production Act will "serve only to weaken the mobilization effort."

He made the statement in his annual report to the CIO national convention opening here tomorrow.

Murray, for 10 years the CIO's head man, also:

1. Claimed that "never in all human history has one single organization brought so much good to so many people" as has the CIO in the past decade.

2. Predicted that "before long the influence of the Communist Party in the American labor movement will have been erased once and for all."

3. Said the ouster of 11 allegedly Communist-dominated unions has brought an "unprecedented degree of unanimity into CIO ranks and given the CIO more effectiveness and militance."

Workman Is Buried 15 Minutes Under Coal

UTICA, N. Y., Nov. 19 (AP) — "I don't want to die cramped up like this."

That was Walter Kosuda's first thought when he was jackknifed in a coal chute yesterday and buried for 15 minutes under anthracite.

The 32-year-old Utica workman looked fit today at St. Elizabeth hospital but said he felt "quite fatigued."

He fell through the bottom of a coal hopper car and jammed into the chute where coal poured over him.

He Finally Got Around To Reporting Blaze

PATCHOGUE, N. Y., Nov. 19 (AP)—Thomas Raissis strolled into the Lake street firehouse carrying a fire extinguisher.

"Can I have this extinguisher refilled here?" he asked.

Custodian George Fogarty told him no.

"Well, can I borrow an extinguisher?" the visitor inquired.

"We don't loan 'em," replied Fogarty.

A truckload of firemen sped to Raissis' restaurant and doused the blaze after a 15-minute battle.

Mt. Savage 4-H Club Meets

MT. SAVAGE — Miss Thelma Allin, assistant home demonstration agent, modeled a suit at a recent meeting of the 4-H Club of Calla Hill at the home of Miss Joan Sweene, Mt. Savage Highway.

The meeting was called to order by Mary Meade, president. Silver cleaning demonstrations were given by Nancy Cooley and Robertine Boyle.

DOING O. K. WITH OKIES - By Alan Maver

Distributed by King Features Syndicate

ON THE LINE

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK (INS)

TAKING a bold chance, the boss recently appointed me a part-time drama critic, a job that opened up when the regular critic was promoted to full-time copy boy.

I felt undressed, walking into my first critical job without an opera cloak, top hat, cane and spats. Any fool knows that's how critics dress, and that they always use their extra seat for their outer garments. My own knowledge of critics and their behavior goes 'way back to the writings of O. O. McIntyre, and more recent assurances have been given to me by the critic in 20th Century Fox's excellent "All About Eve." Real man of distinction type. Spoke through only one nostril, the ultimate in worldly elegance.

But, looking around the theater, my last illusion in life went glimmering. There sat Bob Coleman wearing sideburns with his sackcloth and ashes; John Chapman wearing a business suit and a look of quiet desperation; John McClain, George Jean Nathan, Brooks Atkinson, and all the others—and they looked pretty much like any sampling of the house itself. Not a cape to their name. But some blue shirts.

At play's end those with stories to write sped furtively toward the door, ghostly guests departing in a darkened feast while the rest of the party lingered over the fine brandy of curtain calls. I had always thought that critics went immediately to the leading lady's undressing room, then took her to a midnight wine orgy.

I fled in their wake, the raw neophyte who had not boned up properly on the arresting adjective, the audacious adverb or the triple entendre.

My marquee language was rusty. They were willing to help. Coleman let me have a slightly worn but still serviceable "exquisite" to use in my own review. Chapman tossed me an "appealing" he wasn't using for the evening. McClain helped with "superb" and said I could keep it for the rest of the season. Nathan provided "rancid."

With these highly respected tools, I went to work. But somebody forgot to give me the articles, prepositions, predicates and punctuation. Had to go it on my own, drawing from a think knowledge of the drama hitherto confined to watching televised rassling matches. And it came out of the typewriter somewhat different from that of other reviews.

Am now a seasoned reviewer with three plays under my belt. I turned out to be a ruthless plot-giver-awayer. It seems a fairer thing to do, though it is deemed gauche by some of my colleagues. Seems to me to be as important as giving the score of a ball game.

Had to come right out and say that Jessica Tandy bumps herself off with a fist full of sleeping pills in "Hilda Crane." And why. Something like this:

"A little dented around the fenders, Hilda quits New York and drops back to her minor league home town to forget the two blanks she drew in her marriages. She finds desire under the elms of the local university, with the help of a raffish English professor, but marries a self-made buffalo who is high up in lawn-mowers.

"She staggers through two years of marriage, and an off-stage baby, before her heels round out again. Simultaneously, the professor reenters and after a bitter struggle with her better self, lasting nearly a minute, Hilda and the prof shop for a motel.

"Even though she comes back home the very next day, she is tortured by the suspicion that she done the good folks wrong, so she gulps that keg of knockout drops which she has ben keeping handy for just such a jolly emergency."

Most of my colleagues, whose names are beginning to slip my mind now that I have arrived, liked "Hilda Crane." I found it something to take a shower after, though the people in it try hard to make it seem worth the money.

I did like Clifford Odets' new one, "A Country Girl," his best since "Golden Boy." Paul Kelly, Uta Hagen and the new fellow who plays the director, are just right for the superlatives I picked up from Coleman, Chapman and McClain.

But "Bell, Book and Candle," with the remarkable Rex Harrisons, is a holy treatise on modern witchcraft which falls on its face with an ectoplasmic thud. Besides it seemed so redundant to make the landlady a witch.

(Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.)

REXRODE SERVICE

A funeral service for Henry Brooke Rexrode, 48, RFD 1, Limestone Road, Keyser, W. Va., who was burned to death Friday after his coal truck wrecked on Burke Hill, Route 220 at McCoole, was held yesterday afternoon at the Evangelical United Brethren Church Antioch, with Rev. Lowell R. Rogers, Burlington, assisted by Rev. W. E. Knowles, Antioch, officiating. Interment was in Thrush Cemetery, near Antioch.

MISS WINIFRED LAFFEY

Miss Winifred V. Laffey, 65, died at 11 a.m. yesterday at Ocala, Fla., while she was visiting her brother there.

She was the daughter of James F. and Margaret Noone Laffey and she lived at 224 Glenn Street, this city.

The body is to arrive in Cumberland tomorrow morning at 11:40 o'clock. It will be taken to Stein's Funeral Home, where it will remain until 2 p.m., when it will be taken to St. Patrick's Cemetery for a graveside service.

JOSEPH G. KELLEY

Joseph G. Kelley, 77, of 211 Pennsylvania Avenue, died Saturday in Allegany Hospital. He had been ill in recent years due to a heart condition.

Born in Terra Alta, W. Va., Mr. Kelley worked as a B. and O. conductor 27 years and retired six years ago after serving as custodian at John Humbird School for 17 years. His parents were the late William T. and Hulda Sisler Kelley.

Surviving are three sons, Frank and Eugene Kelley, this city, and Joseph Kelley, at home; two daughters, Genevieve and Bernadette Kelley, both at home; one granddaughter and two great granddaughters.

The body is at the residence where a service will be conducted today at 2 p. m. by Rev. Kenneth W. Grove, pastor of Emmanuel Methodist Church. Interment will take place in Hillcrest Burial Park.

CHARLES BONHEIMER

Charles Bonheimer, brother of Mrs. Mary Ayers, 417 Broadway, died Friday at Phoenix, Ariz.

A service will be held in Phoenix.

BORGMAN SERVICE

A requiem mass for Mrs. Annie Borgman, 67, who died Tuesday night at the home of her son, Edward Borgman, Cresaptown, was celebrated Saturday in St. Ambrose Catholic Church there by Rev. Father Cletus, O.F.M. Cap., pastor. Burial was in the parish cemetery.

Pallbearers were Edward O'Neal, Loman Bennett, S. B. Murphy, Anthony Yockus, Herman Garlitz and Carl Long.

New Pa. Turnpike Link Open Today

CARLISLE, Pa., Nov. 19 (AP) — Pennsylvania's newest turnpike addition — the $87,000,000, 100-miles eastern extension—makes it debut to the public tomorrow.

The new eastern link will be thrown open to traffic for the first time at 7 a. m.

The new toll road extends from the original eastern terminus of the 160-mile superhighway here to King of Prussia, Montgomery county, about 15 miles from Philadelphia's city line. The road now extends from the outskirts of Philadelphia to the outskirts of Pittsburgh.

Workmen made last minute checks along the four-lane ribbon of highway today in preparation for the flood of traffic expected to roll over its length tomorrow. No ceremony has been arranged to commemorate the opening, since the new road was formally dedicated last month.

The automobile toll will be $1.20 from Carlisle to King of Prussia. The toll for the entire length of the turnpike will be $2.50. Truck rates will vary according to type of vehicles.

Banks Are Requested To Hold Down Lending

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 (AP)—The Federal Reserve Board tonight appealed to banks to fight inflation by holding down lending. It was the board's second such plea in four months.

Chairman Thomas B. McCabe voiced the board's concern over a record-smashing $5,000,000,000 rise in the bank loans since July 1—approximate date of the Korean war's start.

"With full employment, high level production, and rising wages and prices, almost everyone's credit appears to be good," he said in a communication to the Federal Reserve System's 7,000 banks.

"Further expansion in bank credit means more dollars competing for limited supplies of labor and materials. Unless such expansion of credit is checked it is bound to raise prices."

Buckeyes Drop

These teams also are unbeaten and untied, meaning there were no accidents among the seven remaining unstopped powers. Wyoming and Loyola of Los Angeles didn't play.

Oklahoma, second to Ohio State in last week's ratings, rolled over Missouri, 41-7. Kentucky No. 5, flattened North Dakota, 83-0. Princeton, No. 7, buried Yale under a record scoring avalanche for the series, 47-12.

Amid this vigorous jockeying for the national title, there were important developments on the bowl front with one major berth clinched and two others — the Rose — virtually put in the bag.

Longhorns Win Title

Texas' Longhorns captured the Southwest Conference title and accompanying Cotton Bowl bid by dumping Texas Christian, 21-7, while Rice was upsetting Texas A. and M., 21-13.

That took the pressure off Texas' game with the rugged Texas Aggies Nov. 30.

Rose at Pasadena — Illinois vs. California (each must win its final game to clinch it.)

Sugar at New Orleans — Kentucky vs. Oklahoma or Southern Methodist (don't be surprised if Kentucky gets the nod before the big Tennessee game Saturday).

Cotton at Dallas — Texas (definite) vs. Oklahoma or Tennessee.

Orange at Miami — Miami vs. Tennessee, Clemson or Wyoming.

Once-beaten Tennessee, 35-0 conqueror of Mississippi Saturday, takes on Kentucky this week-end at Knoxville. Bowl scouts will be plentiful in the stands.

Miami, the pride of the peninsula, and Clemson, an old bowl hand, are unbeaten but once-tied. Miami whipped Florida, 20-14. Clemson overwhelmed Furman, 57-2.

Southern Methodist and Alabama, although each has lost two games, remain good bowl possibilities. SMU won over Arkansas Saturday, 14-7. Alabama mauled Georgia Tech, 54-19.

Wyoming, reported to have a powerhouse unit although its schedule hasn't been too rough, closes with Denver Thursday. A bowl bid of some description is certain.

Illinois, which has lost to Wisconsin, must defeat Northwestern this week to sew up another trip to Pasadena where it beat UCLA in 1947, 45-14.

Wisconsin, already beaten by Michigan and Ohio State, was upended by the Ivy League's Pennsylvania, 20-0. Ohio State is ineligible to go to the bowl.

Bears Tackle Stanford

California, with 33 consecutive victories in regular season play, must beat Stanford Saturday. Otherwise Washington, which has lost only to the Bears in the league, would have a say-so.

Prolonged victory droughs ended Saturday for Minnesota and Harvard. The Gophers, whose Coach Bernie Bierman is leaving after the present season, won their first game over Purdue, 27-14. Harvard snapped a nine-game losing streak by beating Brown, 14-13.

Notre Dame, already beaten three times, had to struggle to gain a 14-14 tie with Iowa. Navy won its second game of the year, beating Columbia, 29-7. Michigan State, whipped only by Maryland, closed out a successful campaign by thumping Pittsburgh, 19-0.

Will Fight Communism

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 19 (AP) — The American Legion tonight set up a new national committee of 139 lawyers and law enforcement officers to fight Communism in the United States.

Legion National Commander Erle Cocke, Jr., Dawson, Ga., said the new national committee on un-American activities would help the government enforce the anti-subversive control law, expose Americans who ship war materials to Communist countries, and offer legal and research aid to persons accused of libeling Communists.

Pontifical Mass Opens St. Mary's Golden Jubilee

Archbishop Keough Present At Ceremony

Chief Justice Taney General Assembly, Fourth Degree, Knights of Columbus, formed the honor guard for Archbishop Keough.

Chaplains for the Archbishop were Rt. Rev. Msgr. Antonio Scarpati, pastor of St. Peter's Church, Westernport, and Rt. Rev. Msgr. William E. Kelly, pastor of St. Martin's Church, Washington, who was the first member of the parish to be ordained.

Rt. Rev. Msgr Edward L. Leonard, pastor of St. Bernard's Church, Baltimore, recounted the history of the parish in a festive sermon prepared for the golden jubilee of the parish which was formed as a mission of St. Patrick's and became a separate parish in 1900.

Over 30 clergy of this area were presented in the sanctuary at the solemn ceremony as members of area parishes crowded into the recently decorated church.

Seminarians Attend

All seminarians from the parish were present in the sanctuary and students of the parish school acted as servers.

Special music, including Panus Angelicus, Ave Maria and Praise Ye the Father, was sung by St. Mary's High School Girls while the mass was sung by the church choir.

Over 100 members of the Fourth Degree, headed by James J. Condon, marshal, were present for the ceremony. They were joined by Charles B. Humelsine, master of the Fourth Degree in Maryland; Charles B. Colliflower, state grand marshal; J. Edmund Walsh, faithful navigator, all of Baltimore; Charles Carroll, of Carrolton General Assembly, and Lester A. Bowers, faithful navigator of Hagerstown Assembly.

Students of the parochial school last night presented a pageant depicting incidents in the history of the parish.

Full Program Planned

The week's program will continue today with games at 8:30 p. m., when awards will be made in commemoration of the church's 50th anniversary.

Tuesday's program calls for a homecoming event at 8:30 p. m. under the sponsorship of the Alumni Association. Features will include a quiz show, community singing, a "Barber Shop Quartet," headed by John Conway, movies and a buffet supper.

An old time square dance will be held Wednesday night in the parish gymnasium.

A solemn Mass of Thanksgiving will be celebrated Thursday at 9 a. m., with Rev. Lawrence P. Landrigan, pastor of the church since 1934, officiating.

Games will be played Friday at 8:30 p. m.

The program will end Saturday at 8:30 a. m. with a Requiem Mass for deceased members of the parish.

Extensive redecorating work costing some $13,000 has been completed at the church in preparation for the golden jubilee. The church was completed in 1928, with the late Archbishop Michael J. Curley officiating at the laying of the cornerstone.

Drumsticks

Turkey farming in Garrett County, as a result of the On-the-Farm GI Training program is growing by leaps and bounds. The above picture shows Hubert Glotfelty of near McHenry with part of his flock of 2700 turkeys, all ready for market. A veteran of Army service in the South Pacific, Hubert came home to his farm, and has gone into chicken and turkey raising on a big scale. Like his classmate Robert Brenneman in the lower picture, he finds turkeys one of the most profitable farm crops. Shown with Brenneman are his wife and daughter Little Jacqueline. They live near Bittinger and their turkeys will grace over 1000 dinner tables Thanksgiving Day. Brenneman is a veteran of the Army and is also enrolled in the On-the-Farm training classes for GI's at Accident, conducted by Charles B. Miller.

County Finances Show Collections Above Normal

Cash Position Best In Many Years

Allegany County expenditures for the first four months of operation in the current fiscal year, total $1,115,982.68, according to the monthly report of Mrs. Johanna Sills, county auditor.

The report, showing receipts and expenditures from July 1 to October 31, indicates the county has an appropriated balance of $1,921,866.45 with which to complete the year's operations. The total appropriation was $3,037,849.13 for the year.

Receipts for October totaled $105,-024.01, while expenditures amounted to $134,504.61. The county had on deposit in local banks at the end of October, a total of $1,817,705.26.

For the first third of the fiscal period, county collections from all sources are shown to be at a very high level. A total of $2,382,480.87 has been received. This figure, however, is $162,819.13 below the estimated total revenue of $2,545,300 for the year, but it is pointed out that eight months remain in the year in which to collect it.

For 1947, H. E. Loar, collector, has $944.22 outstanding. For 1948, H. E. Loar has $3,793.39 to collect and H. E. Taylor has $561.39 that is delinquent.

For 1949, W. A. Strother, local collector has $24,213.06 to come in. He also has $102,841.63 uncollected for the current year.

Taylor has $5,221.77 outstanding for 1949, while Loar has $8,705.17 uncollected.

For 1950, the current year, Loar is charged with an uncollected balance of $22,306.33, while Taylor has collected $55,852.81, over and above the amount levied in his district.

Large sums of money used to operate the county come from state distribution of various funds. To date this year, the county has received $1,566.65 for admission taxes; $57,748.22 from Maryland Income Taxes; $402.50 from state franchise tax; $15,894.77 from horse racing in the state.

Motor vehicle revenue and gasoline taxes have brought the county $55,808.32 in four months. Liquor licenses produced $1,558.63. Recordation fees accounted for $4,072.89. Pin Ball and music machine licenses produced $2,229.34.

Traders license gave the county its share, $1,379.14, while $32,593.25 was a state refund for automobile taxes.

Real Estate taxes collected for the year total $1,455,272.33, while personal property taxes total $88,400.52, and business corporation taxes provided the county with $598,361.70. Financial corporations paid to the county, $38,693.81, and interest on taxes amounts to $1,406.10.

A number of other miscellaneous items make up the balance of the collections and receipts.

Under expenditures this year, the auditor shows $268.38 was paid out for capital improvements; $947,408.-86 for various expenses; and $168,-305.44 was paid out in salaries.

Most appropriation accounts have sufficient balances to carry them through the year, as anticipated, county officials noted in analyzing the report.

Columbia St. PTA To Hear State Singers

The Maryland Singers of Frostburg State Teachers College, will be guest entertainers at the meeting of Columbia Street Parent-Teacher Association, tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium.

Dr. Maurice Matteson will direct the Singers in several numbers. Members of the association and friends of the school are invited.

According to Mrs. Rhea Gibbs, president, a report will be given of the PTA convention held in Baltimore, by the association's secretary, Mrs. Robert Herboldsheimer, delegate.

Teachers will be in their home rooms at 7:30 to greet parents and a prize will be awarded the home room with the most parents attending.

New Sales Tax Law Effective On December 1

Tawes Outlines Changes In Levy

The newly enacted changes in the state's sales tax law will become effective December 1, and J. Millard Tawes, state comptroller, yesterday reminded the people of Maryland in a statement that the tax has been eliminated on purchases of 50 cents or less.

Tawes said if purchases total more than 50 cents to any individual, the purchase is subject to tax at the same rate as before the changes.

The tax begins at 51 cents and all sales between 51 cents and $1 are subject to two cents tax. An additional cent must be collected for each 50 cents or fraction thereof, in excess of $1.

Comptroller Tawes also explains that the tax has been removed from food. The definition of food has been enlarged to include soda fountain drinks such as milk shakes.

Alcoholic beverages of all kinds including mixed drinks and soft drinks, in unopened containers, remain subject to the tax.

Restaurants and taverns which serve food and alcoholic beverages will be required to segregate such sales, since the tax will not apply to food, but will continue to be imposed on alcoholic beverages, when the sale to any person at one time is more than 50 cents.

Baby oils and baby powders, labeled as such by the manufacturer, will be relieved of sales tax. Powders and oils sold for cosmetic uses are still subject to the tax.

Soaps, soap powders, cleansing fluids and detergents will be free of the tax when purchased for home or personal use. There has been no change in regard to these items when purchased for uses other than in the home or for personal use. The change does not affect tooth paste, tooth powder, shaving soap, shaving cream or shaving powder, all of which remain subject to the tax.

Turkey Dinner Is Planned In County Schools

11,000 Students To Enjoy Holiday Treat

At least 11,000 Allegany County students will enjoy a traditional Thanksgiving dinner this week as part of the school lunch program of the county.

William P. Cooper, director of the county school lunch program, said some 6,000 pounds of fully dressed turkeys were delivered to school lunch centers of Allegany County Friday in preparation for the holiday dinner.

Most of the schools, he said, plan to serve the turkey dinner Tuesday, since school will close at 1 p. m. Wednesday, the day before Thanksgiving.

The meal, a real banquet, will be served without additional cost to the students.

Although the menu will vary with the school, here are foods suggested for the banquet:

Roast turkey and dressing, tomato or fruit juice, cranberry salad, mashed potatoes and gravy, rolls, butter, milk, dixie cup or fruit cookie.

Cooper said that in some of the elementary schools, Parent-Teacher Associations or other groups have donated money to finance the Thanksgiving dinners of students who cannot afford to pay.

A similar turkey feast is slated for Christmas, Cooper said, adding that final plans on the project will depend on the cost of turkey in mid December.

Turkeys, he added, are plentiful now since the year's crop is up about 10 per cent.

Allegany County public schools will close next Wednesday at 1 p. m. for the Thanksgiving holidays and reopen Monday morning, November 27.

249 Diesel Units Ordered By B & O

About half of the 249 Diesel units ordered by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad early this year have been delivered, Chester T. Williams, superintendent of the railroad's Cumberland Division, said yesterday.

Other units have been promised for delivery at various dates as late as June, 1951, the new division superintendent explained. Some of the units are on yard duty here, he said.

Just how many of the units will come to this division Williams does not know. He would not hazard a guess. He said that some of the units —two or three are needed to pull most trains—will be used on the run between Cumberland and St. Louis. Others will operate between Cincinnati and Buffalo, between Cumberland and Grafton, from Grafton on the Cowan branch through the West Virginia coal fields, and between Willard, Ohio, and Philadelphia.

Some will be utilized for yard duty and others for long-distance operations. These Diesels have varying power and are made by different manufacturers. Some are best suited in the mountain areas and others are handy for speedy operations, Williams added.

The superintendent again emphasized that steam engines will not be eliminated from the Cumberland Division although their numbers will be fewer.

Civil Defense Seminar Planned For Physicians

Dentists, Pharmacists, Nurses Also Invited

Invitations are being issued to doctors, dentists, nurses and pharmacists throughout the state to attend a seminar on the medical aspects of atomic warfare as a part of the state's Civil Defense program, according to William Barger, county director.

The seminar will be held in two sessions, November 27-29, from 7 to 10 p. m. at Baltimore City College, 31st Street and The Alameda.

Speakers will include Brig. Gen. James P. Cooney, of the Military Application Division of the Atomic Energy Commission; Col. Albert DeCoursey, director of the Armed Forces Institute of Pathology; and Dr. R. G. Bunham, of the Office of the Secretary of Defense.

The moderator will be Dr. Richard H. Gannett, vice chairman of the Maryland Medical Committee for Civil Defense.

Several films pertaining to atomic warfare and civil defense also will be shown each night.

Director Barger said he has been notified that a complete list of the medical professional people is not available and any doctors, dentists, nurses or pharmacists who do not receive invitations will be welcomed without them.

On-The-Farm Trainees Find Turkeys Profitable Crop

With Thanksgiving Day just around the corner, and Christmas only a month beyond that, World War II veterans in nearby Garrett County are marketing several thousand turkeys, as part of their year's most profitable crop.

The On-the-Farm training program for GI's features all types of farming, and classes at Accident, conducted by Charles B. Miller of Friendsville have attracted a score or more of farmer-vets who are making the most of their GI benefits.

In this fourth of a series of articles exclusive with the Cumberland NEWS, Hubert Glotfelty, who was mentioned in the first article for his success with raising chickens, is also listed as one of the more successful turkey raisers. He has a flock, ready for market, numbering close to 2500 birds. His farm is located near McHenry.

Another successful turkey raiser is Robert Brenneman of near Bittinger, also a veteran training in Miller's classes. Brenneman served in the Army from April 7, 1951 until December 31, 1942 and except for that period has spent all his time on the farm.

He is married to the former Marguerite L. Hetrick and they have one daughter Jacqueline age four years, known to everyone as Jackie.

Robert bought his farm at Bittinger, January 1, this year. It includes 100 acres of land, made up of four acres of corn for ensilage, two acres husking corn, eight acres oats, three acres buckwheat, 30 acres hay, and ample pasture land for his small herd of dairy cattle.

In addition to turkeys, he plans to make dairy farming his regular enterprise. Already, he is selling Grade-A milk to a well known manufacturer of ice cream and in the summer supplies the 4-H Camp at Bittinger.

He plans to build his dairy herd from eight to 20 pure breds, and to improve all production by modern methods.

His farm also includes besides the dairy cows and 1000 turkeys, 400 broilers, one brood sow, 10 fattening hogs, and two heifers.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Brenneman believe their farm offers them greater security and a better way of life than any other pursuit, and they have very definite and worthwhile plans for steadily improving their land, their home and their farming enterprise.

Youths Arrested In Stolen Truck

Two Swanton area youths were picked up in Baltimore late yesterday afternoon in a truck which Maryland State Police said was stolen from Swanton.

They said the 1946 panel truck of James Lake, Swanton, was stopped in the northeastern section of Baltimore at 4 p. m. following a state police broadcast.

State Police said the truck was taken from Lake's dance hall about noon yesterday.

State Police said Baltimore authorities advised the 16 and 17 year old Swanton and Deer Park lads had $3.16 left from an estimated $10 they allegedly took from a cigar box in the dance hall. They still had seven packs of a carton of cigarets they took in the hall, authorities said.

Authorities were trying last night to learn what happened to the battery from the truck.

Extinguish Blaze

East Side firemen extinguished a blaze in the auto of James Crites, Mexico Farms, yesterday at 3:50 p. m., on Furnace Street. Caused by defective wiring, firemen said damage was slight.

Allegany County Arthritis Group To Raise Funds

Letters Being Mailed For Research Money

Letters appealing for donations to help meet a $2,000,000 national goal for arthritis and rheumatism victims will be placed in the mail this week, according to Mrs. Marion T. Powers, chairman of the newly organized Allegany County Branch of the Maryland Chapter of the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation.

Sixty per cent of the money raised will be retained in Maryland and the balance will go to the national group.

"Arthritis is the most prevalent chronic disease in this country affecting our most precious national resource, manpower," said Mrs. Powers. "It is the oldest disease known to man.

"It strikes all ages and there are approximately 7,500,000 victims. This is more than all the victims of cancer, tuberculosis, heart disease and diabetes combined.

"The cause of arthritis," continued Mrs. Powers, "is unknown. Cortisone and ACTH are not cures for rheumatic disease as the public has been led to believe by too optimistic publicity.

"These hormones have tremendous and far-reaching effects on the mechanism of health and disease, not only in arthritis but in many other diseases. They bring relief in many severe arthritis cases. But the relief stops when the administration of the hormones is stopped. Medical science has not discovered how cortisone and ACTH produce their effects. But the physiological reactions from these hormones show that investigators are at least on the right track in their research for the cause of arthritis. Now is the time to extend research."

The disease takes a toll of 97 million work days annually and $520,000,000 are lost yearly in wages.

Dr. H .C. Byrd Praises Shaw's Work

Dr. H. C. Byrd, president of the University of Maryland and an honorary member of the Cresap Society, has written to Ross F. Shaw, also a member of the society, praising him for the many years service he has rendered to the Cresap Society.

Dr. Byrd, cited as one of the most outstanding contributions the erection of a monument at Oldtown last year in honor of Col. Thomas Cresap.

Man Hurt When Car Strikes Pole

A local man suffered severe head injuries early yesterday morning when the car in which he was riding struck a utility pole on Baltimore Avenue.

Police said the man, Robert Meister, 24, of 919 Harding Avenue, was admitted to Allegany Hospital after the car driven by Edward T. Lindsay, 24, of 316 Harrison Street, crashed at 3:49 a. m.

Meister's condition was reported satisfactory last night.

Police said the car Lindsay was driving east on Baltimore Avenue swerved to the left side of the street about 75 feet from the Goethe Street intersection and struck a pole head on.

Lt. James E. Van and Officers Snyder, Wilson and Jenkins investigated. No date has been set for a charge of reckless driving preferred by the officers.

Rev. Brake To Speak At Virginia Ave. PTA

Rev. Donald F. Brake, pastor of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church, will speak on "Thanksgiving" tomorrow at the 7:30 o'clock meeting of Virginia Avenue Parent-Teacher Association, at the school.

Mrs. Yola Hudson, nutrition expert of Fort Hill High School will discuss nutrition and will outline a program to be inaugurated at Virginia Avenue.

Teachers will be in their class rooms at 7 p.m. to greet parents. Mrs. Hudson also stated that plans for the annual Christmas treat and program will be considered.

Rev. Seth C. Morrow Accepts Pastorate Here

The new pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, this city, is to be Rev. Seth C. Morrow, according to an announcement made at the church yesterday.

Rev. Morrow comes here from First Presbyterian Church, Pottsville, Pa., where he has served as minister for the past eight years.

Receiving his bachelor of arts degree from Bethany College, he went on to receive his bachelor of theology degree from Princeton Theological Seminary, Princeton, N. J. and his master of theology from Union Theological Seminary, Richmond, Va.

Before serving at Pottsville, Rev. Morrow was pastor of the Presbyterian Church, Gettysburg, Pa., for four years.

He is married and has two children, a daughter, 10, and a son, 6. He is scheduled to assume his duties in Cumberland around December 15.

Emmanuel Methodist Sets Holiday Service

The annual Thanksgiving Day service will be held in Emmanuel Methodist Church at 10 a.m. Thursday and is open to all who want to attend.

A special feature will be an anthem by the choir of the church and Rev. Kenneth W. Grove, the minister, will deliver the morning sermon.

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the church will meet at the parsonage at 7:30 p.m. today. All members are asked to attend.

The Board of Education of the church school will meet Tuesday in the church at 7:30 p.m. Plans will be completed for Christmas activities.

Increase In Social Security Applicants Reported Here

There has been a large increase in the number of claims for old age and survivors insurance benefits at the local Social Security Office, according to James S. Getty, manager.

Getty said there have been 410 additional claims filed, mostly during the months of September and October, bringing the total number of claims received by the local office this year to 1,167.

Of the 410 claims received, he said, 250 were from residents of Allegany county, 60 applicants reside in Garrett county, 50 in Mineral county, W. Va., and the remaining 50 live in Hardy, Grant, and Pendleton Counties, W. Va.

Getty attributed the increase in applications to the liberalized eligibility provisions of the amendments to the Social Security Act made this year by Congress.

He cited the changes which affect most of the workers in this area, whereby any individual who is not earning over $50 a month in social security employment may be eligible for benefits if he is 65 years old or older and has worked for at least six calendar quarters since January 1, 1937.

Widows, children under 18, and parents over 65 of any worker who dies after September 1, 1950, may also be entitled to benefits if the worker, regardless of his age, had at least six quarters of coverage.

Any worker who is 75 years old, or older, may draw his social security benefits and continue to work at the same time.

These new provisions, Getty said, have increased the monthly benefit total in this area to $109,000 each month.

According to the plan of the national Social Security Administration, he explained, the increased revenue provides buying power for the individual, reduces the number of persons on relief roles, and helps raise the living standard of the entire area.

"There are undoubtedly many more individuals who are eligible for benefits, but who may not have contacted the local office," Getty remarked.

"All of them are invited to inquire about their eligibility for benefits, because nothing can be paid unless an application for payments is filed at the local office," he added.

Harold Miller Enters Johns Hopkins Hospital

Harold K. Miller, Park Heights, entered Wilmer Clinic, Johns Hopkins Hospital yesterday. He is to undergo an operation today.

Weather

A rather unusual day, with cloudy skies and intermittant sunshine, came to an end with a few drizzles of rain yesterday. The temperature varied from a low of 34 degrees to a high of 50 degrees in Constitution Park. Downtown, the variation was from a low of 38 degrees to a high of 53 degrees. Windy with occasional rain and mild is the forecast for today.

Gettysburg Address Timely As Korean War Continues

The immortal message which President Lincoln uttered in Gettysburg fourscore and seven years ago yesterday is still as timely as the day it was delivered, William A. Gunter, local attorney, said yesterday.

In 1943, Gunter used a paraphrase of the Gettysburg Address at the dedication of a Soldiers' Honor Roll in LaVale.

The same words might have been used yesterday to honor the brave Americans who are fighting and dying with the UN forces throughout the world in defense of the freedoms provided only in government of the people, by the people and for the people.

The address, which was subsequently printed in the Congressional Record at the request of Rep. J. Glenn Beall, follows:

"Eightscore and seven years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal.

"Now we are engaged in a great global war, testing whether that nation, or any nation so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure.

"We are met on a homefront battlefield of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field as a permanent resting place for the names of those who have left here to give their lives so that the nation might live.

"It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this. But, in a larger sense, we cannot dedicate—we cannot consecrate — we cannot hallow this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who were born and lived here, have consecrated it, far above our poor power to add or detract.

"The world will little note, nor long remember what we say over here, but it can never forget what they did over there.

"It is for us, the living, the well fed, the well paid, the fortunate here, to be here dedicated to the unfinished work which they who are fighting over there have thus far nobly advanced.

"It is rather for us to be here at home dedicated to the great tasks remaining before us — that from these honored dead, in unknown and unseen graves over there, to take increased devotion to the cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion—that we here at home highly resolve that these American soldiers shall not have fought in vain—that this nation, under God, and all nations so conceived and so dedicated, shall have a new birth of freedom and that government of the people, by the people and for the people shall not perish from the earth."

Births Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Wilburn Michael, 121 South Smallwood Street, a son, yesterday afternoon.
